The 20th Regiment of Infantry, Col. JOSHUA L. CHAMBERLAIN.

REGIMENTS MUSTERED OUT OF SERVICE SINCE REPORT OF 1862.

The 2d Regiment of Infantry, raised in April, 1861, and organized at Bangor the 2d of May, (and the first to take the field from this State,) having been enlisted for a period of two years only, was returned to Maine and mustered out of service at Bangor, with such of its surviving original members as remained therein, on the fourth and ninth days of June, 1863, by Capt. T. C. J. Baily, of the 17th U. S. Infantry. The recruits furnished for this regiment at various periods after its leaving the State, having enlisted for three years unless sooner discharged, were transferred to the 20th Regiment of Maine Volunteers, immediately preceding the return of the former to this State, and will continue in service in that organization until the expiration of their respective terms of enlistment. The late lamented and gallant Gen. Charles D. Jameson, the first Colonel of the Second, was succeeded in the command by his Lieutenant Colonel, Charles W. Roberts, and he in turn by Col. George Varney, the original Major, who continued in command until mustered out of service with his regiment.

The 10th Regiment, Col. George L. Beal, in its purposed reorganization in September, 1861, of the 1st Maine Volunteers, Col. Jackson, (mustered out of service August 5, 1861, at the expiration of three months, although enlisted for two years,) comprised eight companies enlisted to serve for two years from the date of muster-in of said 1st Regiment, viz., May 3, 1861. Most of the officers and some few of the men of those eight companies preserved their official identity in making up these new organizations in the 10th, so as to be recognized by this regiment and its predecessor as but a revision of the 1st, although a very large proportion of the rank and file of these companies was composed of new enlistments. The two remaining companies of the 10th Regiment, A and D, were in all respects new organizations, and were duly enlisted and mustered into the United States service for three years from October 4, 1861, unless sooner discharged.

Col. Beal with his officers and men of the eight companies, were accordingly ordered home for "muster-out" of service at the expiration of the period of their enlistment and "muster-in," which "muster-out" was consummated at Portland by Capt. T. C. J. Baily, of the 17th U. S. Infantry, mustering officer, May 7 and 8, 1863. Such recruits remaining, as had from time to time been sent to the 10th Regiment, (having been enlisted for three years unless sooner discharged,) were organized upon the return home of the original eight companies, into a new Company "B," and with A and D remained in the field as the 1st Battalion of the 10th Regiment.

The 29th Regiment, Col. Beal, reorganizing as Veteran Volunteers from the 10th Regiment, under General Orders Nos. 10 and 13 of this Department, of July, 1863, is required to complete that organization with Companies A and D of his former command (left in the field as before named), and with Company B of the 1st Battalion of the 10th, also in the field, made up of three-years recruits, to consolidate with the company of the same letter in the 29th, will all unite with that regiment from the army of the Cumberland with which they are now serving by special orders from the War Department. Both the 2d and 10th Regiments received the Government bounty of $100 soon after they were mustered out of service.

The eight Regiments of nine months troops were mustered out of the United States service by the mustering officers and at the times and places following, viz :

The 21st Regiment, Col. Elijah D. Johnson, at Augusta, August 25, 1863, by Lieut. F. E. Crossman, 17th U. S. Infantry.

The 22d Regiment, Col. Simon G. Jerrard, at Bangor, August 14, 1863, by Lieut. F. E. Crossman, 17th U. S. Infantry.

The 24th Regiment, Col. George M. Atwood, at Augusta, August 25, 1863, by Lieut. F. E. Crossman, 17th U. S. Infantry.

The 25th Regiment, Col. Francis Fessenden, at Portland, July 10, 1863, by Capt. Francis Fessenden, 19th U. S. Infantry.

The 26th Regiment, Col. Nathaniel H. Hubbard, at Bangor, August 17, 1863, by Lieut. F. E. Crossman, 17th U. S. Infantry.

The 27th Regiment, Col. Mark F. Wentworth, at Portland, July 17, 1863, by Lieut. F. E. Crossman, 17th U. S. Infantry.

THE GOVERNMENT DRAFT—1863.

The results in detail in this State of the draft ordered by the United States Government during the past summer, under the law of the last Congress, are fully shown in Appendix E of this Report. Although this method of procuring troops for our regiments in the field is deemed comparatively ineffectual, and not to be wholly relied upon, it is admitted on all hands that in the absence of its influence upon the community to stimulate volunteering, great fears might well be entertained for the maintenance of our armies in the field at all times up to the point of desirable efficiency. The complete vindication of the majesty of the law itself, and the vast amount of statistical information furnished through the efforts of the Provost Marshals and their deputies and appointees, (the same having been compiled and classified to render it wholly available,) has already proved of immense value to the Government and the several States, as showing not only their strength, but its localities, and rendering simple, certain and effectual the future workings of the system. Although numerous judicious amendments of the law by Congress are deemed practicable and perhaps desirable, it is believed that all the principal and prominent features of it will be retained. The labors of the respective Boards of Enrolment (of which the Provost Marshals are the official heads) in the several Congressional Districts, comprising much of the supervision and details of enlistments for old regiments, apprehension of deserters, and numerous other difficult services, have been of the most complicated, arduous and responsible character. I have felt obliged, from the commencement of their official duties up to the present time, to require of them duplicates of almost their entire files and records for the present and future use of this Department, and I have great pleasure in acknowledging the promptness and cheerfulness on their part which has ever characterized all official and other intercourse between us. The names of these gentlemen and their Districts are as follows :

Diste.	Limits.	Names of Provost Marshals and Members of Board.	Headquarters.
1st.	The counties of Cumberland and York.	C. H. Doughty, Provost Marshal. Edward S. Morris, Commissioner. Dr. Theodore H. Jewett, Surgeon.	Portland.
2d.	The counties of Oxford, Franklin, Sagadahoc and Androscoggin.	John S. Baker, Provost Marshal. Joel Perham, jr., Commissioner. Dr. Alexander Burbank, Surgeon.	Lewiston.

PROVOST MARSHALS, DISTRICTS, ETC., (CONTINUED.)

Dists.	Limits.	Names of Provost Marshals and Members of Board.	Headquarters.
3d.	The counties of Kennebec, Somerset and Lincoln, and all the county of Knox, except the towns of S. Thomaston, Rockland, Camden, Appleton, Hope, Vinalhaven and North Haven in the county of Knox.	A. P. Davis, Provost Marshal. Henry A. Williams, Commissioner. Dr. G. A. Wilbur, Surgeon.	Augusta.
4th.	The counties of Penobscot, Piscataquis and Aroostook.	Elijah Low, Provost Marshal. Charles H. Chandler, Commissioner. Dr. A. S. Patten, Surgeon.	Bangor.
5th.	The counties of Washington, Waldo, Hancock, and the towns of South Thomaston, Rockland, Camden, Appleton, Vinalhaven, Hope and North Haven in the county of Knox.	A. D. Bean, Provost Marshal. Alvin G. Crocker, Commissioner. Dr. Samuel B. Hunter, Surgeon.	Belfast.

Major J. W. T. Gardiner, of the 2d U. S. Dragoons, a native of this State, the well-known and most efficient and popular superintendent of military affairs in Maine, on behalf of the Government, for the two past years, has been Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General for this State ever since the organization of the Boards of Enrolment, except for a brief period, during which Capt. T. C. J. Baily, of the 17th U. S. Infantry, disbursing officer, &c., at Augusta, exercised these duties, on account of the sickness of Major Gardiner. These gentlemen have invariably been found prompt and capable in the discharge of their duties, and zealous in all necessary coöperation with the State authorities for advancing the best interests of the public service.

The total results of the Draft in each District are shown to be as follows, viz :

Number of District.	Drafted and entered service.	Furnished Substitutes.	Paid Commutation.	Exempted under the provisions of the Enrolment Act, and failed to rep't.	Total number of men drafted.
First, . . .	33	514	150	2989	3686
Second, . . .	119	273	298	1953	2643
Third, . . .	194	292	774	2280	3540
Fourth, . . .	383	337	214	1999	2933
Fifth, . . .	78	321	501	2385	3285

Recapitulation of number of men entered service, and amounts received for commutations, viz :

No. of District.	No. of Men ent'd service.	Commutation money received.	Remarks.
1st District, . . .	547	$45,000 00	Portland.
2d District, . . .	392	89,400 00	Lewiston.
3d District, . . .	486	232,200 00	Augusta.
4th District, . . .	720	64,200 00	Bangor.
5th District, . . .	399	150,300 00	Belfast.
Total, . . .	2544	$581,100 00

By a law of this State of 1863, each drafted man and substitute that entered the service, received a bounty of one hundred dollars from our treasury, before leaving the State. They are also entitled to the Government bounty of one hundred dollars, originally provided by Congress for enlistments for three years service, at the commencement of the Rebellion.

In virtue of the act of the Legislature of March 25, 1863, the following companies of Volunteer Militia, denominated "State Guards," and one Regiment of same, have been organized by the Governor and Council :

1ST REGIMENT, IN THE 1ST DIVISION, AT BANGOR.

Company.	Name.	Rank.	Residence.
Company A,	David Bugbee, . . .	Colonel,	Bangor.
" B,	Llewellyn J. Morse, . . .	Captain,	"

MEASURES IN AID OF THE DRAFT LAW, ETC.

Soon after the enactment by Congress of the Draft Law, a considerable portion of the most unprincipled and ignorant of those whose sympathies were outspoken for disunion were loud in their expressions of opposition to this law, which they and their leaders most strenuously advocated in the early stages of the rebellion, and indeed until they perceived that its passage was certain, and their determination was announced to oppose by force of arms its peaceful execution. But little heed was given for some weeks by the authorities of the State, civil and military, to those threats, which thereupon increased in number and intensity to such a degree that the Governor and Council deemed it prudent and expedient to place our companies of State Guards in such a condition of efficiency as would enable them successfully to encounter any opposition that might be made to carrying this most wise and beneficial statute into execution. Well founded rumors of piratical craft being seen in close and dangerous proximity to our coast, and the capture of the United States revenue cutter in Portland harbor by the crew of the rebel privateer "Tacony," in addition to the apprehensions of disloyal interference on the part of our citizens with the execution of the Draft Law, clearly demanded immediate steps for the best possible military preparation in our power for defence from foes without and foes within. From our forty pieces of four and six-pound brass field artillery, Calais, Belfast, Boothbay, Bath, Lewiston, Norway and Dexter being destitute were supplied, and those localities with Biddeford, Portland, Rockland, Wiscasset, Castine, Bangor, Machias and Eastport, all of which were previously furnished with ordnance, and were abundantly supplied with projectiles and powder for their field pieces and fixed ammunition for small arms, maintained a constant readiness for any hostile demonstrations from whatever quarter. Company A of State Guards, in the First Division, (Capt. John M. Beal,) a most efficient military organization in Portland, being well armed and equipped by the State, were by General Order No. 8 of June 27, 1863, (which received the subsequent approval of the Secretary of War,) called into service upon the requisition of the Hon. Jacob McLellan, the efficient and popular chief magistrate of the city of Portland, through whose prompt and energetic measures in no small degree was the national honor vindicated in the recapture of the U. S. Revenue Cutter Caleb Cushing from the possession of the piratical crew of the rebel cruiser "Tacony." Capt. Beal's company continued in active duty at Portland and vicinity as a picket guard upon the shores adjacent to the ship channels of all the approaches to the inner harbor of that city, and in partially manning the incomplete fortifications until August 19, 1863, when they were mustered out of service by General Order No. 16 of that date. Some sixteen privates and three non-commissioned officers of this company were however retained in service as a guard at the State Arsenal, and for occasional picket duty elsewhere, until the 15th of September, when they were finally discharged from further active duty. The threats and demonstrations of disloyal men in Portland and vicinity against the operation of the draft occasioned a desire almost universal on the part of the civil authorities as well as all the respectable and influential parties of the communities that the services of this company of troops should be retained until all causes for apprehension from this source ceased. Similar threats and demonstrations more or less extensive in different localities occasioned a degree of preparation for emergencies in this particular at Biddeford, Norway and Bangor, which devolved some expense for pay and allowances to troops and citizens as guards, and for extra transportation of ordnance, ordnance stores and ammunition, and the expenditure of the latter in practice, &c. At Bangor, His Honor Mayor Dale deemed it prudent to have such public property stored at the State Arsenal as might be made available to an enemy or a mob, removed to localities in the city more easily and securely guarded. Joseph N. Downe, Esq., an experienced artillerist, (though not in commission,) was placed in charge of the city defences and the drilling of gunners. At Biddeford, Capt. Ira Andrews, formerly of the Coast Guard at Kittery in 1861-2, exercised similar authority, and at Norway Capt. Sylvanus Cobb, jr., of the C Company of State Guards of the Third Division, was vested with the command. At all of those places, as also at Rockland, Belfast, Dexter, Lewiston, Calais and other places, brass field pieces were kept shotted, and other needful vigilance exercised for the maintenance of law in all its dignity. I cannot doubt that to those precautionary measures are the State and General Governments indebted for the preservation of law and order during the excited period in which the Draft Law was in operation. In addition to such defensive measures against rebel cruisers as could be furnished by a liberal issue of State arms, ordnance and ammunition at all exposed localities upon our coast, steamers were chartered of private individuals, and armed from the State Arsenals for cruising at the entrance of the harbors of Portland and Bath and their respective vicinities, and continued in the vigilant discharge of those duties for some weeks, when reasonable apprehension of immediate danger from that source having ceased, they were discharged.

KINGFIELD AFFAIR.

The only overt attempt to obstruct the enforcement of the conscription law in this State, occurred last July, in the towns of Kingfield, Freeman and Salem, in the Second District. In these towns the distribution of notifications to drafted men by the officers of enrolment was resisted. In the former town, officer Lambert of Phillips, when about to enter upon his duty, was met by a mob of nearly fifty persons and ordered to leave town, with threats of personal violence in case he refused. Appealing in vain to several of the influential citizens of the place to interfere and stay such riotous proceedings, and not deeming it prudent to remain, the mandate of the mob was obeyed. In the town of Freeman a mob visited the residence of Mr. Clark, the enrolling officer, the same night, and destroyed the notifications he had in his possession. In the town of Salem, the same operation was repeated. Certain other riotous demonstrations took place a few days later in the town of Kingfield, indicating that unless such a spirit of opposition as was manifested was not put down, serious consequences would be the result.

The attention of the United States authorities being called to these flagrant violations of law and order, an expedition was detailed and placed under the charge of Post Adjutant Webber of Assistant Provost Marshal General's staff, with orders to proceed to Kingfield and enforce the laws and restore the public peace. The expedition was composed of the Lewiston Light Infantry, Capt. J. T. Stevens, made up mostly of returned veterans of the 10th Regiment, numbering rank and file sixty-six men, called to this service by special order No. 13 of this Department, of July 23, 1863, and a detail of twenty-one enlisted men from Augusta, under Lieut. James A. Godfrey, who joined the company at Lewiston. The whole command numbered eighty-seven rank and file, and was officered as follows: Captain, J. T. Stevens; 1st. Lieutenant, James A. Godfrey ; 2d Lieutenant, N. Byron Reed. Private E. Sands acted as Quartermaster, and to captains Knowlton and Nye, privates A. O. Morgan, W. W. Ayer, and Dr. Martin, were assigned the duty of serving the notifications. Four days rations were provided and ten rounds of ball cartridges given each man.

On July 23d, in the afternoon, this force left Lewiston by the Androscoggin railroad for Farmington, where it encamped on the common for the night, while those selected to serve the notifications proceeded to New Portland. The next day morning the force proceeded to New Vineyard, thence to New Portland and thence to Kingfield. When within half a mile of the village, a delegation of citizens, accompanied by a band of music, came out and escorted the company to the village, in the vicinity of which it was stationed. In the mean time those who had been detailed to serve the notifications had arrived and entered upon their work—Adjutant Webber and Dr. Martin serving the notices in Kingfield, Capt. Nye and private Morgan in Salem, and Capt. Knowlton and private Ayer in Freeman. During the afternoon of the following day these officers reported that they had successfully accomplished their mission. The object of the expedition having been accomplished, it commenced its return to Lewiston, arriving during the afternoon of the 26th.

I am happy to state that the loyal citizens on the route over which the expedition passed, were untiring in their attention to the troops, and proffered every assistance in their power. The soldiers behaved with the greatest propriety. Not a single instance of intoxication or disorderly conduct was reported. Adjutant Webber and Capt. Stevens are deserving of praise for their excellent discipline and the creditable manner in which they performed their duty.

The prompt and energetic action of the United States authorities in suppressing by an armed force the treasonable spirit that had begun to show itself, and which completely overawed the sentiment of loyalty, was the means of doing much good. While it strengthened the hands of the loyal portion of the community it furnished a lesson to those who had taken a hostile attitude, by which they learned that such a course could not be tolerated or pursued with impunity.

TACONY AFFAIR.

The prompt and vigilant action on the part of the civil and military authorities in capturing the officers and crew of the rebel bark Tacony, in the harbor of Portland on the 26th of last June, forms one of the most brilliant pages in the history of the present war, and will ever be remembered as a gallant and praiseworthy affair.

The commander of the Tacony was Lieut. C. W. Read, a commissioned officer of the rebel navy. For some time he had pursued his depredations on this coast, when learning that Federal cruisers were after him, and fearing recognition, he captured June 24th the fishing schooner Archer of Southport, 90 tons, and after transferring everything to her burned the Tacony. The Archer was then headed for Portland for the purpose of cutting out the United States revenue cutter Caleb Cushing, lying in the stream, and of destroying the uncompleted United States gunboats Pontoome and Agawam, moored at Franklin wharf, as well as other shipping in the harbor. While on the way, two fishermen of Falmouth, named Albert P. Bibber and Elbridge Titcomb, who were hauling their trawl in a small boat about eight miles to the south-east of Damariscove Island, were captured by Read, whose intention was to use them for pilots, but they refused to serve, and were shortly afterward confined below. About sunset the Archer came to anchor to the eastward of Pomeroy's rock, off Fish point in Portland harbor. At this place the rebel cruisers remained, waiting for the hour to arrive when they should carry their daring enterprise into execution. The clearness of the night, it is believed, deterred them from accomplishing the whole of their audacious purposes. Between the hours of one and two o'clock they approached the Caleb Cushing with muffled oars. She was heavily armed, provided with two months' provisions, and was under orders to cruise in search of the Tacony; but on account of the illness and death of her commander, Captain George Clark, she was delayed until the arrival of a new commander, and was in charge of Lieut. Davenport. The cutter was boarded on each side by Read and his companions, who were armed with revolvers and cutlasses. No sooner were they on deck than they quickly seized and ironed the watch. The unusual noise that occurred aroused Lieut. Davenport from his slumber, who, as he came upon deck, was also seized, together with the crew, about twenty in number, all of whom were ironed and placed below. Having obtained possession of the cutter, the anchor was weighed, being unable to slip cable, and at about three o'clock she was towed out of the harbor by placing two boats ahead—proceeding seaward by way of Hussey's sound, thus avoiding the forts—followed by the Archer, which sent a boat to her containing Bibber, who was placed on board. Read passed through the passage between Cow Island and Hog Island, standing out to sea by Green Islands. At ten A. M. he was about fifteen miles from the city, when the wind died away and left him becalmed.

The seizure of the cutter was first made known about half past seven o'clock, when she was discovered proceeding outward from the Observatory on Munjoy's hill. The news circulated like wildfire, and in a short time the city was wild with excitement. Hon. Jedediah Jewett, Collector of the port, was promptly informed of the loss of the cutter, and with characteristic energy he immediately commenced making preparations for pursuit. The steamer Forest City, Capt. Liscomb, and a smaller steamer called the Casco, together with the steam-tug Tiger, were chartered by that gentleman. A detachment of thirty men from the 17th U. S. Infantry at Fort Preble was placed aboard the Forest City, besides two rifled 12-pounders with a sufficient quantity of ammunition. About one hundred citizen volunteers went aboard. The steamer was placed under the charge of Robert A. Bird, Esq., Deputy Collector of the port, assisted by Lieut. Merriman, who had arrived that morning to take command of the cutter. A detachment from the 7th Regiment Maine Volunteers under Adjutant Nickerson was placed aboard the Tiger. While these preparations were going on, Mr. Jewett proceeded to charter the New York steamship Chesapeake, Capt. Willetts, which he found had already been spoken for by Hon. Jacob McLellan, Mayor of Portland, and J. B. Brown, Esq., and under the direction of the Mayor assisted by Mr. William F. Leighton, Naval Inspector, was being put in readiness for pursuit. Bales of cotton were so disposed as to afford protection to those on her deck as well as to her engines. Two 6-pounders from the State Arsenal were placed forward, and put under the charge of Lieut. George Waldron, of the revenue service, and Mr. George J. Barry, U. S. Naval Engineer, who selected as larboard gunner J. L. Gardiner, a volunteer who had seen service with Farragut on the Mississippi river, and John C. Camber, of Company G, 7th Regiment, an old man-of-war's man, to whom was given charge of the starboard gun. William Bigelow and William Turnbull, two volunteers, were also designated as assistant gunners. Col. Mason, of the 7th Regiment Maine Volunteers, with a detachment of twenty-seven men from the same regiment under Capt. Henry Warren, also went aboard, together with a number of patriotic citizens who volunteered their services, and who were furnished with arms by Mayor McLellan, and placed under the command of Mr. F. R. Harris by order of Col. Mason. Plenty of ammunition, together with provisions for forty-eight hours, were taken aboard. William Willard and Alfred S. Leighton were directed to serve as pilots. The command of the Chesapeake was given to Mr. William F. Leighton.

In the mean time the Forest City had taken her departure, leaving Port Preble at about 11 o'clock. The tug Tiger followed closely after. The cutter was seen heading south-east. When the Forest City came within range, Lieut. Reed opened on her with one round cartridge from his 32-pounder amidships, but with no effect. He also fired six round shots at her from his 24-pound howitzer forward, each of which shots fell short. No flag was shown by him. The Forest City then laid to, waiting for the Chesapeake to come up.

The course of the Chesapeake after she left the wharf was south-half-east; but when the first gun was fired, Mr. Leighton, after consultation with Col. Mason, concluded to steer for the cutter and attempt to run her down. The guns were ordered to be shotted, and those on board were assigned to their positions. The fifth shot from the cutter brought a response from the larboard gun of the Chesapeake. It was pronounced a beautiful line shot and elicited the praise of those on board, but it fell short.

The Forest City then moved slowly towards the Chesapeake, when the latter slackened her speed, and after a brief consultation it was decided that the Chesapeake should run the cutter down, the Chesapeake being a propeller and better prepared.

Under a full head of steam the Chesapeake proceeded directly for the cutter, the air ringing with the cheers of those on board, echoed back with patriotic fervor by those on board the Forest City. Steadily she kept on her course until within two miles of the cutter, when a boat was seen lowered from the cutter freighted with men, who were supposed to be boarders, and preparations were accordingly made to receive them. At the same time another shot came skipping over the water, which fell short. The boat on approaching nearer was found to contain Lieut. Davenport and the cutter's crew, who had been set adrift with their irons on. On their being taken aboard and placed below, another shot came from the cutter and the grape went shrieking through the rigging of the Chesapeake, with but trifling injury. The blind and window of Capt. Willetts' room on the upper deck between the fore and main masts, were also perforated by two minnie balls, which it is supposed, were fired at Mr. Leighton about this time, who afforded a prominent mark while standing on the upper deck. At this crisis the rebels abandoned the cutter after having fired her, taking to two boats. The Chesapeake run within half a mile of the cutter, but not deeming it prudent to approach nearer as it was known that the fire was directly over the magazine, she stood away, keeping however in that vicinity.

Meantime the Forest City pursued the two boat-loads of rebels, who were making for the Harpswell shore, overhauling them, and taking them prisoners without any resistance. She also picked up Bibber who had been set adrift in his boat when the cutter was off Cod Ledge.

At about 2 o'clock the magazine of the cutter, containing 400 pounds of powder, exploded with a terrific concussion. The fate of the Caleb Cushing being decided, the expedition returned to the city. On the way, the Archer, with the remaining three of the Tacony's crew, and Titcomb, the captured fishermen, was caught by the Forest City while she was trying to escape, and taken in tow. All of the rebel prisoners, numbering twenty-three, were landed at Fort Preble, where they were placed in close confinement.

The brilliant achievement of the expedition was honored by the ringing of bells and firing of cannon, and the wharves and every available point were alive with people on its arrival who indulged in other joyous demonstrations.

The prompt and efficient action of Collector Jewett, merited the warmest approval of Hon. S. P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury. In an autograph letter to Mr. Jewett the Secretary writes :

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, }
July 3, 1863. }

SIR:—I have received and read with great interest your detailed report of the seizure of the cutter Cushing, and the measures taken by you for her recapture.

Your promptness and efficiency, resulting in the capture of the piratical rebels and their vessel, and the liberation of Lieut. Davenport and the crew of the cutter, merits and receives my entire approbation and earnest thanks. I request you to convey also, to Col. Mason and the volunteers under his command, to the commander of Fort Preble, and to the officers of the steamers employed, my thanks for the services so promptly rendered at your request.

I am, very respectfully,

S. P. CHASE, Secretary of the Treasury.

JEDEDIAH JEWETT, Collector, &c., Portland, Me.

At a meeting of the city government of Portland, July 6th, a resolution passed both branches tendering the thanks of the city council to Wm. F. Leighton, U. S. Navy, Geo. J. Barry, U. S. Navy, Col. E. C. Mason of the army, and his command, Capt. Willetts of steamer Chesapeake, Capt. Liscomb of steamer Forest City, and to all others engaged in the enterprise, for their most valuable services in the successful attack on the pirates who seized the cutter Caleb Cushing, in which attack the pirates not only lost their prize, but were themselves captured, with the vessel to which they had transferred their most necessary weapons of offence, with which they intended to pursue their nefarious depredations upon our commerce.

The following is a list, as far as I have been able to obtain, of those citizens who volunteered their services on the Chesapeake: John Green, F. B. Furlong, S. S. Murry, H. C. Wood, Edward Graffam, C. K. Babb, N. J. Miller, jr., O. M. Marratt, J. W. Brackett, S. W. Prince, Wm. Leavitt, M. McBride, W. H. McAllister, E. Enfer, Charles Gordon, H. E. Ham, F. C. Emery, D. M. Patch, F. Robinson, George Newall, J. S. White, T. C. Lewis, Henry Foy, C. Marwick, W. E. S. Whitman, Reporter Daily Evening Courier, W. H. Fessenden, F. V. Carney, J. M. Gould, Howard Gould, Clarence Abbott, E. O. Haile, Reporter Daily Argus, Henry Fox, J. G. Lewis, C. S. Akers, Ed. Hall, J. S. Winslow, Frederick Hsley, James Doughty, F. R. Harris, Charles Knapp, J. L. Gardiner, Wm. Bigelow, Wm. Turnbull, J. C. Camber, H. B. Brown, Rev. J. W. Lovering.

I have been unable to obtain a list of those on the Forest City.

The following is a list of the cutter's men captured by the rebels: Lieut. Davenport, George R. Plummer, Byron S. Blish, Robert P. Davis, Samuel A. Prince, John Avilline, Peter Warren, Benjamin Ashby, John Matson, George McCarty, George H. Rand, Edward Mahoney, Edward J. W. Morris, Charles Wilson, Henry Finnegan, Dickson Wescott, John Hayes, John Collins, Thomas Heffran, Alexander Hayden, James Bush.

On reaching the Archer, the 12-pounder brass howitzer which was on board the Tacony, was found, together with arms and ammunition; also the burgee of the Tacony with the name upon it, and other flags belonging to that vessel, also the chronometer and a tin case containing vessel's papers, charts, log-book, and private journals giving operations of the Tacony. Two barrels of beef were also found.

When Lieut. Read was taken, he delivered to Capt. Liscomb of the Forest City his private carpet-bag containing papers, registers, &c., of the various vessels he had captured, enclosed in a tin case. Over $300,000 worth of bonds given by the various vessels he had captured were recovered.

While in Fort Preble Lieut. Read furnished the following particulars respecting his operations after reporting on board the Florida, in Mobile, at the close of 1862. The Florida he describes as a small sloop-of-war, having eight rifled guns and one hundred and twenty men. On January 16 they left Mobile bay. On the 17th saw a sloop-of-war, supposed to be the Brooklyn, which passed within half a mile, showed three lights, and passed to the northward; 19th burned brig Estella. Early on the morning of the 22d left Havana and steamed to eastward, burned brig Windward, letting the crew go in a small boat. Off Cardenas Light, burned Corris Ann. She drifted into Cardenas harbor. On the 31st, was chased by a Federal gunboat; had the heels of her. February 12, captured clipper ship Jacob Bell; showed Yankee flag in hailing her; burned her on the 13th. March 6, captured ship Star of Peace; burned her at 4 P. M. March 13, burned schooner Aldabren. March 28, captured bark Lapwing, christened her C. S. corvette Ovetto, and she captured ship Commonwealth, April 17, bonding her; Lapwing afterward burned. March 29, captured bark M. J. Colcord, and burned her April 15. April 23, burned bark Henrietta; 24th, burned ship Oneida. May 6, lat. 5 35 S., lon. 34 23 W., captured brig Clarence and christened her C. S. corvette Florida, No. 2.

Up to this time the Florida captured fourteen vessels. The Kate Dyer was one. The officers and crew of the Clarence were as follows: 2d Lieutenant, C. W. Read, commanding; 2d Assistant Engineer, E. H. Brown; Quartermaster, J. E. Billaps; Quarter

Gunner, N. B. Boyd; Captain A. G., J. W. Matthewson; Crew, Joseph Mayer, Charles Lawson, J. P. Murphy, Robert Muller, James McLeod, J. Robertson, A. L. Drayton, George Thomas, Alexander Stewart, Michael Gorman, Robert Murray, C. W. Dolvin, Hugh McDaniels, Frederick Walton, James Coffey, Daniel Morse, John McNary. Lieut. Read received from the Florida one howitzer, complete, six rifles, thirteen revolvers and ten pistols. At the time of the transfer the Clarence was off Cape St. Roque. She then ran up north till June 6. When off Cape Hatteras, burned bark Whistling Wind, with coal for the U. S. Navy; 7th, captured schooner Alfred H. Partridge, and bonded her; 9th, burned brig Mary Alvina, loaded with commissary stores; 12th, lat. 37 N., lon. 75 30 W., captured bark Tacony; finding her faster than the Clarence, transferred everything to her, and burned the Clarence; christened the Tacony bark Florida. Same day captured schooner M. A. Shindler and schooner Kate Stuart. Bonded Kate Stuart for $7000, and sent all prisoners aboard. Burned the M. A. Shindler. Same day captured and bonded brig Arabella, with neutral cargo. Passed gunboat without being noticed. June 15, lat. 37 42, lon. 70 30, burned brig Umpire; 20th, lat. 40 50, lon. 69 04, bonded ship Isaac Webb, with 750 passengers; 3 P. M., burned fishing sloop, name unknown; 21st, lat. 41, lon. 69 10, burned ship Byzantium; enlisted three men from her belonging to New Orleans; same day burned bark Goodspeed; 22d, burned fishing schooner Marengo; same day captured schooner Florence; put all the prisoners aboard her, 76 in number, including the crews of the schooners Elizabeth Ann, Rufus Choate and Ripple, which were captured and burned same day; 23d, burned schooners Ada and Wanderer; 24th, lat. 45 10, lon. 67 43, captured packet ship Shatemac, Liverpool for Boston, with 350 passengers, and bonded her for $150,000; same day captured schooner Archer, chased Shatemac and put Archer's crew aboard; burned Tacony, transferring everything to the Archer. Thence came direct to Portland.

In the private minutes of Lieut. Read, found among his papers, is the following memorandum:—"It is my intention to go along the coast with the view of burning the shipping in some exposed harbor, or cutting out a steamer."

The following is an abstract from the logs of the brig Clarence or Florida No. 2, and bark Tacony, during their cruises from the time Read and his companions were transferred to the former until their arrival at Portland :—Received from C. S. steamer Florida one howitzer, complete, six rifles, thirteen revolvers, ten pistols. The journal gives no further memoranda, only courses and position. Sixth May, she was lat. south 6 34, lon. west 34 23 north by west. On the 16th, in lat. north 11 27, lon. west 46 50. On the 26th, lat. north 24 15, lon. 62 39. June 5th, lat. north 33 04, lon. west 70 56. June 13th lat. north 38, lon. west 73 47. Course not given since first day, but here she evidently changed course, and next day, 14th, was in lat. north 37 42, lon. west 72 32. 15th lat. north 38 40, lon. west 70 30. She then sailed to northward and eastward till the 18th, reaching lat. 39 29, lon. 64 44; thence northward and westward till 20th, reaching lat. 41 05, lon 69 04. 21st she was in lat. 40 15, lon. 69 09. 22d, lat. 41 14, lon. 98 30, which closed journal, though heading is written up to the 23d.

From the log book of the Tacony, Capt. Monday, it appears he left Port Royal for Philadelphia, June 7th, at 8 A. M. On June 10th, lat. 33 37 north observation, lon. 76 49 dead reckoning, saw an English steamer, a blockade runner. Florida No. 2 gives lat. 34 27, lon. 74 27, by observation, same day. On 11th lon. continues same style, but in new hand, as if brought up for a day or two from minutes. At 4 o'clock saw a steamer steering northward. No position given—course as before, N. N. E. June 13th, nine, evening, log says hove to east! with an exclamation point. Position nearly identical with Florida No. 2, lat. 38 06, lon. 73 37. Entry—we find the bark makes some water—pumps attended to. The course was changed to S. E., then S. S. E., then N. N. E., then E. June 14th, position coincides with Florida No. 2 log book, lat. 37 42, lon. 73 32; course about south-east, with all prudent sail set. 15th, course changed to east by north. 17th, stood to westward, lat. 38 47, lon. 65. 19th, water nearly out; all hands on short allowance, half gallon a day. Course north-west, having been northward and eastward since 17th. Lat. 40 08, lon. 65 22. 20th, at 7 A. M., being morning 21st, boarded a New York ship with passengers. Lat. 41 02, lon. 69 20. 22d, 4 P. M., burned four vessels and sent all the prisoners to New York. Thick fog. Next morning burned fishing schooner, at 9 A. M.; position not given. 24th; fog cleared away at 6 P. M.; at 8 A. M. overhauled and burnt a topsail schooner. At 7 next morning saw and boarded a ship from Liverpool for New York, with passengers. Kept charge of her during the day. At 4 P. M., 25th, bonded and let her go with all the prisoners on board. At 7.30 captured the schooner —, evidently the Archer. At 9 P. M. commenced removing from the bark to the schooner; finished at 2 A. M, everybody being on board. Burned the bark Tacony and stood to the north-west, this being the morning of the 26th. The log ends at noon in lat. 43 28 north, lon. 67 50 west, with the remark, nothing doing unusual. Last course south-west by west, the course during the night having been north-east till the Tacony was burned.

The following is the list of vessels captured by the rebels: Jacob Bell, Star of Peace, Oneida, Commonwealth, Kate Dyer, Lapwing, Colcord, Henrietta, Clarence, Estella, Windward, Corris Ann, Aldabren, Byzantium, Isaac Webb, Shatemuc, Whistling Wind, Tacony, Goodspeed, Mary Alvina, Arabella, Umpire, Marengo, Florence, Ripple, Elizabeth Ann, Rufus Choate, Ada, Alfred Partridge, M. A. Shindler, Kate Stuart, Archer, a sloop, Wanderer.

In a letter written by Lieut. Read while in Fort Preble to Lieut. Babson, confined in Fort Lafayette, he says:—"It was my intention when I came to Portland to cut out a sea-going steamer, but strange to say, at the decisive moment, Mr. Brown (whom you will remember in connection with the breaking down of the Arkansas engine) declared himself incompetent to work the engines of the steamer unless he had another engineer to coöperate with him. All my plans were then crushed, and I was compelled to take the cutter out as a dernier resort. If there had been a breeze, we would have been far out to sea before daylight, having committed considerable destruction in the harbor of Portland."

VOLUNTEERS FURNISHED BY MAINE.

Since the commencement of the present rebellion, Maine has furnished to the service of the General Government in its own organizations, exclusive of three months men, thirty-nine thousand four hundred and five (39,405) men, of which number seven thousand four hundred and fifty-nine (7,459) were nine months men, who have been mustered out of service, and one thousand six hundred and thirty-two (1,632) two years men in the 2d and 10th regiments, which are also mustered out—leaving thirty thousand three hundred and fourteen (30,314) three years men to the credit of the State, in addition to all enlisted for a shorter period. These figures show the number of enlistments to January 20, 1864, and are exclusive of any reënlistments in the field, and include only a portion of the troops raised under the call of October 17, 1863, enlistments for which had not then been fully credited.

During the first year of the rebellion, and until July 2, 1862, no quotas were assessed upon the State; or at least no notice was received of the assignment of any quotas. From the organization of the first two and three years regiments under the President's call in May, 1861, to May 21, 1862, regiments were organized under acceptances of the War Department.

On the twenty-first of May, 1862, special authority was given from the War Department to raise another regiment of Infantry, which was ordered by the Governor to be recruited as the 16th Maine Infantry. The following July the President called for three hundred thousand (300,000) three years volunteers. Maine's quota was assigned for this call at nine thousand six hundred and nine (9,609), and enlistments for the 16th Regiment were posted to its credit, with those for the 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th Regiments, and three years recruits enlisted until July 7th, 1863. Under the call for nine months militia, the quota of the State was again assigned by the War Department to be nine thousand six hundred and nine (9,609). Of this number, seven thousand four hundred and fifty-nine (7,459) were mustered into the eight regiments organized, while many originally enlisted for this call reënlisted as three years recruits for old regiments, leaving a considerable deficiency upon the call, but more than filling, with the surplus furnished in 1861, as was then supposed, the preceding call of July 2d* for three years men. For in 1861 more men were raised than were required, and in many instances regiments were almost forced to the unwilling acceptance of the General Government. Early in that year enough companies for two regiments were disbanded because they could not be accepted by the War Department; and later in the year, after the 1st Maine Cavalry had been mustered into service, only earnest remonstrance prevented the disbanding of that fine regiment.

In September, 1863, however, a communication was received from the Adjutant General's Office at Washington presenting an exhibit of troops furnished and claimed from Maine to and including May 26, 1863. The number claimed in this exhibit as the quota of 1861 was seventeen thousand five hundred and sixty (17,560), and credit allowed for fifteen thousand nine hundred and sixty-five (15,965), leaving an alleged deficiency of one thousand five hundred and ninety-five (1,595) for quotas of 1861. Credit was only given for five thousand and sixty-one (5,061) troops on the call of July 2, 1862, leaving an apparent deficiency on that call of four thousand five hundred and forty-eight (4,548) men. The credits for nine months men, though not so materially incorrect, presented a slight excess of the number actually furnished as shown by the records in this office. The total deficiencies alleged to exist amounted to six thousand one hundred and forty-three (6,143), on calls for three years volunteers, and two thousand and twenty-four (2,024), on calls for nine months troops. By comparison of this exhibit with the records and files of this office, it was found that three hundred and sixty-one (361) enlistments in 1861, and three thousand five hundred and thirteen (3,513) enlistments in 1862 and to May 26, 1863, had not been credited. The reason for which deficit was probably that during the most of this time recruits for regiments in the field were not mustered into service on muster-in rolls but upon their papers of enlistment, and in counting the muster-in rolls at the War Department this class was entirely omitted.

* This call has been erroneously returned as the call of May 25, from the fact that troops enlisted from that date were credited.

The following Statement and Exhibit were immediately prepared from the records of this Office, and given to the War Department:

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, Sept. 16, 1863. }

Statement regarding the number of men furnished by Maine to the General Government since the commencement of the rebellion, exclusive of three months' troops, to May 26, '63. (See also Exhibit.)

Number claimed by War Department as the quota of Maine, calls of 1861, by exhibit transmitted Sept. 5, 1863, from the Adjutant General's Office, Washington, to the Governor of Maine,	17,560
Quota under call July 2d, 1862,	9,609
Total three years men claimed,	27,169
Number of three years troops credited at the War Department to the quotas of Maine to May 26, 1863,	21,026
Number actually furnished to that date,	24,900

Which reduces deficiency alleged, (six thousand one hundred and forty-three,) to two thousand two hundred and sixty-nine, (2269) . . . . . 2,269

Which is the deficiency, admitting the quotas of three years' men to have amounted to twenty-seven thousand one hundred and sixty-nine, (27,169) as alleged at the War Department. Maine, however, actually furnished in 1861 eighteen hundred and sixty-nine (1869) men in excess of all calls, (amounting to fourteen thousand eight hundred, 14,800) made that year—which credited to the deficiency on the call of July 2d, 1862, leaves the actual deficiency on all calls for three years volunteers to be only four hundred (400.)

The number of nine months' troops shown in the exhibit from the War Department (seven thousand five hundred and eighty-five, 7,585) does not differ materially from the number actually furnished, though no company of Sharpshooters was furnished by Maine for nine months' service, as there stated.

No deficiency in the quotas of Maine Volunteers, apparent or otherwise, should be charged and exacted from Maine for these reasons, viz :

First—From the migratory character of the people of Maine, many of her residents have enlisted in the volunteer organizations of other States, and were accounted to the quotas of those States. Maine has a much larger proportion of this class of soldiers than any other State. Over twenty-four hundred (2400) residents of Maine are known to have enlisted with volunteer organizations of other States, and doubtless the number is larger by one-third than has been reported. Early in June, 1861, two regiments of Infantry more than were asked for by the General Government, were raised and tendered for service for any period not exceeding three years, but the War Department refused to accept them, and consequently they were disbanded by the Governor. A large number of the members of these organizations immediately repaired to contiguous States and enlisted in regiments of those States which went into service.

Second—Maine has furnished from her extended sea-board to the United States Navy, more than three times the number of seamen than has any other State. In many of our towns the entire able-bodied male population is engaged in sea-faring pursuits, and a large proportion of this population are sailors in our naval service.

It is estimated that at least six thousand (6,000) citizens of Maine are in the United States Navy.

Third—In 1861, on the quota of which year the Department represent a large deficiency, five more regiments were raised by the Governor of Maine than were required by any and all requisitions from the General Government. Two of these regiments were disbanded as stated above; the others were mustered into U. S. service; but it was even decided by the Secretary of War to disband one of the regiments mustered in, (the 1st Maine Cavalry,) and it was only by the earnest request and petition of Governor Washburn, through the State Agent, Hon. James G. Blaine, that the War Department were dissuaded from this purpose, and this gallant regiment saved to the service and credited to the quota of Maine.

This last, however, is not presented to influence in the reduction of an apparent deficiency in Maine's quota, except in connection with the other reasons before stated. For Maine, since the commencement of the rebellion, has given to the United States, in the Army and Navy, more men proportionately than has any other State, though the number furnished for Maine volunteer organizations may not appear to be quite as large as the quota demanded; and Maine is still ready to respond to any calls for troops which may, in justice, be made upon her.

JOHN L. HODSDON,

Adjutant General of Maine.

A communication in reply was received from the War Department, Nov. 9, 1863, transmitting a revised statement of troops furnished from the State, compiled from the returns of recruits on file at Washington. This gave additional credit from the first statement of two thousand seven hundred and twelve (2,712) three-years men, and refused to credit four hundred and seventy-eight (478) recruits enlisted in New Orleans for our regiments in the Department of the Gulf, stating that they would stand to the credit of Louisiana. This conceded leaves a difference of six hundred and eighty-four (684) between the records of men furnished filed in this office and those filed at the War Department.

Below is the material portion of the correspondence with the War Department respecting the revised statement and its credits :

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

Brig. Gen. John L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General of Maine, Augusta :

GENERAL :—I have the honor to enclose herewith a revised statement of troops furnished by the State of Maine. This in answer to your statement of Sept. 16, left by you at this office.

The State has been credited with the three hundred and sixty-one (361) recruits furnished in 1861, of which you have descriptive lists. Our records show but ninety-eight (98). Please, therefore, let the U. S. Mustering Officer examine your records, and forward to this office a certificate of the difference, two hundred and sixty-three (263). Our records on that point will then agree. Under the revised statement the State has received an additional credit of two thousand seven hundred and twelve (2,712) three-years men.

The Department cannot credit for the four hundred and seventy-eight (478) men mustered in at New Orleans, since under our rules they have been credited to the State of Louisiana.

I have the honor to remain, General,

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

(Signed) THOMAS M. VINCENT, Ass't Adj't General.

[REPLY.]

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

Maj. Thomas M. Vincent, Ass't Adj't General, Washington, D. C.:

SIR:—In accordance with instructions contained in your letter of the 6th inst., Capt. Baily, Mustering Officer, has made examination of the records in this office of unassigned recruits in 1861, and hands me the accompanying certificate for transmittal to be filed with your records.

I find the revised statement differs materially from the facts as shown by the muster-in rolls and records on file in this office and the records of the volunteer recruiting service of this State, amounting in the aggregate to six hundred and eighty-four (684) less, exclusive of the recruits (478) enlisted in New Orleans for Maine regiments, which are under your rules credited to the State of Louisiana, and for which, therefore, no further claim is now urged. The difference arises, I have no doubt, from the fact that the recruits in your revised statement are taken up from the regimental returns and not from the records of enlistment and muster into United States service, the only correct sources of information, and on which the statement handed you by me, dated Sept. 16, 1863, was based. I am only surprised that a list of credits made up from regimental returns approximates so nearly to the correct numbers. An examination of the records of this office and of the volunteer recruiting service in this State, is now being made at my request by direction of Major Gardiner, Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General and Superintendent of Volunteer Recruiting Service, with a view of sending for file in your office the Mustering Officer's statement and certificate of the aggregate strength of Maine organizations in men furnished under all calls up to May 26, 1863, which certificate will, I think, satisfy you of the nearer approximation to correctness of the statement sent from this office than of the revised statement from the War Department, and enable the making of your records and those in this office to agree.

I am, Major, very truly and respectfully,

Your ob't serv't,

(Signed) JOHN L. HODSDON, Adj't Gen'l of Maine.

The examination and count of the rolls of this office and at headquarters of volunteer recruiting service, mentioned in the last letter, has not yet been completed owing to the amount of business of more importance involved in raising the State's quota of volunteers upon both this and Major Gardiner's Department, which has peremptorily claimed the attention of those conducting this examination, so that the difference of six hundred and eighty-four (684) between the State records and those of the War Department still remains, but the examination will be resumed and completed at the earliest practicable moment. It is believed the result will give the State a full credit for troops furnished Maine organizations; and it is hoped that the action of Congress will also give the State due credit for the large number of seamen furnished the navy. For while both War and Navy Departments admit that allowance should justly be made on this account, neither Department can see the way under existing rules and law to have the proper credit given.

The following letter from the Secretary of the Navy to Governor Coburn in reply to a letter of enquiry concerning Maine obtaining an allowance for men furnished the navy, will show the grounds for refusing these credits:

NAVY DEPARTMENT, Dec. 1, 1863.

SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 13th ultimo. The difficulty* stated by you has been felt and noted by the Department. By the operation of the draft and the system of high bounties, the naval branch of the public service is being deprived of its legitimate force. I have brought the subject to the attention of the President, who is favorably disposed, and fully aware of the injustice to the maritime communities as well as to the navy, but the War Department interposes the law as a barrier to allowing navy recruits to be credited to the quota assigned to the several localities.

As it could never have been intended to impair the naval service, or to deny the maritime towns full credit for the seamen supplied by them, I cannot doubt that any defect in the existing law will be promptly corrected by Congress when it assembles. We are greatly in want of seamen, and all mariners called or received into the public service should be permitted to enter the navy, where they can be more useful than in the army.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

(Signed,) GIDEON WELLES, Secretary of the Navy.

His Excellency, ABNER COBURN, Governor of the State of Maine,

QUOTAS.

In apportioning the quotas assigned to the State in 1862, the apportionment upon the first call that year (July 2d, for three years troops,) was based upon the population as shown by census returns of 1860. The apportionment for the second call (August 4th, for nine months militia,) was made upon the same basis, giving credits so far as practicable for the men previously furnished Maine organizations. The apportionment for the draft of July and August, under the so-called Conscription Act, was made by the United States authorities upon the basis of the enrolment of the first class, embracing all men between the ages of twenty and thirty-five. This enrolment was made by the United States enrolling officers appointed under the Act of Congress for enrolling and calling out the National forces. By request of the Provost Marshal General a copy of the State enrolment of the preceding year was furnished from this office to aid in making the enrolment. The State enrolment was necessarily imperfect from the many changes that had occurred since it was taken, through men entering service, death, change of locality, &c., to say nothing of the many inaccuracies which existed necessarily, it being the result of the first attempt at a thorough enrolment of the militia of the State for over twenty years. Still, properly used, it would have been a material assistance in verifying and completing a more correct and thorough enrolment, but, as was afterwards ascertained, many United States enrolling officers relied upon it entirely, using no effort to properly revise the record, but returning to the Provost Marshals simply copies of the old State enrolment furnished them, with the addition or omission of such few names as limited personal observation, without much labor to ascertain the facts, would suggest. The result, in several localities, was a roll more incorrect than the original State enrolment; hence the assessment for the draft, and more particularly for the State's quota of volunteers under the call of October 17th, which was based by the order of the War Department on the number of the first class as shown by this enrolment, was in a great measure unequal, and bore upon certain localities with a degree of unavoidable rigor. As an example of this, the town of Perry, in Washington County, may be mentioned here. That town, from an enrolled list of one hundred and forty-eight (148) men, had actually only twenty-eight (28) left in the first class who were liable to be called upon for military duty. The town had, previous to call of October 17th, sent into service in the army and navy, sixty (60) men, and paid commutation under the draft for four. Of the twenty-eight men remaining many would ordinarily be called exempts. The assessment was made on Perry as on other towns, by orders which allowed of no deviation from the rules on account of errors in the enrolment, upon the number shown by the list to be contained in the first class. It should also be mentioned here, to the credit of the patriotic people of Perry, that the full quota of the town was immediately furnished from its own citizens, without grumbling or question, though the town was fully aware of the inequality of the apportionment. I have not heard of other towns where the error was so marked and apparent, but there are many places that might complain of defects in their record of enrolment, through which they have been called upon for an undue proportion of men. It may be asked why this difficulty was not remedied by a thorough revision of the lists. The reply is simple. Because it was perfectly impracticable without doing still more injustice to the Government and State, and at the same time creating worse dissatisfaction among localities. For, until the apportionment was made for the call of October 17th, based by peremptory orders of the Provost Marshal General, upon the record of enrolment of the first class, the facts illustrated above were not fully known. Indeed, every evidence before adduced would lead to the conclusion that the enrolment was correct as possible. Enrolling officers duly appointed, liberally paid and specifically instructed for their duties, had returned lists and certified to their correctness. Though the draft had brought to light in localities some errors,* these could not be generally known at Head Quarters, or if known were considered comparatively exceptional cases; and the basis of the first enrolment was adopted by the Provost Marshal General as the best on which to make, throughout the country, an equitable apportionment for the three hundred thousand volunteers called for by the President. The quotas were accordingly given towns from this basis. Immediately the town authorities of places where these errors were made, began to request, what should have received their attention before, when it would have been practicable to remedy the difficulty, viz: a revision of their enrolments in order to secure a reduction in their quotas. This however was impracticable, for if granted in one case the same privilege should justly be extended to all, which would have made delay of perhaps months; and the government required men at once, and not exhibits of errors in their stead. Besides, a deduction from the assigned proportion of the quota of the State for one locality, would necessarily involve adding to the assigned proportion in another, else the quota of the State would be deficient, and a draft must be made somewhere. And if the process of subtraction and addition was begun, the dissatisfaction in towns receiving the additional proportion of men would not be at all commensurate with any satisfaction or gain of good feeling in the towns relieved from a portion of their responsibility to the government through a reduction of their quotas. If the course of reduction was commenced without offsetting by an additional re-assessment, the quota of the State must necessarily have been from two to three thousand deficient, as upon the call for nine months troops in 1862, when in a quota of nine thousand six hundred and nine (9,609) assigned, only seven thousand four hundred and fifty-nine (7,459) were actually furnished, partly from the fact that while the Governor saw fit to allow the claims for reduction of certain towns on account of enlistments in the navy and number of troops before furnished, deficiency of able-bodied male population, &c., he could not find any practicable method of assigning the number thus deducted among the other localities of the State.

* Instances are known of names being drawn for persons who have been dead for years. Men were drafted who had long been non-residents of the locality for which they were drawn. Others had the good fortune to be in the service when they were drafted, and although not securing any additional pay and emoluments, doubtless felt honored in being considered worthy to do double duty for their country.

In consideration of all these facts, which were the same to a greater or less extent throughout all the States, the Provost Marshal General very wisely refused to allow the quota of any town to be lessened for the call of October 17th, as such course, if allowed in one State, must be permitted in all, and the raising of forces then so much needed to recruit our armies, would be delayed, or the numbers so much reduced as to be of little avail. A revision of the enrolment was however ordered throughout the country, with full notes as to who had entered service, and due explanations thereon, as a basis for future action. It is hoped and believed that town authorities aided and coöperated in every manner possible in making these lists correct, so there may be no future cause of complaint.

In assigning the quotas to the towns under the call of October 17, while the War Department permitted the Governor to make no variation or reduction in the numbers to be assessed, the method of filling these quotas was left to his discretion. It was considered by his Excellency, in view of the difficulties which had attended the attempt at restrictions upon enlistments in raising the quota of 1862, that for a time at least, each man should be allowed the privilege of enlisting for the quota of any town he might choose. Though in 1862 the rule was adopted to hold each recruit to the credit of his own residence unless its quota had been filled, yet then at least one third of those enlisting where it was for their interest, managed, through connivance of recruiting officers and other means, to have the records and returns made to this office so as to evade this restriction. The consequences were, in raising the troops in 1862, most bitter controversies between towns, presented for adjudication to the Governor and Adjutant General, frequently involving all the acrimony of an aggravated pauper lawsuit. A town which had paid a non-resident recruit its bounty, on representation of recruiting officer or the soldier that the quota of his residence was full, or other plausible story of alienage, non-residence of the State, &c., would not with entire good feeling relinquish its claim, though often compelled to this course; nor would the town fairly entitled under the rule to the recruit in question willingly relinquish what with reason it considered a just claim. When the call of October 17 was received, it was suggested that should the Legislature be called together, with a view to have the bounties made uniform and assumed by the State, this difficulty would be remedied ; but it was foreseen, from intimations received at the War Department, that another call would be made soon as this quota was filled, and if the State assumed at the outset the payment of all bounties, and issued its scrip and bonds to raise the necessary amount, it could be expected to do no less for the next call, and the large sums to be raised for both might, with the previous indebtedness of the State, affect its credit ; for though an amount of indebtedness larger than that which the State would incur by assuming the whole, might be incurred by the towns making up the State, yet the capitalist, when contemplating an investment in State securities, looks at the amount of State debt as such, in bonds and certificates issued from the State Treasury. Aside from this fact, it was known that towns in the fear of a draft, with ready credit to raise money and hope of more speedily securing their quotas, would find the ways and means of evading the letter of the law, if it prohibited municipal bounties. This fact has been well illustrated in Massachusetts, where the Legislature was assembled, and uniform bounties voted payable from the State Treasury. Hardly had the Legislature adjourned before towns and cities commenced raising large sums of money as recruiting funds, amounting often to as much for each man as the authorized State bounty, and though every effort was made by the Governor of that State to prevent this proceeding in direct violation of the spirit if not the letter of the law, yet no satisfactory result was obtained, and many towns as well as the State are burdened with debt incurred for the raising of this quota.

From such considerations it was deemed advisable not to call together the Legislature for the purpose of increasing State bounty, but continuing the payment of the State bounties as already authorized, to recommend to towns the propriety of raising a bounty not exceeding two hundred dollars to each man, which sum assurance was given would be sufficient to raise each quota and insure against draft. Had this recommendation been more generally followed, a fertile field would not have been opened to brokers and speculators in bounties. It was believed that this course would stimulate towns to every proper effort to raise their assigned number of men, and that while it might bear with apparent inequality upon localities unwilling or unable to pay bounties to recruits, the result in troops raised and money and credit saved would more than offset any seeming injustice.

Under the general plan adopted, the impracticability of placing restrictions upon enlistments, unless of a protective nature in favor of towns complying with the recommendations of the Governor, was more than ever apparent; for no person of sound judgment would maintain the propriety or policy, if the army was to be strengthened, of saying to a man thinking of enlistment, and perhaps doubting whether the inducements to serve his country were sufficient to warrant leaving a comfortable home and family dependent upon his labor for support, that he must, if he enlists, stand to the credit of his own town, which might not, under such circumstances, offer any bounty, while an adjoining town was paying a liberal compensation to recruits enlisting to its credit.

The course adopted was duly announced, and municipal authorities informed of it in General Order No. 22, date of October 31. (See Appendix A.) In compliance with this order, cities, towns and plantations very generally offered recruits an amount equal at least to the bounty recommended, while some municipalities, fearing that their quotas could not be filled unless by voting a larger amount, authorized a still larger sum as bounty to a recruit, amounting frequently to three or four hundred dollars. These violations of the order rendered a protective restriction necessary to secure the rights of towns complying with its recommendations, and accordingly General Order No. 25 was issued December 9, (see Appendix A,) guaranteeing so far as practicable to towns complying with the order, credit for their own citizens who should enlist, and though at first under this restriction many attempts at evasion were made, and disputes arose between towns, the benefit of any doubt was always given to the town complying with the spirit of the order. With this protection such towns more generally filled their quotas sooner than those overstepping the limits of two hundred dollars bounty.

Whether Maine would have so readily filled her contingent under the policy adopted by the State of Massachusetts, and with less outlay, it is not for me to state here: this is left for the good sense of the people to judge. Certainly Maine is thus far in no manner behind Massachusetts or any of her New England sister States in the proportionate number of men who have responded to the President's call. This result, however, is more attributable to the patriotism of the people of this State, and their determination to aid the Government in all emergencies to maintain its integrity and honor, than to the effect of any policy or plan for helping enlistments, be it well or ill conceived.

NEW REGIMENTS AND BATTERY OF VOLUNTEERS
IN 1863.

General Order No. 191 of the War Department of June 25, 1863, authorized the raising of volunteer organizations for three years or during the war, for each arm of the service, in the respective States. This Order and subsequent ones constituted such regiments and batteries "Veteran" by name, if a majority of the number thereof had served in other military organizations of Maine Volunteers in the field, for a period of not less than nine months, and had been honorably discharged.

To this class of recruits Government bounty and premium of $402 was secured payable by instalments.

General Order No. 10 of this Department of July 1, 1863, promulgated Provost Marshal General Fry's Circular of June 29, 1863, which authorized the raising of three regiments of Veteran Volunteer Infantry and one battery of Veteran Volunteer Artillery in this State, under the provisions of Order No. 191, above named. The War Department subsequently permitted a regiment of Cavalry to be raised in the place of one of the regiments of Infantry. Enlistments for old organizations in the field were vigorously prosecuted through the several District Provost Marshals' Departments, and this office, during all this period and up to the present time, under War Department orders and a circular from Provost Marshal General Fry of subsequent date, giving a Government bounty and premium of $302 if new recruits, and $100 additional if veterans, enlisting for regiments and batteries in the field. Under the foregoing order of this Department and subsequent ones, the raising of the two regiments of Infantry of Veteran Volunteers was given to Col. Beal of the Tenth and Col. Fessenden of the Twenty-fifth, of the Cavalry to Col. Woodman of the Twenty-eighth, and of the Artillery to Lieut. Twitchell of the lamented Leppien's Fifth Battery. The enlistments of new recruits for these four organizations were made with the expectation on the part of the State authorities that this class of men would receive but $100 Government bounty. The State bounty of $100 was promised to them, as well as to veterans and drafted men and substitutes, while for enlisted men for old organizations in the field, to whom Government was paying the bounties and premiums of $302 if new recruits, and $402 if veterans, but $55 bounty was paid by the State. The discrimination of $45 in favor of enlistments for the four new organizations in this State was deemed indispensable in order to secure their early completion. It has been determined quite recently that a Government bounty and premium of $302 shall be paid in instalments to all new recruits enlisted prior to March 1, 1864, for three years or during the war, for new organizations authorized by General Order No. 191 of the War Department of June 25, 1863, and for old organizations in the field, and $402 to veterans for like enlistments.

The new regiments and battery raised in 1863, in virtue of the foregoing orders, are designated and were organized as follows:

SECOND REGIMENT CAVALRY.

EPHRAIM W. WOODMAN of Wilton, Colonel.

JOHN F. GODFREY of Bangor, Lieutenant Colonel.

CHARLES A. MILLER of Rockland, Major.

Company A, Captain Joseph F. Twitchell of Mattawamkeag.

“   C,     “   Elijah D. Johnson of Lewiston.

“   D,     “   John M. Lincoln of Pembroke.

“   E,     “   Samuel W. Clarke of Newcastle.

“   F,     “   Gustavus A. Stanley of Farmington.

“   G,     “   Samuel W. Knowles of Bangor.

“   H,     “   Adolphus B. Mathews of Belfast.

“   L,     “   Samuel H. Libby of Limerick.

“   M,     “   John H. Roberts of Alfred.

This regiment was mustered into the United States service January 12, 1864, and commenced leaving Augusta by railroad on the 15th of March, 1864, by squadrons, in the order of company letters, to embark at Portland on board transports for New Orleans, to report to Major General N. P. Banks, commanding the Department of the Gulf.

SEVENTH BATTERY MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

WM. B. LAPHAM of Woodstock, Senior First Lieutenant.

LORRIN E. BUNDY of Portland, Junior " " "

DANIEL STAPLES of Oldtown, Senior Second Lieutenant.

FRANK THORP of Boothbay, Junior “

This battery was mustered into the United States service on the 30th of December, 1863, and left Augusta per cars, February 1, 1864, to report to the Chief of Artillery at the city of Washington, and go into camp of instruction.

TWENTY-NINTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

CHARLES S. EMERSON of Auburn, Lieutenant Colonel.

WILLIAM KNOWLTON of Lewiston, Major.

Company A, Captain John Q. Adams of Saco, now in field with 1st Battalion 10th Regiment.

“ B, “ Benjamin M. Redlon of Portland.

" C, " William P. Jordan of Portland.

“ D, “ John D. Beardsley of Grand Falls, now in field with 1st Battalion 10th Regiment.”

“ E, “ John M. Beal of Portland.

" F. " Alfred L. Turner of Portland.

" G, " William W. Whitmarsh of Norway.

“ H. “ Granville Blake of Auburn.

" I. " Almon C. Pray of Auburn.

" K, " George H. Nye of Lewiston.

This regiment was mustered into the U. S. service December 17, 1863, and left Augusta January 31, 1864, per cars for Portland, where it embarked on board the transport steamer De Molay, February 1st, and sailed February 2d, for New Orleans, to report to Maj. Gen. N. P. Banks, commanding the Department of the Gulf, where it arrived February 16th.

THIRTIETH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

*Rendezvoused at Augusta.*FRANCIS FESSENDEN of Portland, *Colonel.*THOMAS H. HUBBARD of Hallowell, *Lieutenant Colonel.*ROYAL E. WHITMAN of Turner, Major.

Company A, Captain Horace C. Haskell of Turner.

" B, " Freeman U. Whiting of Newport.

" C, " Whitman Sawyer of Raymond.

" D, " Warren H. Boynton of Bangor.

" E, " George W. Randall of Freeport.

" F, " Levi M. Pierce of Portland.

" G, " Kirke W. Moses of Lewiston.

" H, " Jonathan P. C. Fall of Topsham.

" I, " Frank L. Jones of Portland.

" K, " Royal T. Nash of Gray.

This regiment was mustered into the United States service January 11, 1864, and left Augusta February 7, 1864, per cars for Portland, embarking the same day upon the transport steamer Merrimac, for New Orleans, where it arrived and reported (the same day as the 29th, February 16th,) to Maj. Gen. N. P. Banks.

THE VETERAN REGIMENTS AND BATTERY.

The 2d Cavalry, 7th Battery, and 29th and 30th Regiments of Infantry, are organizations of which the highest anticipations for usefulness and honor may well be entertained. Many of the officers and men have participated in service of great hardship, danger and responsibility in the regiments and batteries to which they were formerly attached, and their hard-earned experience will be made immediately available to these organizations, and give them an efficiency at once for all service which can only be equalled by those long in the field.

Col. Woodman of the Cavalry (formerly Lieut. Colonel of the 8th Infantry) acquired an enviable reputation with his late command, the 28th Infantry, of which he was Colonel, and with his superiors before Port Hudson, and during the whole period of his service in the Department of the Gulf in 1862-63.

Capt. Twitchell, as Lieutenant of the 5th Battery of Mounted Artillery, in command of the gallant and lamented Leppien, who died from wounds received at Chancellorville, where Capt. Twitchell himself was dangerously wounded, secured a reputation for bravery and efficiency second to that of no officer in this arm of the service. A liberally educated, brave, Christian gentleman, of culture and refinement, he possesses the rare and happy faculty of readily imparting to his men like principles and sentiments with his own, which are at once apparent in their deportment and general conduct. It is worthy of mention, in contrast with the experience of most new organizations, that the barracks occupied by this Battery at Augusta were found on its departure for Washington in a state of perfect neatness and order, no damage whatever having been done to them, or to the stoves and furniture supplied them, or any part of the same taken away.

Col. Beal of the 29th is too well known as Captain in the 1st and Colonel of the 10th, in which he won lasting fame and honor at Cedar Mountain, Antietam, &c., to require further mention here.

Col. Fessenden of the 30th, whose gallantry at Shiloh, and the thoroughness with which all the duties of his command of the 25th were administered, are universally conceded, has in them afforded sufficient guaranty for his fidelity and capacity in any emergency.

VOLUNTEER ENLISTMENTS IN 1863 TO JULY 7TH, AND BAKER'S DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA CAVALRY.

The whole number of enlisted men since my last report for our organizations in the field, up to the 7th of July, 1863, the time at which credits commence for the Government call by draft, is 431, which are shown, with subsequent enlistments so far as returned, in Appendix C and Appendix D, with the regiments to which they were assigned. A State bounty of $55 was paid for all volunteer enlistments for organizations in the field, including the company and recruits for Baker's Cavalry.

The unparalleled success which attended the labors of Major Joel W. Cloudman of Stetson, in raising a company of 125 men in less than two weeks in September last, for "Baker's District of Columbia Cavalry," induced the War Department to continue him for a time in that service. His efforts in this behalf will result in the enlistment, at trifling expense, of sufficient first class men for a regiment in less time and at less cost than the same number were ever recruited in this State by any one person. It is also worthy of note that all the men of Major Cloudman's enlistment for this Cavalry send home through his influence a greater amount of money comparatively to their families and friends than those of any other organization from this State.

COAST BATTERIES, ETC.

His Excellency Governor Coburn having urged upon the War Department the great importance of numerous additional defences being provided at once for the protection from hostile attack of the cities and towns upon our extended sea coast, and the great amount of shipping continually seeking ports for business and shelter within their harbors, strong field works were erected, heavy ordnance mounted, and suitable ammunition and projectiles therefor deposited in their magazines at Rockland, Belfast, Castine, Machias and Eastport, comprising seven batteries, which are occupied at present only by citizens employed by government to protect the property, and alarm the militia in the event of approaching danger. It is rendered certain that barracks will soon be erected by government at each battery, and a sufficient force of troops stationed there for any emergency. The War Department also, with unusual promptness in response to Gov. Coburn's requisition, placed Fort McClary at Kittery Navy Yard, Forts Georges, Preble and Scammel at Portland, Forts Popham and Knox at the entrance of the Kennebec and Penobscot rivers, and Fort Sullivan at Eastport, in such complete condition as to enable them to make all the defence and repel all the assaults which could be apprehended were our relations at home and abroad infinitely less pleasant than they now are.

APPREHENDED RAID UPON CALAIS AND EASTPORT.

At the close of the year, the cities of Calais and Eastport, on the eastern frontier, were thrown into a feverish state of excitement, it having been ascertained that certain lawless persons, having their headquarters in St. John, threatened an invasion of those places and other towns on the border. From well authenticated information the plan of operations was to capture the steamer New England, rob the banks in Calais and Eastport, and commit other lawless depredations. This information on being communicated to Hon. Joseph Granger, Mayor of the former city, every preparation was made to give the invaders a warm reception. Company I, State Guards, First Division, numbering about sixty men, most of whom had seen nine months' service, under the command of Captain B. M. Flint, were immediately ordered out by Mayor Granger, and posted at important positions. Two rifled 6-pounders were placed in position to command the several entrances to the city from New Brunswick. The same night a guard of armed men was stationed in the Frontier Bank, Eastport. An armed force also patrolled the streets.

The promptness and vigilance of the authorities and citizens of Calais and Eastport in meeting this emergency thwarted the whole plan of the invaders, and their lawless incursion was abandoned. Since then, a patrol guard has been maintained in the former city, detailed for this duty from Company I, by permission of the State authorities, it being considered necessary to be on the alert against a renewal of any hostile intentions.

ALLOTMENTS.

The results of the allotment system for the closing year, though by no means satisfactory, are yet sufficiently so to demonstrate the profound wisdom of the plan, and enables us to realize the immense and almost innumerable advantages and blessings which would accrue, not only to the families and relatives of the soldiers, but also to themselves and the service, by its adoption invariably throughout our armies. It has not been practicable thus far, to secure allotments of bounty coming by instalments to reënlisted troops and those of regiments and corps brought into service in 1863-4, but the personal attention of the respective captains and subalterns, at the pay-tables where these funds are disbursed, will, it is believed, secure to these soldiers for investment at home, or for their families, the large amounts, which without such attention, will, to a great extent, be worse than lost. The hearty coöperation of all company and regimental officers, with the honest endeavors of paymasters to carry out such purpose in good faith, regardless of the wishes and interests of sutlers and others who are rapidly accumulating fortunes out of the hard earnings of our gallant soldiers, would be the means of bestowing upon needy families millions of dollars now thoughtlessly squandered, or securing it for the soldiers' own wants hereafter.

Owen C. Whitehouse, Esq., of Augusta, allotment commissioner appointed by the government at an early stage of the war, has been most vigilant and zealous in the discharge of his official duties during the past year. At no previous period have the company allotment rolls of our regimental organizations, or those of the batteries, exhibited a larger proportional amount of wages allotted, than those of the new troops of 1863. The amount allotted per annum by the 20th Regiment, Col. Fessenden, is $86,376. The 7th Battery, Capt. Twitchell, has filed an allotment roll disbursing at each pay-day, near $2,000, to the families and relatives of its members. Eight companies of the 29th Regiment, Col. Beal, (the other two being in the field,) have allotted $60,462 per annum. In Capt. Dyer's company of "Baker's D. C. Cavalry," eighty-nine have allotted $11,904 per annum. The experience of Commissioner Whitehouse in the exercise of his official duties, both with our regiments organizing at home and with those in the army of the Potomac and the departments of the Gulf and of the South, all of which have been visited by him in person, added to his persuasive address and gentlemanly bearing, have been productive of a result scarcely second in importance to victorious achievements in the field. The whole amount of allotments received and disbursed through the medium of our State Treasury, is $559,626.37, devolving an amount of labor upon the Department, of which few can have any just conception. The amount received and disbursed by banks and private individuals as trustees in allotment rolls, prior to the transfer of these duties to the State Treasurer by act of the Legislature, and the few who have continued to discharge those duties without compensation, must amount to some hundreds of thousands of dollars.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETIES IN THE STATE.

The "Ladies' Aid Society" of Augusta has been indefatigable and untiring from the commencement of the war in the personal labors and efforts of its members to alleviate the condition of the sick and wounded of our gallant troops, as well as the comfort of those in the field. For nearly three years a large portion of the time of many members of this association has been freely and faithfully devoted to this work, and none of them have failed to contribute the labor of one or two days of each week to this object. Their applications to the male members of their families, and to the merchants and citizens of Augusta generally, for money and goods to donate in the line of their benevolence, have been wholly successful, and the result in pecuniary value of the united efforts of these ladies and their friends cannot be less than $10,000, and for the precious lives they have saved, and the miseries of the thousands they have alleviated, the value is incalculable. The members of the 29th and 30th Infantry, 2d Cavalry and 7th Battery added nearly $1500 to the funds of this society at a Levee held in January last at the special desire of these troops. The ladies of Portland, Bath, Bangor and other cities and towns in the State have also been diligent, and many of them as successful comparatively in their praiseworthy efforts to afford the Government timely aid in this important direction.

HOSPITAL SUPPLIES, ETC.

The following exhibit made by George R. Davis, Esq., of Portland, our capable and energetic State Agent for receiving and forwarding hospital stores and other donated goods and articles of comfort and necessity for our soldiers, affords some indication of the philanthropic labors and efforts of our people of both sexes in this behalf, though to the ladies especially is this honor and credit largely due.

PORTLAND, DECEMBER 31, 1863.

DEAR GENERAL:—I now enclose you a complete record of hospital stores sent from this agency to soldiers in the years 1861, 1862 and 1863 as is possible.

The first ten regiments that left the state were furnished in their hospital wants of sheets, quilts, beds, pillow sacks, pillow slips and bandages, equivalent to twelve hospital cases to each regiment. These were under the general supervision of Dr. Alonzo Garcelon, and were the gifts of the generous Union people of Maine.

The Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Fifteenth, First Maine Cavalry, with the Batteries, were all furnished with hospital stores from the same generous source.

The people of the State have always generously contributed to the wants and demands of the U. S. Sanitary Commission, both in money and supplies. The amount of cash received from the residents of this State by the Commission will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars. This amount has reached the Commission through the organizations of towns, societies and individuals (this is independent of supplies sent to the Commission through the organizations of soldiers' aid societies) in almost every town and plantation in the State. All of them are ready to contribute and assist the Government in putting down the rebellion.

Whenever the Commission has made a direct appeal to the people of this State for aid, they have always been ready to respond, as was the case after all the battles in the years 1861, 1862 and 1863. In the fall of this year the following appeal was made to the people of this State for vegetables for our soldiers:

"TO THE PEOPLE OF MAINE!

An appeal has been made to us from the Sanitary Commission to furnish a cargo of vegetables for the army. The winter is upon us, and our men in the field, unless supplied with an occasional allowance of vegetables, will suffer untold miseries from the ravages of the scurvy. In anticipation of this, a special agent has been sent to the State to solicit the contributions of the people, in kind: Potatoes, Onions, Turnips, Cabbage, Apples. Can we not send to the army five thousand bushels of Potatoes, and other products of the soil in proportion, freighting a ship with the free gifts of the people? It can be done. Let us do it! Let every one of us give something that he has raised on his own lands by the labor of his own hands. Let us remember while we are at home, and consider it no distinguished blessing to have potatoes enough, that there are good fellows walking back and forth all night, guarding the lines of war, who would give a dollar for a single one if they could get it for the money.

Can you not in your town, parish, school district, neighborhood, get together and make up a contribution of such things as each can bring, and when all is gathered that can be, forward it to the Agent, Mr. Wm. H. Hadley, in this city.

Any intelligence which you may desire on the subject, he will give you, and if necessary visit your place to meet the people.

Any communications addressed to him will be promptly answered. And it is especially desirable that we all act together and at once.

H. STEBBINS, } Agents for San. Com.
 GEO. R. DAVIS, } of the State of Maine.

WM. H. HADLEY, Special Agent."

And it was readily responded to by about fifty towns in this State, in the contribution of money and potatoes. A few towns sent in over one hundred barrels of potatoes and apples each, so that in the short space of ten days a brig was chartered for New Orleans of the capacity of two thousand barrels. She was loaded within the time mentioned, and is now on her way to New Orleans, freighted with the following cargo, as a gift from the generous people of the State to our brave soldiers at that point :

1675 barrels of potatoes.

2 casks pickled cabbages.

And at the present time there are about three hundred barrels ready for shipment to our soldiers at and near Charleston. A small vessel will be sent to that Department in a few days.

The record of hospital stores sent forward in the year 1862, from January to December 31st, was seven hundred and ninety-four cases and barrels, making in gross weight, 124,162 pounds, netting sixty-two tons. Of this amount, four hundred and seventy-nine cases went to the U. S. Sanitary Commission—seventy-one to the Maine Agency at Washington—the balance was sent to regiments in the field and hospitals located at Baltimore, Annapolis, Washington and Alexandria. For ten months of 1863, January to November 1st, eight hundred and sixteen cases and barrels were sent forward, making in gross weight, 94,040 pounds, netting forty-seven tons, of which the Sanitary Commission received eighty-seven cases, &c.—the Maine Agency three hundred and eighty-two cases—Annapolis forty-seven—and the balance went to the regiments in the field.

HOSPITALS AND RELIEF ASSOCIATIONS OUT OF THE STATE.

The admirable provisions made by the United States Government for the relief of sick and wounded soldiers, by the establishment of general hospitals at Washington and vicinity, rendered unnecessary the establishment of State institutions of a like character at the National Capital. Since the commencement of the rebellion, however, an agency has been sustained at the expense of this State, at 273 F street, Washington, for the purpose of distributing such donations as it received for the health and comfort of Maine soldiers. The establishment of this agency has proved a channel by which, through the extraordinary liberality of our citizens at home and those temporarily resident at Washington, invalid soldiers from Maine, or those furloughed, or who, on their discharge, desire to return home, receive every assistance that the means of the agency afford.

For the past year the agency has been, and is now, under the control of L. Watson, Esq., of Wilton, and Mrs. C. A. L. Sampson of Bath. Their labors extend to visiting all the hospitals in and about Washington, and after ascertaining the needs of our soldiers not provided for by the United States authorities, communicating at once the fact to their families or friends at home, or to the proper departments at Washington, and, when put in possession of such relief as is provided, dispensing it with promptitude and care. The invaluable labors of Mr. Watson are chiefly devoted to receiving and distributing all donations, and in other ways showing every possible attention to the wants of the soldiers. A full and complete record is kept by him of the doings of the agency. Mrs. Sampson visits every hospital to minister to those in a helpless condition. She causes medical examinations to be made of all applicants for furloughs or discharges, and if granted obtains their pay, allowance and transportation tickets. She also attends personally, in providing all invalids returning home suitable clothing and sufficient food to last during their journey. Additional room for feeding, lodging and nursing sick and wounded soldiers, should be secured the agency, in which regard our State is far behind others—a clerk also should be allowed it, and such remuneration given Mr. Watson and Mrs. Sampson, who are over worked but under paid, as will warrant the continuance of their services in such responsible and useful positions.

The New England Soldiers' Relief Association, No. 194 Broadway, New York, was established at the commencement of the war to aid and care for all sick and wounded soldiers passing through that city on their way to and from the war. It was placed under the charge of Col. Frank E. Howe of New York, who has not only the general supervision of all its various departments, but who also acts as the special agent of many States outside of New England. The admirable system adopted in the conduct of affairs of the Association has enabled it always to provide for any emergency, its resources being so great that not one applicant has ever failed of receiving assistance. In its noble labors of benevolence and usefulness, it has accomplished wonders; and Maine soldiers who have been the recipients of its care and attention, will ever remember with gratitude the relief administered to their necessities. The sphere of its labors is such that no soldier in New York, sick or well, in service or out, need ever suffer for food, lodging, clothing, or whatever relief he may require, if he will but make known his wants. The efforts of the Association have been materially assisted by the coöperation of the wealthiest families in New York, whose munificent contributions have never been interrupted, and whose unceasing personal ministrations entitle them to everlasting honor.

The interests of our Maine soldiers are excellently cared for in Philadelphia, No. 133 Walnut Street, by the agency under charge of Col. Robert R. Corson. The benevolent workings of this institution in providing for the comforts and wants of the objects of its care, have given it a world-wide reputation for humanity befitting the city of "Brotherly Love."

Our Maine soldiers who have arrived in Boston sick or disabled, who needed aid in getting to their homes, or have desired assistance in some form or other, have invariably been the recipients of every care and attention at the Special Relief Department of the U. S. Sanitary Commission, located at No. 76 Kingston street, under the superintendence of Charles F. Mudge, Esq. The affairs of the agency are conducted with great faithfulness, and every assistance is rendered to those who make known their needs.

INSPECTION OF HOSPITALS AND STATE AGENCIES BY ADJUTANT GENERAL IN OCTOBER, 1863.

The subjoined letter, addressed to the Council upon my return from Washington in October last will indicate the results of my own personal observation, touching the Government military hospital arrangements in and about Washington, and the usefulness of our State agency there, as also the inestimable privileges enjoyed by our soldiers, in common with those of Massachusetts and other States, from the establishment of the Soldiers' Relief Association, in the city of New York. The appropriations recommended by me in this letter to the Council were promptly made. The total amount of expenditures from the State Treasury the present year, on account of our sick and wounded soldiers, is about $13,000.

STATE OF MAINE.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

Gentlemen of the Executive Council:

In my recent visit to Washington, during the intervals which elapsed between my applications to the Secretary of War and other officials for certain facilities to hasten the payment of numerous claims of our citizens for services rendered the Government, and for other concessions of no little importance, and the granting of the same, I embraced the opportunity thus afforded me in visiting almost daily, our State agency in Washington, and the numerous military hospitals in and about that city. I was agreeably disappointed in witnessing the perfection of cleanliness and efficiency in all their parts to which these hospitals have attained, and the great amount of benefits conferred upon our sick, wounded and destitute soldiers, through the medium of our State agency.

Although our agents and employees, Mrs. Sampson and Mr. Watson, are overworked, with insufficient room and no clerk to attend in part to the cares and increasing correspondence devolving upon their department, and aid in keeping the records, running of errands, &c., they will probably be enabled to give a reasonable degree of attention to all their duties, by unceasing vigilance and toil. While a large proportion of the wants of the soldiers applying at the agency can be supplied from the numerous and substantial donations for this purpose from the generous, kind-hearted and patriotic citizens of our own and other States, yet there is an entire destitution at this time of the important and almost indispensable items of flannel undershirts and drawers, and the present is the season of all others in the year, when invalid soldiers returning home upon furloughs and discharges, most require them. I recommend the purchase of flannel for these garments, which will be made without expense by the ladies of this city and vicinity. Cases are not rare in which furloughed and discharged soldiers are wholly destitute of means to procure their transportation home. In such instances Mrs. Sampson is obliged to appeal to the benevolent for aid, and these calls become unpleasant to the donors and herself from their frequency. I therefore recommend that a sum be appropriated for this specific purpose and forwarded to Mrs. Sampson.

In the Philadelphia hospitals, I am not aware of any special wants which require the attention of your honorable Board.

At the Soldiers' Relief Association in the city of New York, which is admirably located for convenience of access, and fitted up with every comfort, if not luxury, more than three thousand of sick, wounded, destitute and weary soldiers, passing through that city, have been lodged, fed, nursed, and many of them clothed and supplied with needed funds, during the past year. From an examination of the records of that institution, exhibiting the relative amounts paid and donated from other States, as compared with the number of soldiers from each resorting to this "House of Refuge," I am constrained to believe, that the honor of our State will hardly be maintained, unless an immediate donation be made to that institution. I observed two recent donations of $200 each, from Massachusetts, by the hand of Gov. Andrew, and the burden imposed by Maine soldiers is not much less than one-half of that sustained for those of the former State. It affords me great pleasure to be enabled to assure you that the improvements made by the Government in every department of its numerous military hospitals during the last year, are of the most extensive and perfect character, and such as can only be appreciated by actual observation. The relatives and friends of our numerous wounded and sick soldiers, can rely upon their receiving all the skilful and tender nursing and care in these hospitals, which their friendless and helpless situation demands.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't.

JOHN L. HODSDON,

Adjutant General.

HISTORY AND RECORD OF MAINE REGIMENTS AND CORPS IN THE FIELD, DURING THE YEAR 1863.

In compliance with request in Circular from this office, to commanding officers of Maine organizations in service, requesting a record of the doings of their respective commands during the past year, for publication in the Annual Report, returns have been received from most of the regiments, the substance of which is given here. In consequence of insufficient space it has been found necessary to condense some of the most lengthy reports, but it has been the endeavor, while doing this, to state all the material facts.

For those regiments which have sent no historical return, such a record is given as the usual returns and files in this office would afford.

FIRST REGIMENT CAVALRY.

At the date of last Report the First Regiment of Cavalry was stationed at Frederick, Md., doing provost duty. On the 2d day of November the regiment was relieved from that duty and ordered to report to Gen. Reynolds at Rectortown, Va., where it arrived on the 5th. On the 18th the regiment arrived at Stafford Court House, Va., and did picket duty in that vicinity to Dec. 10th, when the regiment marched to Falmouth, and on the 11th was assigned to Brig. Gen. Bayard's Cavalry Brigade. On the 12th the regiment crossed the Rappahannock on the lower pontoon and supported Gibson's Battery during the day. Recrossed at 10 o'clock P. M., and relieved the 2d N. Y. Cavalry, on picket below Fredericksburg. On the 13th Gen. Gregg assumed command of the brigade after the death of Gen. Bayard. On the 23d of December the regiment moved from near White Oak Church to Camp Bayard, near Belle Plains, Va., where it was engaged in picketing the lower Rappahannock until Feb. 20, 1863, when it was assigned to the 1st Brigade, 3d Division, Col. J. Kilpatrick commanding. On the 13th of April the regiment broke camp and marched to Rappahannock Station, where it arrived on the 14th, and found a small body of the enemy strongly posted across the river. Two squadrons, A and B, under Major Boothby, dismounted and charged across the railroad bridge, driving the enemy from their redoubts and rifle pits. April 15th the regiment, after an ineffectual attempt to cross the Rappahannock at Beverly Ford, on account of the high stage of the water, started for Kelley's Ford, and were most constantly on the march up to the 29th, when it crossed at Kelley's Ford on pontoon bridges and bivouacked near Mountain Run. From April 30th to May 2d marched to Louisa Court House, from where Companies B and I, under Capt. Tucker were sent towards Gordonsville. Three miles from Louisa Court House they met a heavy force of the enemy, and were driven back with loss of two killed and twenty-eight missing. The regiment resumed its march, and proceeded till within fifteen miles of Richmond. From this point Lieut. Col. Smith, with a detachment from the 1st Me. and 10th N. Y. Cavalry, was sent to burn the railroad bridge over the South Anna river, but finding it strongly guarded burned the station houses and barracks and returned without casualties. The regiment, after having been continually on the march since May 4th, bivouacked on the 8th of June on the banks of the Rappahannock at Kelly's Ford. June 9th, forded the Rappahannock, made a detour and gained the rear of the enemy near Brandy Station. About 11 A. M.

debouched from the woods in full view of a heavy body of rebel cavalry and artillery, advantageously posted on an eminence where Gen. Stuart had his head quarters. The Brigade was ordered to charge this force. The 2d and 10th N. Y. Cavalry were in advance, and were overpowered by the superior numbers of the enemy, and for a moment thrown into confusion, when the 1st Maine swept down upon the enemy's flank and utterly routed them, drove them from the position and captured two pieces of artillery, a battle flag and a large number of prisoners. Being unsupported the captured pieces were abandoned, and the regiment retired with a loss of thirty men missing, and recrossed the Rappahannock same night. June 17th, the regiment arrived at Aldie, where the enemy were in force in a very strong position. Here the brave Col. Douty fell, charging at the head of his men, and Capt. Summatt of Company H. was killed while rallying his men under a murderous fire of grape and musketry. Loss—two officers killed and one wounded, four enlisted men killed and eighteen wounded. Corporal A. Emery of Company H received five bullet wounds, neither one fatal.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE BATTLE.

Head Quarters First Maine Cavalry, }

Lieut. John B. Maitland, A. A. A. G., 2d Brigade, 2d Division, Cav. Corps:

Lieutenant:—I have the honor to submit the following report of the part sustained by the regiment in the action at Aldie, on the 17th of June last.

On the arrival of the Brigade near the town, Col. C. S. Douty was ordered forward with his regiment to report to Brig. Gen. Gregg commanding division. At this time, the whole of the brigade had become hotly engaged with the enemy. Having reported, the Colonel was ordered to proceed with his command to a position to the left of the town, but before arriving there had to return in haste, by express orders, to the hill on the right of the town, near the battery, arriving just in time to meet and resist the impetuous charge of the enemy upon the exhausted forces of part of the 1st Brigade. A portion of the regiment, led by Col. Douty in person, immediately charged, turned the enemy and pursued him to the very crest of the hill, where the advance, being exposed to a cross fire from a large force of dismounted men posted behind stone walls, suffered severely. Col. Douty and Capt. J. G. Summatt, Company H, were killed instantly, and Lieut. W. Montgomery of Company D, wounded. Notwithstanding our loss, the enemy was so discomfited and discouraged by the tenacity and impetuosity of the charge that he immediately gave way, so that Maj. Boothby, by quickly following up the advantage, utterly routed them and drove them from their ground.

The wounded were taken off, the trophies of the field were collected, and the dead were being buried, when the regiment was relieved at dark.

I am very respectfully yours, &c.,

C. H. SMITH, Colonel First Maine Cavalry.

June 19th, the regiment, after having reconnoitered the position of the enemy the day before, advanced one mile beyond Middleburg, where the enemy was found in position, awaiting. Lieuts. George S. Kimball, E. H. Taylor and Mark Neville were killed while gallantly leading their men in the charge.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE BATTLE.

Head Quarters First Maine Cavalry, }
Middlebury, Va., June 23, 1863. }

Lieut. John B. Maitland, A. A. A. G., 2d Brigade, 2d Division, C. C.:

Lieutenant:—I have the honor to report the following as the part taken by my regiment in the action of the 19th inst. About ten o'clock advanced up the Winchester pike about two miles, and took position in the woods on left of pike to support skirmishers.

When ordered to advance, two companies, M and E, commanded by Capt. Brown and Lieut. Ellis, charged through the woods in our front and left, across an open field to a stone wall, where after a sharp engagement they captured a Lieut. Colonel, three line officers and twenty-one enlisted men—a daring feat, but gallantly performed. Lieut. Taylor, Company M, and Lieut. Neville, Company E, both fell in the contest. Two other companies charged through the woods on our front and right driving the enemy in superior numbers before them to a point where the belt of woods crosses the pike, and where they united with the rest of the regiment that charged directly up the pike. The regiment charged on a heavy force of the enemy, posted in the belt of wood and behind stone walls, and drove them from their strong position and advanced into an open field, where a strong force of the enemy was met, which, after a desperate contest and by our repeated charges, was compelled to abandon its chosen position and retire. Lieut. George S. Kimball, Company C, was instantly killed. Our entire loss was three commissioned officers killed and one wounded, seven enlisted men killed and twenty-six wounded.

I am very respectfully yours, &c.,

C. H. SMITH, Colonel First Maine Cavalry.

June 21st. The regiment advanced towards Upperville, driving the enemy till they reached the latter place, where further progress was met by a determined resistance.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE BATTLE.

Head Quarters First Maine Cavalry, }

Lieut. John B. Maitland, A. A. A. G. 2d Brigade, 2d Division, C. C.:

Lieutenant :—I have the honor to submit the following report of the participation of my regiment in the fight near Upperville, Va., June 21, 1863.

The regiment being on the right of the brigade near Middleburg advance thence in the second line of battle to Upperville. When near the town I was ordered with my regiment to “charge through the town, drive out the enemy, and get beyond it if possible,” all of which was duly accomplished. On entering the town the regiment was met by a discharge of grape from a gun posted to oppose it, which was immediately captured, the enemy dispersed and driven beyond the town, whither the regiment pursued and engaged him, killing and wounding many and capturing seventy-five.

I am very respectfully yours, &c.,

C. H. SMITH, Colonel First Maine Cavalry.

From the 22d of June the regiment was constantly on the march to July 2, when it arrived at Gettysburg, Pa. July 3, was engaged in a severe cavalry fight on the right. July 4, reconnoitred position on the right of our lines. On the 5th of July, the regiment proceeded to Cash Town, where it captured a large number of stragglers and two or three thousand wounded from the enemy, and marched almost every day till on the 15th, the regiment, by order of the General commanding division, advanced on Winchester pike towards Charlestown, while the rest of the command bore to the right towards Sheppardstown. Found the enemy's pickets near Hall Town, drove them in, and had a brisk skirmish for two hours or more, driving the enemy, who largely outnumbered us, from position to position for nearly two miles, when we were ordered to rejoin the command. On returning, the regiment was exposed to an artillery fire, and the enemy charged furiously on the right and centre, but were promptly repelled, and did not follow. The casualties were two enlisted men wounded. The regiment reached Sheppardstown same day.

July 16. The pickets of the Tenth New York being attacked by the enemy, the First Maine Cavalry went to their support, and were immediately engaged by a large force of the enemy, led by Gen. Stuart. The fight was very severe and hotly contested till after dark. Maj. Boothbay and Lieut. Hunton were wounded. Killed, wounded and missing amounted to fifty-seven.

August 24. The regiment arrived at Sulphur Springs, having been engaged in marching, scouting and picketing since July 17.

September 13. The regiment marched with the division towards Culpepper. Met the enemy's pickets at Hazle River, had a sharp fight, driving the enemy, passed through Culpepper and camped near Cedar Mountain.

The regiment was engaged in picketing from September 14th to 19th, when a detachment of 150 men from Companies A, H, I, K and L, under command of Maj. Brown, went to Telegraph Mountain to capture a rebel signal station, but the enemy perceiving the men ascending the mountain, fled, and escaped by the opposite side. The position was held while our army lay in the vicinity, and used as a signal station.

October 10. The regiment started from Bealeton Station, Va., for Culpepper Court House, and found Kilpatrick fighting near James City, near which place the regiment encamped for the night; returned next day to Sulphur Springs, and on the 12th made a reconnoissance to Little Washington, Va., but met no enemy. From Gaines' Cross Roads Lieut. Harris and twelve men were sent back to division head quarters with dispatches, but when near Jefferson met a large force of the enemy, and had to return, and being discovered by the enemy were captured by Moseby's men near Thoroughfare Gap. Lieut. Harris subsequently escaped from them and came into our lines near Warrenton. The regiment on its return to Sulphur Springs came upon the pickets of the enemy near Amisville, found they were in large force, and fell back under cover of the darkness, making a wide detour reached Warrenton, where the enemy was again found to be in force, escaped once more under cover of darkness, and reached Bristow Station after a march of over one hundred miles in thirty hours, and losing only a few men, whose horses, being unable to keep up, fell into the hands of the enemy.

October 15. At 2 A. M. the regiment fell back to Bull Run in rear of the army, made a reconnoissance to Manassas Junction, then met a heavy body of rebel cavalry, and had to fall back, fighting all the way to Bull Run, where infantry being in position the regiment was relieved and marched to Fairfax Station.

From October 16 the regiment was continually on the march till October 23, when with the Second Pennsylvania Cavalry, all under command of Col. Smith, made a reconnoissance to Beverly Ford and Rappahannock Station, and had a brisk skirmish with the enemy, Lieut. Smith of Company I being wounded in the arm and having his horse shot.

From October 24 to December 4 the regiment was principally engaged in scouting and picketing; at the last date Capt. Chadbourne with Companies H and I made a reconnoissance to the rear across the Rapidan to United States Ford and Hartwood Church, found the roads blockaded, and had to lead his horses through almost impassable woods and paths.

From December 12 to 16, the regiment was on picket, when being relieved, went into winter quarters.

December 21. The regiment, with five others, all under the command of Col. Smith, started on an expedition to Luray, where it arrived December 23, and occupied the place, meeting with but slight opposition, and destroyed tanneries and several government buildings containing a large amount of property. Had several skirmishes on the march, but only with small parties. The expedition was every way successful, and returned to camp Christmas eve, without a casualty.

Col. Smith was commended by Gen. Pleasanton for the very able manner in which he conducted the expedition. The regiment remained in camp till January 1, 1864.

FIRST REGIMENT MOUNTED ARTILLERY.

FIRST BATTERY.

Head Quarters First Maine Battery,
In the Field, near New Iberia, }
November 23, 1863. }

Dear Sir:—In compliance with your desire to have as full a history of my command as possible, I have the honor to offer you the following account of my movements.

In your last report the battery was mentioned as having been chiefly engaged in doing garrison duty at New Orleans.

On the 1st day of October, 1862, the battery, then under the command of Capt. Thompson, was ordered to Camp Kearney, near Carrollton, and assigned to Brig. Gen. Weitzel's reserve brigade. On the 24th of October, 1862, moved by transports to Donaldsonville, La., and then commenced march in the direction of the R. R. crossing on Bayou Lafourche. The enemy on the 27th made a stand near Labadieville. Gen. Weitzel went immediately to the attack, and the battery was fairly engaged for the first time. We lost some horses and one man, a man attached from the 75th New York Volunteers. We captured a 12-pounder howitzer, and being allowed to retain it, the battery mounted seven guns. On the 28th we went into permanent camp near Thibodaux, on Bayou Lafourche, where the Opelousas and Grand Western Railroad crosses the bayou. At this time the battery was in effective condition, though our numbers had been so reduced by disease that it had been necessary to strengthen us with a large detachment of infantry.

We remained at Camp Stevens until the 11th January, 1863. On the 5th December, 1862, Capt. Thompson's ill health compelled him to resign, and I took command, being subsequently commissioned as captain.

On the 11th January, 1863, Gen. Weitzel moved his command by railroad to Brashear City, crossed the bay, and marched upon a force of the enemy supposed to be near Pattersonville on the Teche, and strengthened by the steamer "Cotton," which had been used as a gunboat and had a very heavy armament. On the 14th the enemy gave battle, on land and with his gunboat in the bayou. My battery had the left of Gen. Weitzel's line, and was constantly engaged during the action, which lasted, with occasional cessation, throughout the day. Our only loss was one man wounded—private T. M. Thompson—lost both arms.

The enemy having been routed, the gunboat destroyed, and the object of the expedition entirely accomplished, we returned by the same route to Camp Stevens, where we remained until February 22d, when we moved to Brashear City, where we went into camp. We were afterwards encamped for a short time on Bayou Boeuf, eight miles below Brashear City. At this camp, on the 30th of March, I received a shot through my left shoulder while riding with a cavalry officer near our line of sentries, and was thrown off duty. I subsequently obtained leave of absence from the department and went north to recover from my wound, which was quite severe. Nothing of importance had occurred to us since our expedition up the Teche, until early in April, when Gen. Banks commenced his movements, which terminated in his operations before Port Hudson.

The First Maine Battery crossed Berwick bay on the 9th April. On the 12th and 13th they were hotly engaged at Bisland, when Lieut. Morton and one man were slightly wounded. Lieut. Haley was in command. The battery was not engaged again until the 24th of May, when it arrived before Port Hudson.

On the 27th, in Gen. Weitzel's command, the battery was hotly engaged, Lieut. Morton commanding. The casualties were one killed, one corporal and eleven privates wounded. Thirteen horses killed. On the 29th two men died of their wounds. From this time until the surrender of Port Hudson there was more or less firing from the battery every day. On the 16th June Lieut. Haley reported for duty and assumed command.

The casualties from the 27th May until the surrender of Port Hudson, were one corporal and six men wounded.

Immediately after the fall of Port Hudson, the battery was embarked on transports and moved to Donaldsonville, where they took a prominent part in the bloody engagement of the 13th of July. We lost one 6-pounder, two limbers, sixteen horses killed. Among the officers and men there were one killed, Lieut. Morton seriously wounded, fourteen privates wounded. Every effort was made to save the piece, but in vain. Lieuts. Haley and Morton conducted themselves with the utmost bravery, but the fire was so deadly that the piece could not be removed.

The battery left Donaldsonville and arrived at Baton Rouge August 3d. On the 13th I returned from the north and assumed command. Directly after my return, I was ordered to turn over my old guns, which had seen so much service, and to draw four light 12-pounders, (Napoleons,) in their stead. On account of the great depletion in the batteries, and the scarcity of volunteer recruits from the north, the batteries throughout the department were reduced to four guns, until the ranks could be filled by volunteers or conscripts from the north.

On the 18th September, I left Baton Rouge, having been ordered into Gen. Weitzel's command, in the army corps of Major Gen. Franklin.

For the third time, we wound along the banks of the Teche, and having been some distance beyond Opelousas, retired to our present camp near New Iberia.

Much interesting information might be given of the marches, skirmishes, affairs, &c., of this campaign, but nothing particularly affecting the 1st Maine Battery.

You will notice a discrepancy between the casualties as stated by me, and as represented in monthly returns. This arises from the fact, that where I give the whole loss, the monthly returns made in my absence gave only the loss of men belonging to the battery, omitting the statement of loss among men attached from infantry.

We sum up three killed, one officer and thirty-five men wounded. Many of the wounded have died since, and more are disabled for life. I expect two 3-inch rifles as soon as I get men enough to take care of six guns.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

A. W. BRADBURY, Capt. 1st Bat.; Comd'g Bat.

Hon. John L. Hodsdon, Adj't General, State of Maine.

SECOND BATTERY.

Major Hall of the Maine Mounted Artillery has furnished at my request a history of the Second Battery during the past year. Maj. Hall was promoted from the Captaincy of the Second Battery to the Majority and subsequently to the Lieutenant Colonelcy of the First Mounted Artillery, though his muster in the grade of Lieutenant Colonel is not recognized by the Department on account of insufficiency in the number of men in the command to authorize such muster.

Major Hall is a brave and gallant officer, and has won repeated honors. He has now the command of Camp Barry, the artillery instruction camp at Washington, D. C.

Head Quarters, Camp Barry, Washington, D. C., }
January 26, 1864. }

General :—In reply to your communication of the 20th inst., I have the honor to give the following statement of the operations of the Second Maine Battery during the past year.

The last annual report left the battery under my command encamped near Fletcher's Chapel. The next engagement in which it took part was the battle of Chancellorsville, May 3, 1863, when we held the extreme right of the line of the army, making a reconnoissance with Gen. Robinson towards Ely's Ford on the 4th of May, where we had a short but brisk fight.

On the 12th of June commenced the Pennsylvania campaign. Crossing the Potomac June 23, we were constantly in the advance until on the morning of July 1st, when about two miles beyond Gettysburg we engaged the enemy. The march for that day had been so arranged that it was nearly two hours after we became engaged before other batteries arrived, during which time we were under a heavy fire of artillery, which we were gradually silencing when we were charged by the enemy's infantry in column. This charge we repulsed, but our infantry support forsaking us we were left with our right flank exposed to the sharpshooters, who had taken cover in a ravine, and were obliged to retire, when the rebel infantry again rallied, and a hand-to-hand encounter took place over two of my guns, Yankees and rebels mingling together in their struggle for the prize. It has always been a mystery to me how we succeeded, but one thing I do remember—the guns were all safely brought off !!

Later in the day, being so reduced in men and horses, and my carriages having been smashed, I could manœuvre but three pieces, which were placed in position in the graveyard on Cemetery Hill, sweeping the road leading up through the town where the enemy were advancing. On the second and third days we fought the enemy's artillery from Cemetery Hill with great success.

With all respect to all who have claimed to be the first on this memorable hill, I know that my three guns were the first there posted, and I reported them there to Gen. Howard when he arrived upon the field.

For further reference I would call your attention to Gen. McDowell's official report printed in Gen. Pope's Campaign, in which he speaks of my battery on several occasions.

Since my promotion to Field Officer of Artillery, I have commanded the artillery camp of instruction called Camp Berry, composed of from ten to sixteen batteries. I might also here add a long detailed account of long and tedious marches, of covering retreats, &c.; but feeling that you will not have the space in your Report for stating the details of what is only a soldier's duty in time of war, I will not further occupy your attention.

I have the honor to be, General,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES A. HALL,

Major First Mounted Artillery, Maine Volunteers.

THIRD BATTERY.

The Third Battery was transferred to the First Regiment of Heavy Artillery as Company M, March 28th. Capt. Swett was discharged May 14th, and 1st Lieut. Ezekiel R. Mayo promoted to the captaincy. The Battery has been, since its transfer, stationed in the defences of Washington.

FOURTH BATTERY.

Head Quarters Fourth Battery Maine Vols.,
Camp near Brandy Station, Va., }
January 11, 1864.

General:—In compliance with your circular received January 3, 1864, requiring an account of battles, skirmishes, marches, &c., since the date of the last report from the battery, November 1, 1863, in which the Fourth Battery Maine Volunteers have participated, I report as follows, viz:

On the first day of December, 1863, the battery was stationed at three different positions—the right section, under command of Lieut. Eaton, at Antietam Iron Works; the left section at Blackford's Ford, under command of Lieut. White; the center section at Shephardstown Bridge—all three doing picket duty on the left bank of the upper Potomac, head quarters at the bridge. The battery remained in the same position until Dec. 9th, when orders were received to march on the next day and join our corps (the 12th). On the 10th marched at 6 A. M., and arrived at Harper's Ferry on the night of the 12th, where orders were received from Maj. Gen. Slocum to report to Maj. Gen. Morrell at Harper's Ferry. We were then ordered to take position on Bolivar Height, on the turnpike leading to Charleston. On the 21st we were ordered into position within the line of fortifications on Camp Hill, where we remained until April 7th, 1863, doing duty within the lines, and each day sending out a piece on picket, which remained until relieved by another piece from the battery. In February sent out left section under command of Lieut. Coffin, it making a part of an expedition to Leesburg, Va. Our winter quarters were on the top of a high hill. Men and horses suffered for want of suitable shelter, which could not be had in our position. Wood for our fires had to be drawn two miles.

January 14th. Lieut. Eaton was discharged from the service.

March 15th. Lieut. Coffin was discharged from the service.

April 7th. Moved across the Potomac and went into camp on Maryland Heights, on the west side of the Sharpsburg road. Remained in camp undisturbed until June 15th, when orders were received to hold the battery in readiness to march at a moment's notice, the rebels having defeated Gen. Milroy at Winchester and were moving on Harper's Ferry. On the 17th our telegraphic and railroad communication were cut off, and we were surrounded by the rebel army, their pickets being in sight. All the troops on the Heights were entirely engaged in throwing up earth works, and in preparing for a siege until the 27th of June, when orders were received to evacuate the Heights.

June 30th. All the troops marched out of the fortifications, and took position at Mononacy Junction. July 6th, went into camp on South Mountain battle field. July 8th, our division was consolidated with the 3d Corps, Gen. French having taken command of the corps. July 10th, marched to and encamped on Antietam battle field. July 11th, camped at Rockton. 12th and 13th, remained quietly in front of the rebels. 15th, moved down the river and camped in Pleasant Valley. 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th, on the march for Warrenton, Va., our battery marching with 1st Division, 3d Corps.

July 22d. Marched into Manassas Gap. 23d, our division in the fight at Wapping Heights; artillery in position, but little firing done. The infantry fought and gained the battle. 26th, went into camp near Warrenton. August 1st, marched and went into camp near Bealton.

August 18th. Lieut. Charles W. White was detached and ordered to Maine on recruiting service, where he yet remains.

Sept. 15th. Moved with the corps and camped near Freeman's Ford. Sept. 16th, on the march; camped four miles from Culpepper. 17th, went into camp on the Culpepper and Warrenton pike, about one mile north of the city. Remained in camp until October 10th, then broke camp, marched one mile, formed line of battle, and remained in position until the next morning. Oct. 11th, commenced retreat towards Rappahannock river. Crossed the river in the night and went into camp.

Oct. 12th. The battery was assigned to the 2d Division, commanded by Gen. Prince, which covered the rear of the corps on its retreat to Centerville Heights. Went into camp on the Heights in the night of October 14th—forty-three hours without a halt for sleep. Oct. 15th, moved with Prince's Division to Union Mills, and in the afternoon had a sharp fight with a rebel battery at McLean's Ford. Dismounted two of their pieces and drove the battery from the field. Sergeant Gorham Powers was dangerously wounded. 16th, 17th and 18th, remained in position. 19th, commenced our advance towards the Rappahannock river. 21st, went into camp near Catlett's Station. Remained in camp until November 7th. Then advanced towards the Rappahannock, and after a fight crossed at Kelley's Ford, and camped for the night on the west side of the river. Nov. 8th, 9th and 10th, on the march with Prince's division. 11th, went into camp with the artillery brigade of the 3d Corps near Brandy Station. Remained in camp until Nov. 26th, when the battery moved with the corps, and crossed the Rapidan at Germania Ford on the morning of the 27th, and encamped near Robertson's Tavern. On the 29th moved up on to the line of battle near Mine Run. Nov. 30th, at eight P. M., our battery fired the signal gun for the artillery to open on the enemy's works in our front. The firing was continued for some two hours and then ceased. At 5 A. M., December 1st, Capt. Robinson was ordered to take command of a brigade of artillery, his own battery making a part of the brigade, and report to Gen. Tyler; and I took command of the battery. Then commenced our retreat. We crossed the Rapidan and camped near Richardsville. Dec. 2d, on the march, and camped near Milton's Mills. Dec. 3, marched into our old quarters near Brandy Station.

The march to and from Mine Run was by far the hardest that we ever made, owing to the almost impassable condition of the roads. To us doubly so, as we had a gun axle broken at Mine Run and a caisson axle broken near Robertson's Tavern, which compelled us to make drags of poles, and drag our broken carriages along. We left nothing.

In the later part of December, Capt. Robinson by seniority became Chief of Artillery and took command of the Artillery Brigade of the 3d Corps, which places the battery under my command.

The battery has suffered much for the want of men. When an engagement was likely to take place, we have been obliged to ask for a detail from infantry to assist in working our guns. It is not right, neither is it pleasant, to have a Maine battery manned by soldiers from another State. The battery has received but one recruit from Maine during the past year, and he was a volunteer who enlisted for the battery without a bounty.

Very respectfully your obedient servant,

MELVILLE C. KIMBALL, Lieut. Com'dg.

Gen. John L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General of the State of Maine.

FIFTH BATTERY.

Head Quarters, Fifth Battery, }
January 19, 1864. }

General:—I have the honor to give in reply to your circular, a statement of the doings of the Fifth Maine Battery during the past year, so far as can be given in brief:

The reports of the commanding officers of this battery, embrace the general engagements of Chancellorsville and Gettysburg; the skirmishes in which the 1st Corps, to which it is attached, has taken part; the losses the battery has sustained, and its movements from point to point in Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

It broke camp for the first time in the year on the 20th of January, and moved to near Banks' Ford, Rappahannock river; on the return of the army, re-occupied winter quarters near Fletcher's Chapel.

On the 28th of April, again broke camp, and moved to the river's bank, near Franklin's crossing of Dec. 12th, 1862; and on the 2d of May, marched up river, crossed at United States Ford, and the next morning took part in the battle, occupying a position within the lines of the 3d Corps, near the Brick House at Chancellorsville. Here, in an open field, without the least shelter, the men and officers faced the most destructive fire that could be put forth from three of the enemy's batteries, at a distance of less than seven hundred yards, sustaining the severest injury from a rebel battery of light twelves, securely posted in their direct front. The battery was carefully and effectively worked, both in replying to the enemy's artillery and in holding in check a large body of infantry massed in the woods on their left, until of four officers, Capt. Leppien was mortally wounded, Lieuts. Stevens and Twitchell were severely wounded, six men killed, twenty-two wounded, forty horses killed or disabled, and the ammunition in the limbers exhausted, when, on the enemy's skirmishers advancing, by order of Gen. Hancock, the guns were dragged off with the assistance of the infantry supports. The position vacated was immediately occupied by the enemy.

It was only by the greatest exertion that the battery was brought to White Oak Church and there refitted, and a detail obtained from the infantry of the corps, drilled and made efficient, by the time the army moved early in June towards Maryland.

Passing northward along the line of the Orange & Alexandria Railroad, through Centerville, crossing the Potomac at Edward's Ferry, through Pleasant Valley and Emmettsburg, Maryland, on the first of July it again went in battey, and opened on the rebels attempting to break the lines of the 1st Corps on the west of the town of Gettysburg. When the Corps was forced to retire, the battery was posted by Gen. Hancock on a small hill three hundred yards to the right and rear of the north end of Cemetery Hill, and during the night small earthworks were thrown up for the protection of men and pieces. In this position, having an enfilading fire on the enemy attempting to carry by assault the works on the end of Cemetery Hill, early on the evening of the second this battery assisted very materially in the repulse; and on the 2d and 3d engaging a battery of twenty pound Parrots posted to the north of our lines, it received frequently the commendation of general officers for correctness and efficiency of fire. In concert with eight rifled pieces on Cemetery Hill, four of the enemy's ammunition chests were exploded in less than twenty minutes after their battery opened.

• Lieut. Hunt was wounded in the first day's engagement; and on the second, Capt. Stevens, severely, by a sharpshooter, both officers being in the active discharge of their duties. For the second time the battery was left with only one officer not wounded. In this engagement three men were killed, thirteen wounded, six taken prisoners, and seventeen horses killed.

On the 6th of July the corps moved, and on the 10th again faced the enemy near Hagerstown, Md., and the battery was placed in position on the left of the corps.

Passing into Virginia the 23d of July, they reached Warrenton, and on the 1st of August went into summer quarters near Rappahannock Station. Moved with the army to Mine Run in November, and on the 24th of December went into winter quarters near Culpepper, Va.

It was a source of much happiness to Leppien, after he was wounded, to know that, of eighteen batteries from all the batteries in the army, mentioned in general orders for proficiency and correctness of drill, his, "Leppien's 5th Maine," stood first in the list; and whatever it may have accomplished for itself and for the honor of the State, may be considered as the direct result of his constant care, labor and study in the winter of 1862 and 1863.

I am, General, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

E. N. WHITTIER, 1st Lieut. Com'dg.

SIXTH BATTERY.

Head Quarters Sixth Maine Battery,
Camp near Brandy Station, Va.,

John L. Hodsdon, Adj't General, State of Maine :

General :—In accordance with your request for a history of the Sixth Maine Battery for 1863, I have the honor to submit the following :

After the battle at Dumfries mentioned in your Report for 1862, the battery was attached to the 1st Brigade, 2d Division, 12th Army Corps, occupying Dumfries, Va. We built winter quarters on the top of a hill commanding the town and suburbs, thoroughly entrenching ourselves, and also built two forts with embrasures for six and four guns each, from which we could sweep the country around as far as the range of our guns would admit.

May 27th we were ordered to report to the Artillery Reserve at Falmouth, at which place we were reduced to a four-gun battery, for the want of men to work the other two guns, and Lieuts. Gallison and Wiggin were mustered out by general order on account of said reduction.

We lay at Falmouth until June 13th, when the army took up the line of march towards the Potomac. Arrived at Fairfax Court House the 15th, and remained until the 24th. Marched to the Potomac and crossed at Edward's Ferry on that day. Camped on Maryland side until 28th, when we marched via Frederick and Tancytown, Md., to Gettysburg, Pa., where we arrived July 1st, and took position before the rebel army.

About sundown on the 2d we received orders to move to the support of the 3d Corps, which had been driven back and a part of its artillery captured. Major McGilvery, our former Captain, had command of the Artillery along the line. He immediately ordered the battery placed in position to stay the rebel advance, which seemed almost overwhelming. After giving some directions, he ordered us to hold the position at all hazards, until he brought up supports. The guns in our front had all been captured. Two pieces of the Fifth Massachusetts came into battery on our right. The enemy came out of the woods upon us and for two hours fought with a most determined spirit, but after repeated charges which were always broken by our rapid and well directed fire, were charged in turn by the 12th corps, which had come to our assistance from the right, and driven beyond the first line of guns, which were recaptured, the Sixth Maine Battery following the infantry, and bringing off the field eight pieces of light artillery, four of which belonged to a regular battery.

On the 3d the battery was in position supported by Gen. Caldwell's Brigade of the 2d Corps, and participated in the brilliant repulse of the rebels on that day. 4th, in position, but no fighting. On the 5th, marched to Littlestown, Pa., and camped. Remained till 7th, when we started for Frederick, Md. 14th, ordered to report to Gen. Howard, commanding 11th Corps, at Hagerstown. Camped at night near Williamsport. The rebel army had crossed the Potomac and escaped. 18th, crossed the Potomac into Virginia, and proceeded by easy marches to Warrenton, where we arrived on the 25th. We remained at Warrenton till August 1st, when we marched to Warrenton Junction, and encamped until the 16th of September.

16th—Marched to Culpepper and lay there until October 12th. On that day we commenced our retreat to the heights of Centerville, subsequently advancing to Brandy Station, Va. During the retreat the battery was ordered to join the 1st Corps, and participated in the skirmishes in which that corps was engaged.

From 9th of November, on the move. 28th, found the enemy strongly fortified in our front at Mine Run. 29th, ordered into position, where we remained next day. December 1st, moved from position, and with other batteries ordered to report to Artillery Reserve, temporarily. Recrossed Rapidan river at Ely's Ford, marching to Brandy Station, where we arrived at 3 P. M. December 3d. December 8th, transferred from 1st Corps to 3d Brigade Artillery Reserve. In camp at Brandy Station.

During our stay at Dumfries, the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville were fought, and although the campaigns have been severe, we have to record but nineteen discharges and four deaths during the year. At Gettysburg, we were mercifully spared by Providence, having none killed and only thirteen wounded during the desperate assaults of the rebels on our position, while batteries beside us lost twenty or thirty killed and wounded.

It is but a matter of justice that I should record in this report, the uniform good conduct and bravery of the officers, non-commissioned officers and privates of my command, which has been most creditable to their native State.

I have the honor to be, General,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

EDWIN B. DOW, Capt. Comd'g 6th Me. Bat.

FIRST REGIMENT HEAVY ARTILLERY.

This regiment, reorganized from the Eighteenth Maine Infantry, has been stationed during the past year in the defences of Washington. In March, the Third Battery was attached to the command as Company M. The regiment is made up of fine material, and is effectively drilled in artillery practice.

SECOND REGIMENT INFANTRY.

This regiment during its term of service was engaged in thirteen battles, and on every occasion invariably distinguished itself. During Gen. Hooker's operations at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, it formed a portion of his right wing. At the last named battle it was mostly behind breastworks. When the regiment's time expired in May, one hundred and twenty-five of the number, who were sworn in for three years' service, were transferred to the Twentieth Regiment. The regiment returned home with two hundred and seventy-five, including officers and men. It has a record second to none which have ever been in service, and officers and men of the command can look back with pride upon the untarnished fame of the noble Second Maine.

THIRD REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Head Quarters, Third Maine Volunteers,
Camp near Brandy Station,
January 1st, 1864. }

General:—I have the honor to report the movements and actions in which the regiment has been engaged the past year, as follows :

We broke camp on the 20th of January, 1863, and with the army participated in Gen. Burnside's movement against Fredericksburg; the movement being abandoned, we returned to our former camp on the 23d, where we remained until March 4th, when with the division we moved to Potomac Creek, four miles, and remained there until April 28th, during which time the regiment was almost constantly employed, under Capt. Morgan, building military roads.

On the 28th, with the army, we crossed the Rappahannock river, proceeded to and participated in the battles of the Wilderness and Chancellorsville, May 2d and 3d, in which engagements we lost Lieuts. Cox and Witham killed, Lieut. Emery wounded, Lieuts. Fuller and Nye prisoners, and fifty-six men wounded and prisoners, four of whom afterwards died of wounds. We occupied the front line of earthworks until the morning of the 6th, when, with the brigade, we covered the retreat of the army, and recrossing the river, returned to our former camp, where we remained until June 11th, when with the army we took up the line of march which terminated in the battles of Gettysburg, July 2d and 3d.

In this engagement the regiment took a most conspicuous part, being the first to attack the enemy on the morning of the 2d, a long distance in advance of the line, where we sustained a loss of forty-eight killed, wounded and missing. The regiment during the remainder of the day held an advanced position in the ever memorable Peach Orchard, until evening, when we were attacked by an overwhelming force and compelled to fall back, sustaining the loss of Capt. Keen killed, Major Lee and Lieut. Penniman severely wounded, and sixty-three men killed, wounded and prisoners. In this attack we were not connected with the brigade. On the morning of the 3d, the regiment, under command of Capt. Morgan, with three others, were detached under my command to support Gen. Harrod of the 2d Division, 2d Corps, where we remained until the morning of the 4th, when the regiment, with the three others, formed an advance line of battle on the Emmettsburg road, and relieving the advanced skirmishers, held our position until the morning of the 5th, when we rejoined the brigade, the enemy having left our front. We then rested in position until the morning of the 8th, when, with the rest of the army, started in pursuit of the enemy.

We engaged and routed them at Wapping Heights on the 23d, the regiment, with the 4th Maine, under my command, being deployed as skirmishers, charged and cleared the heights. At night the enemy retreated. Next morning we moved towards Warrenton, where we arrived the 26th, and on the 31st moved to Warrenton Sulphur Springs, where we remained in camp until September 16th, when we marched to Culpepper, arriving on the 18th, and remained there until October 11th, when, with the army, we commenced a retrograde movement, and with the division, engaged the enemy at Auburn Mills, on the 12th, routing them. We arrived at Fairfax Station on the 14th, and remained there until the 19th, when we advanced with the army to Catlett's Station, arriving the 22d, and remaining there until November 7th, during which time the regiment was engaged repairing the railroads.

On the 7th, with the corps, we were engaged in the skirmish at Kelly's Ford, with slight loss, and the following day advanced towards Brandy, arriving on the 9th. On the 26th, with the army, we crossed the Rapidan river at Jacob's Ford, and took part in the engagements of Orange Grove on the 27th, and Mine Run on the 30th, with but slight loss, having but one killed, eight wounded and 23 missing. We remained in position until December 1st, when we recrossed the Rapidan, and returned to our present camp.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

M. B. LAKEMAN, Col. 3d Maine Vols.

Brig. Gen. J. L. Hodsdon, Adj't Gen. State of Maine.

NOTE.—Having lost my diary, I am unable to give as minute an account of our movements as I could wish.

FOURTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

No return or historical sketch from the Fourth Regiment has been received, but the following condensed statement is given from the records of the Adjutant General's Office:

In February, this regiment was at Camp Pitcher, near Falmouth. On April 28, their corps (third) broke camp, marched to the left front and bivouacked for the night near the river, three miles below Fredericksburg. While Gen. Hooker was continuing his operations, the Fourth moved with its corps to the rear for the right wing above Fredericksburg. They marched until midnight, and then bivouacked near United States Ford. The next day they crossed the Rappahannock at this place, moving to the front. The next day morning, May 2, their brigade was ordered forward to the woods held by the enemy.

At the battle of Chancellorsville, when our right wing was pierced by "Stonewall" Jackson's flank movement, they did good service to retrieve our position.

The regiment shared in the famous night attack made in a dense woods, May 2. The total loss of the command in killed, wounded and missing in the engagement was thirty-two. It participated in the battle of Gettysburg. On the morning of July 3, it occupied the right and front. At the battle at Rappahannock Station, it was in Ward's brigade.

FIFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Head Quarters Fifth Maine Volunteers,
Camp near Wellford's Ford, Virginia,

Brigadier General J. L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General State of Maine:

Sir:—The 1st of January, 1863, found the Fifth Maine Regiment encamped near White Oak Church, Virginia, a short distance from Fredericksburg. January 20, we took up our line of march towards Banks' Ford. We marched some ten miles and camped in a piece of pine woods near Banks' Ford. Early on the next day the troops of the brigade to which the Fifth belonged were ordered forward. During the evening rain had set in. The roads were hardly passable for the artillery and trains. It was impossible for a few days either to advance or retreat, and the regiment remained encamped. The roads, which had been in such good order a few days before, became impassable for trains, and the commanding General, seeing that an advance was impossible, ordered a retreat.

After remaining a few days near the Rappahannock and in front of the enemy, the regiment according to orders took up the line of march and moved towards its old camp near White Oak Church. The whole regiment were employed in hauling one pontoon. No murmurs escaped on account of the hardships which were endured during this campaign, and though it was with pleasure that they returned to the old camp, yet it was mingled with regret at the unsuccessful result of the enterprise.

The regiment remained in camp until April 28, performing the duties of camp, picket and fatigue, when marched to Franklin's Crossing, on the Rappahannock. At 4 A. M. the next day (29th) the regiment crossed in open boats to the opposite bank of the river. The movement was executed under cover of a heavy fog, and though a few volleys were fired at the troops crossing, there were no casualties in the regiment.

On the 30th, at night, the regiment moved towards the Barnard House, (where Gen. Bayard died,) which position it kept until the 2d of May, when it was relieved and moved to the rear of its old position near the river, remaining under arms until Sunday morning, May 3, when advanced on the plain near Bowling Green road, and formed a line of battle, and was ordered to the left to the support of a battery. The regiment was afterwards ordered to the right and front of the battery, when orders were received from the brigade commander to move forward under cover of a ravine, and take possession of the railroad to Richmond almost in our immediate front. The regiment advanced to within short range of the position. At this juncture the enemy discovering our intentions poured into us a heavy fire of grape and canister, and the regiment was ordered by the brigade commander to retire, it being impossible to take and hold the enemy's position, which was protected by their batteries on the right and left.

In the foregoing action, Adjt. George W. Bicknell was wounded severely, and Capt. E. M. Robinson and Lieut. O. B. Stevens were wounded slightly. Eighteen men from the different companies of the Fifth were also lost, killed and wounded.

The regiment was then marched to Gordonsville, some four miles from Fredericksburg, where the enemy was discovered in great force and seeming disposed to contest our further advance. The regiment was soon heavily engaged at close range. The Fifth left the position to which it had been assigned, and checked the enemy's advance for some time. But on its right giving way, leaving both flanks exposed to a murderous fire, it was ordered to fall back, which it did firing and in good order.

The engagement, though it lasted but thirty minutes, was rather severe. We lost the following named officers, viz: Second Lieut. Cyrus W. Brann, Co. G, killed; Capt. Albert L. Dearing, Co. H, wounded severely; Second Lieut. Smith G. Bailey, Co. H, wounded severely, since died; Second Lieut. John H. Stevens, Co. B, wounded slightly; First Lieut. William E. Stevens, Co. B, taken prisoner; Second Lieut. Frank G. Patterson, Co. D, taken prisoner; Second Lieut. W. F. Brown, Co. A, mortally wounded, since died. Sixty-nine men killed, wounded and missing were also lost in this action.

After this engagement, early on the morning of the 4th the regiment was assigned a position on the flank, where it remained until about 12 M., when ordered to the support of the First Massachusetts Battery, and about 9 P. M. fell back to Banks' Ford. After one hour's rest the regiment was ordered back a mile distant to perform outpost duty, and cover the retreat of the remaining troops of the corps, which were crossing to the opposite bank. About 3 A. M. the whole corps had effected a crossing, and the weary and worn men of the Fifth fell silently back to the Ford, and were the last to cross, the pontoon bridge being immediately taken up after they had reached the opposite bank.

The regiment remained in camp near White Oak Church for about a month. June 6, the part of the army to which the Fifth belonged was ordered to move. Then commenced the long series of movements and tedious marches which on the 2d of July brought us before Gettysburg. Here the regiment, worn and exhausted, rested for two hours, and was moved to the front, taking part in the engagements of this and the following day with slight loss. On the morning of the 4th, under cover of darkness, the regiment recaptured from the enemy two guns of the Ninth Massachusetts Battery, which had been captured on the 2d. During the day skirmished with the enemy. From this time until the 19th inst. the Fifth was constantly on the move, taking part in several skirmishes. On the 19th crossed the Potomac and marched for White Plains, where encamped. On the 31st removed to New Baltimore, where remained doing outpost duty until the 13th of September, when broke camp and marched to Warrenton, thence to White Sulphur Springs, bringing up the rear of the corps. On the 16th marched from White Sulphur Springs to Stonehouse Mountain, a distance of eighteen miles, where rested until October 5, when a movement toward the Rapidan was accomplished, and the regiment stationed at a point between Cedar Mountain and Raccoon Ford, where did outpost duty until the 11th inst. October 12 the regiment moved to Brandy Station, supporting a cavalry reconnoissance. October 13 fell back to Rappahannock Station. October 14 moved to Centerville, thence to Chantilly. October 19 moved to Guinea'sville, October 20 to Warrenton, where remained till November 7, when moved forward toward Rappahannock Station, and took position on the right of the railroad, where a line of battle was formed. The enemy having been driven from an eminence in our immediate front, the regiment was soon after advanced under a heavy fire of artillery from their batteries within short range of their rifle pits. During this movement Lieut. Col. Henry R. Millett was severely wounded by the fragment of a shell, but no other casualties were suffered.

At about sunset an advance was ordered, and the regiment moved forward. The enemy, upon discovering the advancing column, poured volley after volley into our ranks, but the Fifth stood firm. Soon after a movement to the right was ordered, and when the regiment faced the works again, it was to charge. With a yell, and amid a shower of bullets, the Fifth rushed on unmindful of danger. The rifle pits were carried in gallant style, and the enemy was surprised in his stronghold. Meanwhile the troops on the left having after a spirited struggle carried the fortifications and redoubts at that point, the enemy were fast pressing towards a pontoon bridge, their only crossing over the Rappahannock. The arrival of the Fifth among them, and the confusion such an arrival necessarily created, can be more readily imagined than described. The bridge was soon secured, and after some resistance a capture of some twelve hundred prisoners, among whom the brigade commander and many field and staff officers, was effected. Four battle flags belonging to the regiments who had opposed us were also captured; Lieut. Andrew S. Lyon, Co. K, capturing the color of the Eighth Louisiana; Corp. Emory P. Blondel, Co. D, that of the Sixth North Carolina; Corp. Theodore Shackford, Co. A, that of the Fifty-Fourth North Carolina; Priv. James A. Littlefield, Co. I, that of the Seventh North Carolina.

Every man during the foregoing engagement seemed possessed of a determination, a courage and daring which ensures success.

It would be ungrateful not to mention in this report the active co-operation of the Sixth. They too fought bravely. The result of the day's struggle was well secured in the hands of the troops of the Pine Tree State, and they have done honor to the trust that has been placed in them, and those at home will render justice to the assertion.

In the battle of Rappahannock Station our loss in killed was seven, among whom were Lieut. John S. French of Co. B and Lieut. William A. Tubbs of Co. I. Twenty-eight enlisted men were wounded, many of whom did not long survive their transfer to Washington, making an aggregate of thirty-five lost.

On the 8th the troops were marched forward in pursuit of the enemy's retreating column, but rainy weather having set in they camped near Wellford's Ford, a distance of some two and a half miles from Brandy Station. Nothing of interest occurred until the 26th, when after a storm the army was advanced towards the Rapidan. The troops moved slowly, and the Fifth in its capacity as rear guard detached by companies to haul by hand, wagons which owing to the rough roads could not be drawn by the animals. After a tedious march the regiment camped near Jacob's Ford at 1 A. M. on the 27th, moving at 6 A. M. across the Rapidan. The brigade to which the Fifth belonged was ordered to the support of the third corps, and were partially engaged at the battle of Orange Grove, but no casualties were suffered.

On the 28th the regiment was advanced on the Orange turnpike to a position near Mine Run, our corps being the right of the army. Here picket duty was performed vigilantly until the 30th, when the regiment moved towards the right at 2 A. M., and formed a line of battle, being covered by a piece of pine woods. The knapsacks of the command were packed together by companies, as a charge was to be made. The day was intensely cold, and it was only by dint of exercise that the troops succeeded in keeping themselves warm. This position was kept all day, but the impossibility of taking the heights in our front without a great loss having been recognized, the troops fell back after dark to their position of the 29th, where they remained until the evening of December 1. At that date the troops moved towards Germania Ford, arriving there at daylight on the 2d, and, marching some four miles from the Ford, went into camp. On the 3d moved to Wellford's Ford to old camp, where it remained the rest of the year. Preparations were made for winter quarters, and the Fifth soon took measures to weather the Virginia winter.

On December 14, Lieut. J. H. Stevens, of Co. D having been ordered with a guard outside the picket line for the purpose of procuring bricks, was captured by the guerillas which infest the country. Three enlisted men from the regiment were also captured with Lieut. Stevens, they forming part of his guard. From that date to the year's end nothing of interest has occurred, the regiment performing its ordinary camp duty.

The record of the Fifth for the past year is a glorious one. During the year of 1863 it has captured more prisoners than its original number and recruits since sent to it combined.

I remain, Sir, very respectfully,

Your ob't serv't,

C. S. EDWARDS, Col. Fifth Maine.

SIXTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Head Quarters Sixth Maine Volunteers, }

Brig. Gen. John L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General of Maine:

General:—In compliance with circular from your office of Nov. 15, 1863, calling for a report of the movements of this regiment for the year 1863, I have the honor to report as follows:

Early on the morning of Jan. 20, 1863, the 6th Regiment left camp near Belle Plain, Va., and proceeded to Banks Ford, where Gen. Burnside attempted crossing and giving battle to the enemy, but the mud being so deep, on account of a two days' rain, the movement was abandoned and the regiment returned to its former camp, arriving on the 23d.

Feb. 2d, the regiment having been assigned to the "Light Division," proceeded to Potomac Creek and went into winter quarters.

On the forenoon of April 28th, the regiment, under the command of Lieut. Col. Harris, marched towards the Rappahannock, and that night was engaged in transporting and launching pontoons preparatory to crossing the river. April 30th the regiment proceeded to Falmouth, and on the afternoon of May 1st proceeded across the river and took position in the front line of battle. May 2d, an advance of the entire line was ordered, and the regiment went forward in line of battle, the skirmishers driving the enemy before them, until darkness put a stop to the advance. During the night the regiment was ordered to proceed to Fredericksburg, and soon after daylight it formed in line of battle in front of the Heights of St. Marys; and in a few moments after 10 A. M., the order to charge was given, and the regiment advanced on the double quick. In this battle the 6th won a reputation that will live with the history of the rebellion. The supporting regiments on the right and left broke under the terrific fire, and the enemy turned his attention to the 6th Maine and 5th Wisconsin. The whole of the enemy's fire swept through the devoted ranks of the two regiments, but with wild cheers the men rushed on the fortifications and the victory was won in four minutes from the commencement of the attack. The flag of the 6th Maine was the first to wave from the battlements of the enemy's works. The loss of the regiment in this terrible engagement was one hundred and twenty-eight officers and men killed and wounded, Major Joel Haycock, Captains Young, Gray and Ballinger being killed instantly. During the afternoon of the 3d, the regiment proceeded slowly up the plank road leading out of Fredericksburg, and supported our batteries during the latter part of the battle of Salem Heights. May 4th, the regiment was not actively engaged with the enemy, but was moved from point to point of the line in order to deceive the enemy as to our actual strength and support weak points. During the night the regiment, with the "Light Division," covering the retreat of the 6th Corps crossing the river, was attacked by the enemy, who had succeeded in cutting through the picket line, but escaped by a circuitous route, after handsomely repulsing the attack.

On the 11th of May the Light Division was broken up, and the regiments composing it assigned to different brigades, in consequence of the discharge from the service of two years and nine months troops. The 6th was assigned to the 3d Brigade, 1st Division, 6th Corps.

On the 9th day of June, the regiment having arrived at Kelly's Ford, in company with two other regiments of infantry, under command of Gen. Russell, dashed across the river, surprising and routing the enemy. The pursuit was continued until reaching Brandy Station, where joining Gen. Ames with a force of infantry and cavalry, the command retired to the north bank of the river, having accomplished the object of the expedition, which was the gaining of correct information about the movements of the enemy.

The regiment participated in the long and fatiguing marches of the Pennsylvania campaign, and arrived at Gettysburg, having marched thirty-six miles the same day. The 6th was not actively engaged in that memorable battle, but occupied a responsible position upon the extreme left flank of the army until the last desperate charge of the enemy upon our left centre, when it was ordered to act as a reserve. In the close pursuit of the enemy July 5th, the 6th regiment was in the front, skirmishing not unfrequently with the rear guard, and kept this exposed but honorable position until Lee succeeded in crossing into Virginia. July 12th, the regiment being in line of battle near Funkstown, Md., supporting the skirmish line of the division, Capt. Furlong, with his company (D), numbering only twenty-five men, went beyond the skirmishers and succeeded in surprising a portion of the enemy's pickets, killing and wounding about thirty and capturing thirty-two prisoners without losing a man. July 19th the regiment crossed the Potómac on its way into the interior of Virginia. The day following, Col. Burnham was ordered to Maine on duty connected with the Draft, and the command devolved upon Lieut. Col. Harris.

The regiment was encamped near Warrenton, Va., during the month of August, until the first part of September, when it proceeded to Culpepper Court House, Va., and was engaged in repairing the roads between Culpepper and Hazle river. After rendering the roads and ford passable, the regiment returned to Culpepper, and remained there till Oct. 5th, when with the corps it proceeded to the Rapidan, relieving the 2d Corps. Oct. 10th, the regiment started on the return march with the army, and arrived at a certain point near Centerville and Chantilly, where a line of battle was formed, and the army remained there a number of days awaiting the enemy's attack. While there about fifty men of the 6th, being on picket, were attacked by about 500 of Stuart's cavalry, but handsomely repulsed them after a very spirited skirmish.

On the 19th the regiment advanced to Warrenton, and at the battle of Rappahannock Station was deployed as a double line of skirmishers, and with the 5th Wisconsin charged the enemy's works, which were carried at the point of the bayonet. The 6th was ahead of the Wisconsin regiment when it entered the fortifications, and had to resist the tremendous attack of the enemy until the arrival of the 5th Wisconsin rendered the victory ours. The storming of the enemy's left by the 5th Maine and 121st New York completed the work, and the whole force, consisting of the very flower of the rebel army, was captured. Sixteen officers and one hundred and twenty-three men were killed and wounded. Lieut. Col. Harris was dangerously wounded in the early part of the engagement, and the command devolved upon Major Fuller. Capt. Furlong and Lieuts. Wilkins and McKinley were killed. This frightful mortality, especially among the officers, (as the regiment went into action with only twenty-one officers and three hundred enlisted men,) shows the desperation with which the fight was conducted.

The Sixth went on the 27th to the support of the 3d Corps, then engaged with the enemy at Locust Grove. The prompt arrival of the command turned the fortunes of the day, and the enemy quickly retired. The regiment returned with the army and marched back to its former camp near Wilbur Ford, where it remained on January 1, 1864.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEO. FULLER, Major Com'dg Regiment.

SEVENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Col. Mason, January 9, 1864.

January 1, 1863. The regiment was at Portland, having been sent to Maine, soon after the battle of Antietam, by the War Department, for the purpose of recruiting. It was feared that the regiment would not be filled to the maximum in season for the next campaign, therefore five companies, B, C, D, I and K, were filled by consolidation, and prepared for the field.

January 21st, orders were received for the First Battalion to take the field; and January 25th, under command of Lieut. Col. Selden Connor, it rejoined its brigade—3d Brigade, 2d Division, 6th Corps—at White Oak Church, Virginia.

At noon, April 28th, the battalion struck tents, and with eight days rations, marched to the heights opposite the city of Fredericksburg.

May 2d, crossed the Rappahannock at Deep Run, and deployed near the enemy's works, skirmishing slightly during the night. At 3 A. M. May 3d, the skirmish line was withdrawn. The 6th Corps moved one and a half miles to the right, and took a position directly in front of the enemy's fortifications on Cemetery and Saint Mary's Heights, where it remained until 11.30 A. M., when the battalion was assigned a position in the first line of the storming party, and ordered to assault the enemy's works. Under a heavy fire of artillery, the line moved across an open plain and deep morass, in which many of the men sank to the hips. The works were carried. In this attack, 1st Lieut. J. G. Butler, commanding company D, was killed, while most gallantly leading his men. After the taking of the heights, the line advanced four miles towards Chancellorsville, at which point a desperate battle had been fought during the day.

The battalion bivouached that night upon the field. Before morning the enemy flanked the position, and at day break, May 4th, opened upon the line with their batteries. It was evident they were rapidly gaining our rear. The battalion was immediately deployed and moved towards the enemy upon the run. A brisk skirmish commenced at once, continuing more than an hour, resulting in the check of the enemy's advance. At 8 A. M. the battalion was relieved from the line. At 10, company B, Capt. J. P. Jones, was ordered to the front. At 11, an attempt was made to break through our line. A brigade was massed in our front, and charged at double quick upon the position occupied by company B. Most gallantly and steadily they advanced, sanguine of success. Capt. Jones coolly awaited their coming without firing a shot or exposing a man, till they were in easy range. Then he poured volley after volley into their front, mowing them down in heaps, and throwing them into confusion. A charge was made, causing a complete rout, and resulting in the capture of one battle flag and eighty prisoners and completely thwarting the enemy's design. At 5 P. M. the attack was renewed along the whole line. A fearful struggle followed, in which Lieut. Col. Connor, commanding, and Lt. A. M. Benson were wounded, and Lt. Small was taken prisoner. The battalion held its position until midnight, then withdrew, crossed the river at Banks Ford, and returned to the camp at White Oak Church. The loss in this campaign, in killed, wounded and missing, was four commissioned officers and eighty-eight enlisted men.

May 23d, company F, Capt. Stephen C. Fletcher commanding, filled and reorganized at the recruiting rendezvous, Portland, Me., joined the battalion.

At 1 P. M. June 5th, the battalion broke camp and moved to the Rappahannock, where it supported Cowan's Battery, while shelling the rebel rifle pits and covering the movements of the corps of construction. At 9 A. M. June 6th, crossed the river, taking a position in the first line. June 7th, recrossed during the night and bivouacked on the heights opposite. 9 P. M. June 8th, again crossed the river and threw up breastworks near the Bernard House. June 9th, returned to the heights, where it remained until June 13th. At evening on that day commenced the "Pennsylvania campaign. Quickly and silently the battalion took up its line of march. At 2 A. M. June 14th, bivouaced at Brooks' Station. At 4 P. M. June 16th, arrived at Dumfries. The march was long, the heat oppressive. June 17th, marched to Fairfax Station; thence to Fairfax Court House, arriving June 18th. Encamped here until June 20th, then resumed the march. Bivouaced that night at Union Mills. On June 21st, marched to within one mile of Manassas Junction, at which place picketed for three days. June 24th marched to Bristow Station; June 25, to Centerville Heights, arriving at midnight. June 26th, passed through Drainsville. June 27th, crossed the Potomac at Edward's Ferry, and encamped on its banks. June 28th, marched to Hyattsville, Md.; June 29th, to New Market, thence to Jewsbury; June 30th, to Manchester. At 9 P. M. July 1st, continued the march. Reached the Baltimore and Gettysburg Pike at daylight; at 6 P. M. July 2d, the battlefield of Gettysburg, having made a march of thirty-five miles without rest.

July 3d, the battalion was sent to the extreme right of the line to meet a force of the enemy attempting the flank. After a slight skirmish, in which five were wounded, a strong position was gained, and the enemy's movement prevented. July 5th, the brigade to which the battalion belongs, was detached to pursue the enemy while the army moved to intercept his flight. July 6th, skirmished to the entrance of Monterey Pass. July 7th, entered Waynesborough and encamped. Picketed here until July 11th, when the march was again resumed. Halted that night at Leitersburg. July 12th, rejoined the corps at Hagerstown. At this place Col. Mason took command of the regiment, having been relieved, at his own request, from recruiting service in Maine. July 19, the regiment recrossed the Potomac at Berlin. July 24th, marched to Manassas Gap; July 25th, to Waterloo, and encamped at Warrenton Springs. September 18th, again broke camp, and marched to Stone House Mountain. October 5th marched to Cedar Mountain, and picketed on Robertson's river. At 9 P. M. October 10th, marched to Culpepper; thence, October 11th, to Rappahannock Station. October 12th, was deployed on the skirmish line, which drove the enemy back beyond Brandy Station. October 13th, marched to Bristow; October 14th, to Chantilly, where the regiment lay until October 19th, awaiting an attack of the enemy who had followed thus far. October 19th, moved to Gainesville, arriving at 5 P. M. The regiment was immediately ordered to the front to establish a picket line. It met Buford's Division of cavalry which had been in advance during the day, rapidly falling back, hard pressed by a strong force of rebel cavalry. The 6th Vermont was ordered to report to Col. Mason. He at the same time received orders to advance and check the enemy. A position was immediately taken on either side of the Warrenton and Gainesville road. Buford's cavalry passed to the rear. Four squadrons of rebel cavalry and one section of horse artillery, led by Gen. Stuart, came charging down the road, confident of victory. They were allowed to approach to close range, when a well directed volley from the infantry massed in the woods, emptied several saddles and sent the enemy back in confusion. October 20th, the regiment was in the skirmish line, covering the advance of the 6th corps. There was brisk skirmishing during the day, compelling the enemy to fall back beyond Warrenton. Encamped at this place. November 7th, marched on Rappahannock Station, participating in the engagement at this place. Although under a sharp artillery fire no further casualties were suffered than a few men slightly wounded. November 8th, marched to Brandy Station and went into camp. November 26th, at daylight, the regiment took up its line of march for the Rapidan. Crossed the river at midnight. November 27th, were in line of battle until 10 P. M. supporting a portion of the 3d Corps at the battle of Locust Grove. November 28th, advanced to Mine Run. To Col. Mason was given the command of the Division skirmish line. During the three succeeding days the regiment was in front and constantly engaged in skirmishing with the rebel outposts. On the morning of December 2d, recrossed the Rapidan. December 3d, returned to camp at Brandy Station, where the regiment was ordered to prepare winter quarters.

Here ended the campaigns of 1863. In these campaigns the regiment marched more than five hundred and sixty miles, and participated in engagements in Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania.

One hundred and sixty one of the original members have re-enlisted, making this a veteran regiment.

During the year the following changes have been made among the field officers :—Lieut. Col. Connor has been promoted to the Colonelcy of the 19th Maine—Major Hyde to the Lieut. Colonelcy, and Capt. Jones to the Majority of this regiment.

Col. Hyde has been for the entire year, Provost Marshal, on the staff of Maj. Gen. Sedgwick, commanding 6th Corps.

Lieut. Henry Farrar is serving as additional Aide-de-Camp on the staff of General Sedgwick.

Lieut. Church E. Gates has been since June, Aide-de-Camp on the staff of Brig. Gen. Howe, commanding 2d Division, 6th Corps.

Lieut. and Adjutant Charles H. Hasey, during the battle of Fredericksburg, volunteered as Aide to Brig. Gen. Neil, commanding 3d Brigade, 2d, Division, 6th Corps, and gained the commendation of Gen. Neil by his gallantry in the greatest danger.

Capt. John W. Freese is Provost Marshal at Augusta, Me.

Capt. Cochrane has been during the year, Asst. Inspector General on the staff of Major Gardiner, A. A. Provost Marshal General for the State of Maine.

Lieut. Small, since his exchange, has been on duty at Parole Camp, Indianapolis, Md.

EIGHTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Col. Rust, January 27, 1864.

The regiment wintered (1862-3) at Beaufort, S. C., doing picket and garrison duty. It had suffered much during the previous summer from its arduous duties in the fearfully unhealthy localities of Jones Island and Tybee, in erecting and manning works for the reduction of Fort Pulaski; and by the just decision of Gen. Benham, the flag of the 8th Maine was the first to wave above its conquered walls, as indubitable evidence that to this regiment, more than any other, was due the credit of its downfall. The decimated ranks of the regiment were however replenished in November by the addition of some three hundred recruits, who were immediately put in such a course of discipline and drill that, notwithstanding the losses and hardships of the previous summer, it was among the most effective regiments in the Department in the spring of 1863; and its drill was publicly pronounced by Gen. Saxton, Military Governor and commandant of the post, superior to that of any troops he had ever witnessed, "regulars not excepted."

On the 19th of March this regiment embarked, under orders from Gen. Hunter, to occupy Jacksonville, Fla., where it arrived March 23d. A considerable portion of that city was found to be in ruins, and the rebels under Gen. Finnegan closely invested the place. The Eighth Maine landed under the fire of the enemy, who was shelling the city preparatory to a general attack. Col. Rust immediately assumed command, ordered the gunboats Norwich and John Adams to open fire in support of our two-gun battery on shore, and the enemy soon retired.

Capt. Henry Boynton was detached as Provost Marshal, with his company (D), for provost guard.

On the night of the 24th the rebels opened a vigorous fire and shelled the city for some time, fortunately causing no casualties in the regiment. Our forces were immediately put in motion to repel the attack, when the enemy retired, retreating too precipitately for pursuit.

On the 25th Col. Rust ordered a reconnoissance in force on the line of the railroad toward Baldwin. Our forces, with the Eighth Maine upon the right, advanced several miles, driving the enemy's pickets before them with occasional skirmishing, the rebels shelling them from a distance. The object of the reconnoissance having been effected, and our lines satisfactorily established on ground previously occupied by the enemy, our forces retired with the loss of two killed and one severely wounded in Capt. McArthur's company (I). The preparations immediately made by Col. Rust effectually precluded another attack.

Everything was progressing favorably for an early and full occupation of Eastern Florida, when the place was evacuated by order of Gen. Hunter, March 29, and the regiment was ordered back to Beaufort to make preparations to participate in the contemplated attack on Charleston, the General esteeming the Eighth Maine to be one of the finest and most reliable regiments of his command.

Great praise is due Capt. (now Major) Boynton for the faithful manner in which he discharged the difficult duties of Provost Marshal during our occupation of Jacksonville, for through his exertions much property was preserved and the lives of many Union citizens saved.

April 3 the regiment embarked for Stone River near Charleston, where it lay on board transports during the bombardment of Fort Sumter by Admiral Dupont's fleet, April 7, but the attack not being renewed, it was ordered back to Beaufort, where it landed April 12.

April 16 the regiment was again ordered to the vicinity of Charleston, and embarked to proceed thither. Unforeseen circumstances, however, prevented its proceeding farther than Hilton Head, where it landed and remained during the summer and fall, subjected to severe picket, fatigue and garrison duty.

On the 14th of November the regiment was ordered to Beaufort, S. C., where it is now encamped, in as effective condition as any regiment in the department, its numbers having been again replenished by the addition of near two hundred "men of the draft," who are fast being made efficient soldiers.

Companies F, I and K with their officers were detached for provost guard duty during last summer, and Capt. McArthur as Provost Marshal, at Hilton Head.

Capt. J. E. Bryant has been for the past year detached as Recruiting Officer for the South Carolina colored volunteers.

First Lieut. L. B. Rogers was temporarily assigned as Acting Aide-de-Camp to Col. Guss while commanding a brigade at Stone Inlet.

First Lieut. C. P. Lord was detached in June last with a portion of Company F of this regiment to engineer and cut a road through a dense and swampy forest, on Hilton Head Island, at which duty many of his men contracted a swamp fever, which proved fatal to a large portion of them.

Something like twenty promotions have been made of men from this regiment to commissioned officers in South Carolina colored regiments.

NINTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Head Quarters Ninth Maine Volunteers, }
Black Island, S. C., Jan, 6, 1864. }

Brig. Gen. John L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General State of Maine:

General:—I have the honor to inform you that your letter dated November 16, calling for the annual history of the regiment, has reached me this day, and I hasten to reply, trusting that it may not yet be too late.

On the 17th of January, 1863, the regiment moved from Fernandina, Florida, where it had been on garrison and picket duty since March 4, 1862, to Hilton Head. Here it remained on outpost duty until June 24, when it was ordered to St. Helena Island, to form part of a column then organizing under Gen. Strong to assault Morris Island.

Col. Rishworth Rich resigned command of the regiment June 27, and was succeeded by Lieut. Col. Sabine Emery. July 4 the regiment went to Folly Island, and on the 10th in small boats went up Folly River, under fire of the enemy's battery, and landed on Morris Island, charged and carried the rifle pits in front of his works, capturing the colors of the Twenty-First South Carolina Regiment. On the morning of the 11th the regiment was one of the three that assaulted Fort Wagner, and only fell back when left alone by the others and ordered to retreat. Until the 18th it was constantly in line in front of Wagner, night and day under arms; was the centre of the assaulting column on Fort Wagner on the night of the 18th. From that time until the evacuation of Fort Wagner the regiment was in the trenches every third night, and upon the final assault, decided to take place September 6, it was again selected as one of the assaulting regiments.

October 30 the regiment moved to Black Island, a small island about equi-distant between James and Morris Islands, the advanced post in the department, where it has remained ever since.

Taken prisoner at the assault of Wagner, July 11, Second Lieut. Elton W. Ware, Company I.

Killed in assault July 18, Capt. Chester B. Shaw. Wounded, Col. Sabine Emery, Capt. Charles A. Brooks, Adj. J. E. Shepard, First Lieut. John L. Emerson, First Lieut. Benjamin F. Whitten, Capt. A. S. Robinson, Second Lieut. A. N. Goodwin, Second Lieut. George B. Dyer.

Killed September 7, at Fort Gregg, Capt. Scollay D. Baker.

Detached on staff of Gen. Gillmore, Quartermaster John H. Lowell; on staff of Gen. Terry, Capt. E. F. Wyman, Capt. C. A. Brooks.

On detached service in Maine, Capt. Ansel G. Marston, First Lieut. Samuel R. Barclay, First Lieut. John L. Emerson.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

SABINE EMERY, Colonel.

TENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

On January 22d, the regiment left Fairfax Court House for Stafford Court House, where it remained encamped, attached to the 12th Corps, until it left for home, their two years term of service having expired. Companies A and D, which had enlisted for three years, with a few recruits, numbering in all nearly two hundred and fifty men, were left behind.

While the Tenth lost many men in action, it has suffered less from disease, and had a smaller number of desertions during its term of service, than any other regiment from Maine. It has lost seventy-five men killed or died of wounds, and forty-eight of disease. About two hundred and forty were discharged for disability and other causes. The regimental books were kept with remarkable accuracy. Of the three hundred regiments comprising the army of the Potomac, the Tenth was one of the eleven that received the commendation of Gen. Hooker, for showing a good inspection report.

Eight companies, with a total of four hundred and fifty men, returned home. On their arrival at Portland, May 1st, where they were mustered out May 7th and 8th, they met with an enthusiastic reception.

Since their return most of the men have reenlisted under Col. Beal, their old commander, forming the Twenty-Ninth Veteran Regiment, to which the battalion of the Tenth left in the field, has been united.

BATTALION OF TENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return Received from Battalion November 10, 1863.

The Tenth Maine Battalion was organized on the 26th day of April, 1863, from the three-years men of the Tenth Maine Regiment. Of the companies of this regiment, two, A and D, were originally mustered into the United States service for the term of three years, and all recruits received by the regiment after its departure from Maine were enlisted and mustered for the same period. On the 25th day of April the aggregate of Co. A was 55, and of Co. D 54 men. The rolls of the other eight companies bore the names of 137 men who were mustered for three years.

On Sunday, April 26, 1863, the following order was received at the regiment from corps head quarters:

“Head Quarters Twelfth Corps Army of the Potomac, }
Stafford Court House, Va., April 26, 1863. } ”

[EXTRACT.]

The enlisted men of the Tenth Maine Volunteers, whose term of service extends to three years or during the war, will be marched to these head quarters in charge of the following named officers: Capt. J. D. Beardsley, Lieut. Charles F. King, Lieut. Chandler Libbey, Lieut. Charles H. Haskell, and Ass't Surgeon H. N. Howard.

These men will be constituted a provost guard, relieving the three companies of the Second Massachusetts Volunteers now on duty at these head quarters. They will be allowed to retain their full proportion of camp and garrison equipage.

By command of Major General Slocum.

(Signed)

H. C. RODGERS, Assistant Adjutant General.”

In obedience to this order, the officers and men referred to reported at corps head quarters the same day, and by direction of the Major General commanding were at once organized into a battalion of three equal companies. Companies A and D preserved their original organizations. To Company A were transferred the three-years men from Company K, and a part of those from H. To D were added the men from F and C. The men from B, E, G, I, and the remainder of those from H, were formed into a new company (B), to the command of which Lieut. C. H. Haskell, formerly of Company F, was assigned.

Later in the day Lieut. E. W. Fowler of Company A reported for duty.

On the morning of April 27th the battalion, in common with the rest of the corps, left camp and marched in the direction of the Rappahannock river. On the same day the two-years portion of the regiment left Stafford Court House for Maine.

Continuing the march, on the morning of the 29th the battalion crossed the Rappahannock at Kelly's Ford, and the same night encamped on the south-east side of the Rapidan river near Germania Ford. On the afternoon of the 30th it arrived at and halted on the famous field of Chancellorsville. Although from its position as provost guard the battalion was not so much exposed to the fire of the enemy as it otherwise would have been, yet on this occasion it did not altogether escape. On the second day of the battle Asaph Judkins of Company B was struck in the foot and mortally wounded by a fragment of a shell, which fell and exploded in the midst of the command. On the third and last day of the fight David Emery of Company B was struck in the knee and mortally wounded by a rifle ball. Joseph B. Cook and Charles N. Dinsmore were taken prisoners by the enemy. On the evening of May 15th the command recrossed the Rappahannock at United States Ford, and on the 6th, after a tedious and fatiguing march of not less than twenty-five miles, reoccupied the old camping ground at Stafford Court House.

On the 13th of June the army moved from about Aquia Creek and Stafford Court House, and marched by way of Fairfax and Edward's Ferry into Maryland, and ultimately into Pennsylvania. It is sufficient to say that the battalion participated in every part of that arduous and well known campaign.

To convey an idea of the severity of the marching, I need only say that the battalion marched, between June 13th and July 27th, a distance of more than five hundred miles. As a large portion of this time was spent at intermediate points on the route, the marching was at an average rate of twenty miles per day.

From the 1st of August until the 24th of September was spent in camp along the Rappahannock and Rapidan rivers. On the latter day the battalion with the rest of the corps left Raccoon Ford, on the Rapidan, and marched to Brandy Station, on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad. Here the command was put into cars, and on the 27th passed through Alexandria and Washington, and took the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for Ohio. Crossing the Ohio river into that State at Bellair, again took the cars at that place. Passing through the State of Ohio by the way of Zanesville, Xenia and Dayton, and through Indiana via Richmond and Indianapolis, the command again crossed the Ohio river at Jeffersonville into Kentucky. From Louisville, Ky., to Nashville, Tenn., was the route of one night; and after a fatiguing and tedious journey of eight days and nights, the battalion halted in the capital of Tennessee. After remaining there three days, it moved by rail to Murfreesboro, and encamped in close vicinity to the field of Rosecrans' severely contested and hardly won battle of Stone River. After remaining at Murfreesboro for a week, the battalion again moved, this time marching to Shelbyville, and thence to Wartrace, where it is now encamped.

On the 30th of May Capt. John Q. Adams and Lieut. Charles Pierce of Company I reported for duty, and Capt. Adams, being senior officer, relieved Capt. Beardsley of the command of the battalion. On the 10th of June Capt. Adams was appointed Provost Marshal of the corps. Capt. Beardsley resumed command of the battalion, and has continued in it since. On the 17th of July Second Lieut. Libbey of Company D resigned and was discharged. On the 27th of July Capt. Adams and Lieuts. King and Fowler were detached to go to Maine, by order of Maj. Gen. Slocum, to procure recruits to fill up the battalion to a regiment. It was found impossible to obtain recruits, but the detached officers have been kept absent from their command since. Since the first organization of the battalion, great embarrassment has been occasioned by the want of officers. This has been particularly the case since officers were detached to bring recruits in July. With three companies the officer commanding has had only two lieutenants, and as one of these was necessarily Acting Quartermaster, two companies were left absolutely without any commissioned officer.*

Wartrace, Tenn., Nov. 3, 1863.

ELEVENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from the regiment December 4, 1863.

On the 1st day of November, 1862, date of the last report, the 11th Maine Vols. was stationed at Yorktown, Va., where with its brigade (Naglee's) it had been since the retreat of the army of the Potomac from Harrison's Landing. The severity of the labor to which the regiment was subjected, added to the insalubrity of the climate, told fearfully upon the health of the men—the regiment losing thirty-four men by death and eighty by discharge on account of disability, in the months of October and November. During the latter part of November the regiment made an expedition into Matthews County, for the purpose of destroying a large number of Salt Works, which largely supplied the rebel capital. The expedition was successful, and so ably conducted and accomplished, that the commanding General ordered "Matthews Co." to be inscribed upon the banners of the regiment. The regiment returned, having lost one commissioned officer and one enlisted man taken prisoners. On the 11th day of December, the regiment, in company with three others, under command of Gen. Naglee, penetrated the country to within a few miles of the Rappahannock, operating as an important diversion in rear of the rebel army during the battle of Fredericksburg, and clearing five counties from rebels, destroying all their barracks, stables and stores—also capturing large herds intended for the rebel army. Such was the soldierly conduct of the regiment on this important reconnoissance that it was highly commended in general orders from brigade headquarters, while the other regiments were censured. On the 26th of December, 1862, the regiment, with Naglee's brigade, numbering eight regiments, embarked for North Carolina, where it arrived and landed at Morehead City on the 1st day of January, 1863, after a stormy passage, and went into camp at Carolina City, where Gen. Naglee, being promoted to the command of a division, on leaving his brigade issued a very spirited order, highly commending the efficiency and valor of his troops and designating the names to be inscribed on the banners of the several regiments.

On the 20th of January the regiment again embarked on transport and started for Port Royal, where it arrived January 31st, but did not land until the 10th of February, after being on board a crowded transport twenty-one days, having lost seven men from the effects of ship fever. While the regiment was at St. Helena it received a very beautiful flag, purchased by the officers of the regiment, which was presented by Col. Plaisted with appropriate remarks on the occasion. A few days before leaving St. Helena the regiment received four months pay, and the handsome sum of $30,300 was sent home by the men when at that time the regiment numbered very little over five hundred. After a stay of about seven weeks, on the 4th day of April the regiment again embarked on a transport and started for Charleston, and on the 5th it entered North Edisto Inlet.

* The battalion has since been attached to the Twenty-Ninth Veteran Infantry, and fully officered.

There the regiment remained five days without landing, and the attack on Charleston by the iron clads having failed, returned to Beaufort, N. C., and landed on the 11th, selecting a pleasant and neat encampment.

The regiment remained at Beaufort until June 4th, when on the arrival of Gen. Gilmore, Col. Plaisted, commanding post, tendered him the services of the regiment to participate in the renewed attack on Charleston. The General accepted a detachment of the Eleventh to serve as artillerists. Lieut. Sellmer with forty men from companies C, E, G, and K, were dispatched to Morris Island, where they bore a most honorable part in the memorable siege of Wagner and Sumter. After serving a battery of sea-coast mortars and 200-pounder Parrott guns, they were selected by Gen. Gillmore to man the famous "Swamp Angel" Battery to fire upon the city, and thus to the Eleventh belongs the honor of having fired the first shells into Charleston.

While at Fernandina, Fla., besides doing a heavy fatigue and picket duty, the regiment, assisted by one company of the Fourth S. C. Vols., built a fortification for the protection of the town, which required 2,500 days labor. The regiment left Florida October 6th, having been ordered to Morris Island, where it arrived on the 7th and repaired immediately to the front.

The following letter from Gen. Gillmore will show in what light the Eleventh Maine is regarded by the commander of the department :

Department of the South, Head Qrs. in the field, }
Folly Island, S. C., Nov. 18, 1863. }

Col. Plaisted, (Eleventh Me. Vols.,) Commanding Brigade,

Morris Island, S. C. :

My Dear Sir :—It affords me pleasure to be able to bear testimony to the uniform zeal and efficiency with which you have discharged your duties since I assumed command of the department in June last.

Although your entire regiment was not in this quarter of the department during the most interesting and exciting part of the campaign, a detachment from it was, at your own request, placed on duty at Morris Island as artillerists, and performed excellent service. Lieut. Sellmer of your regiment commanded the "Marsh Battery," known throughout the world as the "Swamp Angel," and threw the first shot into the city of Charleston.

I regard the Eleventh Maine as one of my best regiments, and intend, whenever an opportunity offers, to place it well in the front, and have no doubt that it will sustain the good name which it now enjoys, and for which it is indebted primarily to the zeal and soldierly qualities of its commander.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

Q. A. GILLMORE, Maj. Gen. Commanding.

On the 11th of April the regiment had to mourn the loss of Asst. Surgeon Bates; and on the 14th of the same month had to sustain the loss of the lamented Lieut. L. G. Butler, who died after a day or two of sickness from congestive fever. Both of these officers were men of high standing and beloved by all who knew them.

TWELFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

No Historical Sketch has been received from this regiment; but the following is given from the records here:

From New Orleans this regiment went to Baton Rouge. Early in March, all but one company were there, which was left at Camp Parapet, New Orleans, in charge of heavy artillery.

During Gen. Grover's operations up Grand Lake, they bore an active part. They were attached to his brigade.

They participated in the Port Hudson campaign, with honor, losing 68 killed and wounded; and on the departure of Gen. Banks' expedition for Texas they were left to do garrison duty at New Orleans.

On January 3d, 1864, a portion of the 12th formed a part of an expedition under the command of Col. Kimball which captured the town of Madisonville on the north side of Lake Ponchartrain. The town surrendered without resistance.

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

No Historical Return received. History from records here.

During its long stay at New Orleans this regiment performed garrison service at that city. April 18th it was distributed as follows: Companies A, D, F, G and I at Fort Jackson under command of Col. Rust; companies B, E and H at Fort St. Philip, under Major Grover; companies C and K at Fort Macomb, under Lieut. Col. Hesseltine. Several of the officers were detailed on Staff service.

The 13th formed a portion of Gen. Banks' expedition to Texas. The expedition under Gen. Dana of the 13th corps, embarked at Carrollton, La., October 24th, and landed at the island of Brazos de Santiago, near the mouth of the Rio Grande, on the morning of November 2d. On the 5th the expedition took quiet possession of Brownsville. Point Isabel was captured the next day.

On November 15th, the 13th formed a portion of our force which captured Mustang Island. The enemy's fortifications were surrendered without any resistance. From thence the expedition went to Corpus Christi.

On December 28th, companies C, K and H, numbering in all one hundred men, under command of Lieut. Col. Hesseltine, composed an expedition that went from Matagorda Island to the head of Matagorda peninsula on a reconnoissance. When at a point sixty miles above Pass Cabello, they encountered a rebel force of Cavalry numbering over twelve hundred, who were repulsed with the assistance of the Union gunboat Sciota. The position of Col. Hesseltine was attacked the next day by a rebel gunboat, but his hastily constructed works were held until night set in, when he escaped under cover of the darkness, and his command was got aboard the Sciota without the loss of a man. The next day the rebel gunboat was fired by her commander for fear of being captured and completely destroyed.

FOURTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Col. Porter.

At the date of the last annual report, November 1st, 1862, this regiment was encamped at Carrollton, La., on the left bank of the Mississippi, and five miles above New Orleans, where they remained until December 13th, when they were ordered to Bonnet Carre, thirty miles further up the river, and on the same bank, where they remained until May 7th, 1863.

On the arrival of the regiment at Bonnet Carre, Company H, Capt. Roberts, and Company B, Lieut. Long commanding, were ordered to Frenier, which is on the westerly shore of Lake Pontchartrain, and guards the passage over the narrow strip of land between this lake and Lake Maurepas.

On the 6th of January Company H was relieved by Company E, Capt. Trask, who assumed command at this post, and so continued until April 11th, when he rejoined the regiment at Bonnet Carre, having been relieved by Col. Clark of the Sixth Michigan Regiment. On the 20th of February Company B returned to Bonnet Carre, and Companies D and H of the One Hundred and Seventy-Seventh New York and Company I of the Twenty-Fourth Maine were placed under Capt. Trask's command.

During the time that Capt. Trask was in command at Frenier he rendered good service and made many valuable seizures of property and important arrests of persons. One party was arrested with upwards of $22,000 current money in his possession, attempting to pass outside the lines, and several thousand dollars worth of quinine were seized, and the parties arrested, who were attempting to smuggle it outside the lines for the use of the rebel troops.

On the 24th of March Capt. Trask's battalion, in conjunction with Col. Clark of the Sixth Michigan, advanced upon and captured Pontchatoula. An extract from Capt. Trask's report is as follows: "We were in the advance during the whole of the fighting of the 24th of March, were under fire five hours at one time, driving the enemy three miles, completely routing them, destroying their encampment and the railroad bridge over the Tangipahoe river. During the ten days of this expedition we slept on the ground without tents, and part of the time without blankets, being in the face of the enemy." During the encampment at Bonnet Carre, Company A, First Lieut. Stevens, was stationed at Kenner's, twenty-two miles below Bonnet Carre; Company K, Capt. Blodgett, at Marmillon's, nine miles above, and Company F, Capt. Bolan, at Humphrey's, fifteen miles above Bonnet Carre. They were all employed in preventing smuggling through the rebel lines, and upon expeditions into the interior for the purpose of reconnoissance and other objects.

On the 24th of March Companies A, B, C, D, G, H and I, and four companies of the Twenty-Fourth Maine, under command of Lieut. Col. Porter, who had in February assumed the permanent command of the Fourteenth, embarked for College Point, where they arrived the same night and remained until 4 P. M. the next day, when, on the arrival of the balance of the brigade, Col. Porter's command was ordered to proceed at once by land to Manning's, fifteen miles further up the river, where they arrived at 9 P. M., the roads being in the worst possible condition. On the 26th they again embarked and proceeded to Doyle's, and on the 27th marched to the Amite river, twenty-four miles, over a road impassable to teams or artillery. The men bivouacked on the banks of the river with their arms by their side, as the enemy were known to be in the vicinity, and during the night the rebels opened a hot fire from the opposite bank, when the men instantly fell into their places, and after a brief but warmly contested action, the enemy retired. The loss of the Fourteenth was one mortally and two severely wounded. As it was found impossible, owing to the condition of the roads, to bring up the artillery, it was not deemed advisable to cross the river, and the next day a retrograde movement was made towards the Mississippi river, but the enemy, whose loss the previous night had been severe, did not again show himself.

The regiment returned to Bonnet Carre, where it remained until May 7th, when orders were issued to put it in light marching order, with three days' cooked rations, and on the same day they embarked for Doyle's, arriving there the next morning, when they marched for the Amite river, arriving at McGill's ferry (twenty-two miles), before sunset, where they bivouacked until the afternoon of the 9th, when Col. Porter with the Fourteenth Maine, five companies of the Twenty-Fourth Maine, and four pieces of Barnes' Battery, moved on to Civique's ferry, and in obedience to orders awaited the arrival of the balance of the forces. As it was known that the enemy were in the immediate vicinity, the pieces were placed in position; and all necessary precautions taken to prevent a surprise. On the 10th the enemy suddenly appeared and opened a brisk fire, which was as promptly responded to by both infantry and artillery, which caused the enemy to retire after a brief contest with a loss of three killed and several wounded. The attack was again renewed on the 11th with the same results.

On the 12th, the remainder of the forces and the Commander having come up, preparations were made for crossing the river, which was effected without opposition, (the Fourteenth being in the advance,) and thence marched eleven miles into the interior, and seized a quantity of cotton and sugar and transportation for the same, returning to the river the same night. They were occupied at this point in seizing and securing for public use a large quantity of provisions, lumber and other property until the 19th, when orders were issued at dark to proceed at once to the Mississippi river for the purpose of moving on Port Hudson, and at daylight of the 20th the regiment was again at Doyle's. At 4 P. M. of the 20th they started for Baton Rouge, which had been the scene of their first conflict. On the morning of the 22d started for Port Hudson, reaching that scene of future contest the same day, having marched seventy-five miles in three days. On the 24th the Fourteenth were deployed forward as skirmishers on the right of the enemy's works, and from that time until the surrender of the place on the 8th of July they were at all times within range of the enemy's guns, and actively engaged in reducing the place.

During the bloody assault of May 27th, the regiment was deployed forward, through fallen timber, as skirmishers, and advanced close under the enemy's works, holding their position until all the other troops had retired, and until they were ordered back. Owing to the cover the timber afforded, the loss was comparatively small, but the timber and brush having been set on fire during the action, it was with great difficulty the men passed through it, or the wounded were carried off. In this assault Maj. Bickmore, Acting Lieutenant Colonel, was slightly wounded; Capt. Trask, Company E, Acting Major, dangerously wounded; Second Lieut. Glidden, Company F, severely, and First Lieut. Fulton mortally wounded. It may be proper to state that after the recall had been sounded, every officer and man who had not been killed or wounded was present at recall and answered to his name.

On the 30th the Fourteenth Maine and Sixth Michigan, under command of Col. Porter, took up a position on the extreme right of the enemy's works, where they rest on the Mississippi river, and which had not before been invested. This position they continued to hold until the assault of June 14th, when this regiment and the Sixth Michigan were ordered to gain the rear of the enemy's works by passing under the bluffs at the river side, and then gain the elevated table land and charge the works in the rear before daylight. But this order was not communicated to the commanders of regiments until daylight of the 14th, and before the regiments could fall in and move to the point of attack, the brief dawn of this latitude had passed, and the sun had risen, and when the men emerged into the open space in front of the enemy's works, they found themselves in full view of the enemy, and opposed to a direct as well as a flank fire from both batteries and musketry, and the object of the attack frustrated. Orders were accordingly given from head quarters to move to the right to the support of a battery, which position the regiment occupied during the remainder of the day. Owing to the lateness of the hour when orders to advance upon the enemy were received by the Commander of the regiment, and the consequent necessity of countermanding the order when it had been partially executed, the casualties were few.

On the 22d of June the regiment was ordered into the trenches on the right of the 21-gun battery at the left of our lines, and remained in the trenches, day and night from that time, amid one of the most furious bombardments of the war, until the surrender of the place on the 8th of July. This continued exposure for sixteen days to the direct rays of the sun, without any shade or screen whatever, as well as the frequent rains and heavy night dews, was very detrimental to the health of the men, and produced a most fruitful crop of chills and fever.

During this campaign, from the 7th of May until the 5th of August, the regiment was without tents of any kind, and except one night at Baton Rouge, they slept, if at all, in the open air, without covering or shelter. Officers and men fared alike. They had no transportation except for ammunition, and their only camp equipage was their camp kettles, which they carried in their hands.

From the first investment of Port Hudson on the 23d of May until its surrender, there was not a night in which at least a part of the regiment was not on duty, either in the trenches, or as skirmishers, pickets or sharpshooters. Seven officers and forty-nine men volunteered in the attacking column which was designed to lead the third assault, but for reasons not disclosed this assault was not made.

After the surrender of Port Hudson, the regiment was stationed about three miles from that place on the road to Clinton, as an advance guard, where they remained until the 22d of August, when with the rest of the division they marched to Baton Rouge, Col. Porter being in command of the brigade. On the 3d of September they embarked for Sabine Pass, and on the arrival of the expedition at that place, the capture of the gunboats Sachem and Clifton by the rebels, and there being no other light draught armed steamers, caused a return to Algiers, La. During the expedition the men suffered severely, there being three regiments in a ship of about eight hundred tons, and no apparatus for cooking. Rations were mostly eaten raw, and for the last two days but half rations of water was allowed. The men were so thickly crowded that they were obliged to sleep standing. The Fourteenth lost one man overboard by reason of the overcrowded and ill provided condition of the ship.

After remaining a short time in Algiers, the regiment proceeded by rail to Brashear City (eighty miles), and soon after took up the line of march to Opelousas, one hundred miles from Brashear City. They proceeded by easy marches, and reached Opelousas on the 21st of October, and on the 1st day of November again took up the line of march on their return to New Iberia, where they are now encamped.

While encamped at Berwick City, opposite Brashear, the regiment was at the unanimous request of the officers transferred from the 1st to the 2d Brigade, 3d Division, 19th Army Corps, in which they are now serving.

The health, drill, discipline and general condition of the regiment is believed to be of a higher order than at any previous time.

FIFTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

No Historical Return received. Sketch from records here.

This regiment remained stationed at Pensacola, Fla., until June 21st, when they left for New Orleans, arriving the next day. Here Col. Dyer received orders to proceed immediately to La Fouché Crossing, where they arrived the following day, when they proceeded to Thibodeaux on a reconnoissance, which resulted in the capture of a large number of the enemy. On the evacuation of La Fouché Crossing the 15th protected the railroad until the supplies were brought off.

On the 25th they arrived at New Orleans, and were stationed at Camp Parapet.

On October 24th they left Carrollton, being a portion of Gen. Banks' naval expedition to Texas. On the afternoon of November 1, the fleet anchored off the island of Brazos de Santiago, where a landing was accomplished the next day, the 15th being the first to land. On the 5th the expedition took possession of Brownsville.

On November 15th, the regiment with the rest of the expedition went to Mustang Island, where a landing was effected on the Southern extremity. The next day they with the 13th Maine, supported by the 20th Iowa, formed in line of battle to storm the enemy's works, when as they advanced the garrison unconditionally surrendered. The 15th joined in the movement upon Corpus Christi.

SIXTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Head Quarters Sixteenth Me. Infantry Vols., Near Mitchell's Station, Va.,
January 12, 1864. }

General :—In accordance with Circular, dated Head Quarters, Adjutant General's Office, Augusta, Me., I have the honor to submit the following condensed history of the 16th Maine Infantry, for the year ending December 31, 1863:

On the 1st day of January, 1863, the 16th Maine Vols., as part of 1st Brigade, 2d Division, 1st A. C., was bivouaced near Belle Plains, Va., under the command of Lieut. Col. Tilden. On the 3d, the regiment was ordered into winter quarters. It had one of the extreme outposts on the left of the Army of the Potomac, a position of honor as well as danger. On the 19th the regiment broke camp in the midst of a heavy rain, and participated in that unfortunate campaign of Gen. Burnside, known as the "Mud March." The line of march led toward U. S. Ford, on the Rappahannock, but after toiling with almost superhuman effort, for two days, the whole army became mired. The expedition was abandoned. On the 22d the regiment left U. S. Ford, and on the 23d regained the camp near Belle Plains. The cheerfulness with which the men endured their hardships, and the energy manifested by them in surmounting every obstacle, won the admiration of the commanding officer.

During the winter and spring, as shown by inspection reports, the regiment, under command of Col. Tilden, reached a high state of discipline and efficiency, not surpassed by any other regiment in the corps. On the 22d of April the regiment broke camp, and after moving only one mile, pitched tents, remaining there until the 28th, when it took part in the Chancellorsville campaign. Till the 2d of May the regiment had a position on the extreme left, at Fitz Hugh Crossing, three miles below Fredericksburg. For three days the regiment was under the fire of the enemy, and on the 30th of April their fire was unusually severe, the shells bursting in the air over the heads of the men, and on every side, but without any sensible effect. And here the interposition of Providence was manifest. Divine service in the brigade had just been performed when the enemy opened their batteries, and the 1st Brigade was the only one in which Divine service had been held during the day—so it was the only brigade that did not suffer from the enemy's fire.

On the 2d of May the regiment marched to the extreme right at Chancellorsville, crossing the Rappahannock at U. S. Ford, making a forced march of twenty-five miles in twelve hours. The position assigned to the 16th was not reached until 10 o'clock P. M., and the men were immediately set to work building breastworks and abatis. No rest was allowed until the close of the ensuing day. On the night of the 4th, while companies I and E, under the command of Capts. Waldron and Lowell, were posted as a vidette in front of the works, the 29th New Jersey, on the right, became alarmed and fired into them. The 32d New Jersey, just in rear, also became alarmed, and fired directly into the 16th, and the 29th New Jersey. Capt. Waldron, thinking the rebels had got in the rear, faced his men about and charged in over the breastworks. Fortunately the mistake was discovered in time to prevent any casualties, though several of the men received bullet holes in their clothes. On the 6th the regiment formed the rear of the retreating army, and crossing the Rappahannock at U. S. Ford, after a rapid march in the rain bivouacked near Falmouth. On the 10th the regiment went into camp near White Oak Church. On the 12th the march to Gettysburg was begun. The regiment bivouaced at Clear Springs on the night of the 12th, Bealton on the 13th, Manassas Junction on the 14th, and reached Centerville Heights early in the morning of the 15th, having marched eighty miles in four days, thirty-one of which were marched in one day. The weather was extremely warm. On the 17th the regiment marched to and bivouaced near Guilford Station, Va. On the 25th it crossed the Potomac at Edward's Ferry, and bivouaced at Brownsville, Md.; on the 26th at Jefferson; on the 27th at Middleton, arriving at the latter place at half past two o'clock P. M.; leaving it late in the night of the 28th arrived at Emmettsburg, Pa., in the afternoon of the 29th, having crossed the mountains to Frederick City, Md., making a march of forty miles in twenty hours. On the 1st of July the regiment was hurried forward to Gettysburg, Pa., and almost before the men were aware, the enemy opened fire upon them. They were obliged to load while getting into position, and received several volleys before they could return the fire. About one o'clock P. M., the regiment took up a position on the brow of a small hill in a patch of woods. The position occupied by them was an important one, and the enemy brought nearly all their artillery to bear upon the brigade, and ordered up heavy bodies of infantry to dislodge it. Fortunately the fire of the enemy was too high to be effective. The regiment, always cool, kept up a regular fire upon the rebels, and the number of their dead attested the accuracy of the aim. At this time Col. Tilden's horse was shot from under him, and Capt. Waldron, company I, received a bullet in the breast. A charge was ordered, and the 16th with their accustomed battle shout moved on a run across the open space between them and the enemy, and drove hundreds into the lines of the 13th Massachusetts on the right, with but small loss. When the 1st Corps began to fall back the 16th was ordered to a position on the right and to hold the Chambersburg turnpike "until not a man was left alive." Two regiments had already been driven from this position. Col. Tilden saw the danger but obeyed the order, and almost literally; for when the regiment at length gained Cemetery Hill, but five officers and thirty-five men remained. On the 3d, during the heaviest of the cannonading of that day, this remnant of the 16th, (Capt. Marston commanding,) was ordered to the support of the 2d Corps. While moving by the flank a single shell exploded in their ranks, killing and wounding two officers and seven men. At the close of the 4th, all that remained for duty of two hundred and forty-eight officers and men, who entered the engagement on the 1st, were two officers and fifteen men. This remnant of the 16th, Major Leavitt commanding, participated in the pursuit of the enemy. On the 5th the regiment moved to Emmettsburg—on the 6th crossed the mountains and bivouacked near Middleton, and on the 7th came upon the rear of the enemy near Boonsborough. From this time until the 14th, the regiment was almost continually in line of battle, and had advanced to within three miles of Williamsport.

On the 15th, the march to the Rappahannock was begun, and continued as follows: On the night of the 15th bivouacked near Crompton's Gap—on the 16th, passed through the gap, and bivouacked near Berlin—on the 18th, crossed the Potomac at Berlin, and camped near Waterford, Va.—on the 19th, near Harmony—on the 20th, near Middleburg—on the 23d, near Warrenton—and marching by the way of Warrenton Junction, under the command of Lieut. Col. Farnham, reached Rappahannock Station on the morning of the 26th. Here the regiment remained until August 1st, when it formed a part of a column which crossed the river, driving the enemy before them. Breastworks were immediately thrown up, and the regiment occupied these until the 8th, when it recrossed the river and went into camp. The regiment remained here until the 16th of September, when it marched to Stevensburg. On the 27th moved to the Rapidan, near Racoon Ford.

On the 9th of October the retreat from the Rapidan began. The regiment marched to Germania Ford, thence to Stevensburg, and on the 11th forded the Rappahannock at Kelley's Ford. On the 13th the retreat was continued, the regiment reaching Bristow Station after a march of thirty miles in sixteen hours. On the 14th the army was massed at Centerville. The 16th Maine was pushed forward to the Stone bridge across Bull Run, but the next morning was withdrawn to Cub Run, where it remained in line of battle until the 19th, when it marched to Gainesville, passed through Thoroughfare Gap on the 20th, repassed it on the 24th, and camped upon the battle ground of Bristow Station. The regiment participated in the move against the rebels on the Rappahannock on the 7th of November, forming a part of the reserve. It crossed at Kelley's Ford on the 8th, bivouacking at Brandy Station, and went into camp at Liberty. On the 21st the regiment captured a wagon train from Mosby's guerillas. In five minutes after the alarm the regiment was moving from camp on the double quick, and recaptured the train half an hour before the arrival of the other troops. The first troops that arrived after the train had been taken, were cavalry, and mistaking the 16th for Mosby's men, charged upon them. Fortunately but one man was injured.

The regiment participated in the movements against the enemy at Mine Run. It was among the first to reach its position, and on the 30th of November it formed a part of the charging column intended to storm the enemy's works. Knapsacks were unslung and the column had moved close to the enemy's skirmishers before the movement was arrested by General Meade. On the 1st of December the regiment led the retreat, and crossing at Germania Ford on the 2d, reached Kelley's Ford on the 3d, and were ordered into winter quarters. But on the 24th the regiment was ordered to march to Mitchell's Station, where it is now encamped, having marched during the year six hundred and seventy-seven miles.

Company E—Capt. William A. Stevens, wounded and taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st; First Lieut. Lincoln K. Plummer, stunned by shell and taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st; Second Lieut. A. Leavitt, wounded and taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st.

Company F—Capt. Thomas B. Wentworth, taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st; First Lieut. George A. Deering, taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st.

Company G—Capt. S. Clifford Belcher, taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st; Second Lieut. Isaac H. Thompson, taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st.

Company H—Second Lieut. James U. Childs, taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st.

Company I—Capt. William H. Waldron, wounded and taken prisoner at Gettysburg July 1st; First Lieut. Lewis C. Bisbee wounded and taken prisoner at Gettysburg.

Company K—Capt. S. C. Whitehouse, killed at Gettysburg July 1st; First Lieut. J. O. Lord, taken prisoner at Gettysburg, July 1st.

Of the officers taken prisoners only eight were in the hands of the rebels on the 31st of December, 1863, viz:—Col. Charles W. Tilden; Capts. Atwood and Wentworth; First Lieuts. L. C. Bisbee and Deering; Second Lieuts. G. D. Bisbee, Childs and Wadsworth.

Officers detached—Asst. Surgeon J. B. Baxter, 2d Div. hospital; First Lieut. J. H. Malbon, in charge Div. ambulance train; Second Lieut. Charles A. Garcelon, in charge Brig. ambulance train.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

ARCH D. LEAVITT, Major Comd'g Regt.

SEVENTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Head Quarters, Seventeenth Maine Infantry Volunteers, } near Brandy Station, Va., January 1st, 1864. }

Brig. Gen. J. L. Hodsdon, Adj't. Gen. Maine:

General:—Your letter of the 16th November, was received this day, and I hasten to comply with your request.

The regiment was under fire at the engagement at "Kelly's Ford," on the 7th Nov., but took no active part.

My official report of the battle of "Orange Grove," contained full information of our movements for the rest of the month. We have not changed camp or done any active duty since the transmittal of that report.

The officers now on detached service are Lieut. Col. Charles B. Merrill, on recruiting service at Portland, Maine; Capt. Joseph A. Perry, on General Court Martial at Portland, Maine; Captain Edwin B. Houghton, Acting Assistant Inspector General, 3d Brig. 1st Div. 3d Corps.

Hoping the above may furnish you the desired information,

I have the honor to be sir,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEO. W. WEST, Col. 17th Me. Regt.

Extracts from Official Reports of the movements and participation in battles of the Seventeenth Maine Volunteers.

At the battle of Chancellorsville, the regiment was actively engaged, and crossed the Rappahannock at United States Ford, on Friday, May 1st, 1863, and arrived at Chancellorsville same day. On Saturday afternoon, May 2d, the regiment took part in a reconnoissance with the Third Brigade, during which it was exposed to a brisk shelling by the enemy and had a few men slightly wounded. The enemy having gained to the rear of our forces, the regiment was temporarily placed under command of Gen. Ward, and assigned to a column under command of Col. Egan, Fortieth New York Volunteers, detailed for a night attack in order to regain the position lost by our forces during the afternoon. The column was formed at 9 P. M., and proceeded, the 40th New York being in the advance. In a very narrow road through a dense wood the command was exposed to a very brisk fire from the enemy, and the New York regiment having broke and running through the lines of the 17th, caused a little confusion and disorder. The ranks however, were promptly reformed, and a line of battle being formed, the regiment opened a vigorous fire on the enemy. Soon after, however, the command was withdrawn, and the 17th bivouacked in the field near the woods; the regiment having lost, one man killed, seven wounded, and eighteen missing; one brass field piece and four cannons captured from our forces during the afternoon, were drawn back and delivered to Capt. Randolph, by a detachment of the 17th. Gen. Ward highly complimented the 17th regiment in this affair, as shown by extract from his official report:

“Head Quarters, 2d Brigade, 1st Division, 3d Corps.

To Lt. Col. Merrill of the 17th Maine Volunteers, and Lt. Col. Rockwood, 63d Pennsylvania Volunteers, and the officers and men of their command, temporarily assigned to me, my grateful acknowledgments are tendered for their valuable assistance and gallant conduct on the night of May 2d. And to Captains Sawyer and Mattocks, of the 17th Maine Volunteers, and the companies under their command, my especial thanks are due.

J. H. H. WARD, Brig. Gen.”

May 3d, the regiment having rejoined its brigade, was engaged in supporting batteries; being exposed to a heavy cross fire of artillery and musketry, the regiment suffered severely. The regiment having been withdrawn and changed position to repel an attack of the enemy, occupied a hill in the middle of the field, giving time for the removal of the artillery. But the regiment retired with the brigade and went to the support of the batteries in the front. The loss of the regiment was three killed, forty-nine wounded, and seventeen missing. May 5th, Col. Roberts returned and assumed command, and early on the 6th, the regiment with the brigade withdrew across the river without any loss of men, and returned to its former camping ground near Potomac Creek, having lost during the whole battle, one commissioned officer and three enlisted men killed, five commissioned officers and fifty-nine enlisted men wounded, and forty-five taken prisoners. Among the killed and wounded were the following commissioned officers: Lt. D. H. Johnson, killed, and Captains A. Golderman and Edward J. Merrill, Lieutenants James M. Brown, Putnam S. Boothbay, Thomas W. Lord, wounded.

On the 2d day of July, the regiment arrived on the battle field of Gettysburg, and was engaged in supporting a line of skirmishers till about 4 P. M., when it was ordered to the support of General Ward's Brigade, and became actively engaged with the enemy. The ground was hotly contested and the line was advanced, and driven many times, but the regiment retained its position, checking the enemy, till receiving orders to fall back across a wheat field in our rear; when being again ordered to advance, the regiment moved quickly forward, and pouring volley upon volley into the enemy, checked their further advance. The contest was very severe, almost hand to hand, and the loss of the regiment was heavy. Out of ten men, forming the color guard, only three escaped uninjured. The regiment having exhausted its ammunition was relieved by other troops and retired from the field in good order. July 3d, supported Gen. Doubleday's forces and was exposed to a heavy artillery fire, losing many officers and men.

The loss of the command during the whole engagement was one officer and seventeen enlisted men killed, seven officers and one hundred and five enlisted men wounded, and two only taken prisoners.

The officer killed was Lieut. Dyer, commanding Company G, while Capt. Fogg was carried from the field mortally wounded; and Adjutant Roberts was seriously wounded in the leg, requiring amputation. Captain M. M. Young and Lieutenants N. Whitten, W. H. Green, George W. Verrill and Stephen Graffam, were also wounded. All were gallant and brave officers and their loss was seriously felt.

On the 27th day of November, the regiment took a brilliant part in the battle of "Orange Grove," in which it had one officer killed and two wounded, six enlisted men killed, forty-two wounded and one missing, all in the short space of one hour. The loss was sustained principally in the three right companies, the enemy attempting to out-flank the regiment and even succeeding in bringing the line under an enfilading fire—but it kept its ground until the arrival of fresh troops. Captain Sawyer, acting Major, was wounded in the early part of the action and lived but twenty-four hours. Lieut. Brown, commanding Company E, was killed instantly; Lieut. Fred. A. Sawyer, Company E, was wounded. All were gallant officers, and had always proved themselves brave, but not more so than when they fell. The conscripts did themselves great credit and can claim high rank as fighting men.

NINETEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Regiment.

From January 1, 1863, until the close of April, the 19th Maine Volunteers was in winter quarters near Falmouth, Va., during which time it attained such a state of efficiency and discipline that it was classed among the first regiments of the corps to which it was attached, and was one of the eleven regiments in the army of the Potomac to which additional furloughs and leaves of absence were granted in accordance to General Orders No. 18, Head Quarters, Army of the Potomac. Col. F. D. Sewall having resigned on account of ill-health, Feb. 21, was succeeded by Col. Francis E. Heath. On the 27th day of April, the regiment with its division was ordered to co-operate with Gen. Sedgwick in the attack upon the heights of Fredericksburg; to the 19th Me. Vols. was assigned the duty of guarding the telegraphic communication between the left wing of the army and Gen. Hooker's headquarters, in which position it remained till May 3d, when it was ordered to join the brigade at Fredericksburg where it arrived at 2 P. M. The regiment supported Battery B, 1st R. I. Artillery, stationed on the north bank of the Rappahannock, until May 4th, when it was detached to guard the ford at Falmouth, and on the 5th removed the pontoon bridge at Fredericksburg, under a severe fire from the enemy. Two days afterwards the regiment went into camp a short distance in rear of the Lacy House, where it remained until the 15th of June, when it took its line of march northwardly, and reached Thoroughfare June 21st, remaining till the 25th, then proceeding towards the Potomac; the brigade to which the 19th is attached, being rear guard of the corps, was attacked by a force of the enemy, which was promptly repulsed after a short engagement, the regiment losing one man killed. Resuming the march, the corps crossed at Edward's Ferry the next night, and marched till July 1st, when it reached and bivouacked on the battle-field of Gettysburg. July 2d, the regiment was hotly engaged with the enemy; and although exposed to an enfilading fire and the ranks became rapidly decimated, the men yet held the ground with desperation. Seeing the rebel ranks waver and thrown into confusion, Col. Heath ordered a charge, and with a cheer the men rushed forward under a terrific fire of shot and shell from the rebel batteries which were at this moment turned upon them. The enemy were driven into their lines. The 19th having captured over 400 prisoners, and one stand of colors, also recaptured two pieces of artillery which had previously fallen into the hands of the enemy. Col. Ward, commanding the brigade, having been killed, Col. Heath assumed command, while Lieut. Col. Cunningham took charge of the regiment. On the 3d, companies B, D, E and F, covered the front of the division as skirmishers, until they were driven in by the enemy in the afternoon, when the enemy advanced in strong force and rushed on our lines, but were repulsed with terrible slaughter, our forces capturing a large number of prisoners and thirteen stand of colors. The 19th went into action with 440 officers and men, and its loss during the two days was 12 officers and 220 men killed and wounded. Col. Heath was slightly wounded and carried from the field, but soon returned and resumed command of the brigade. On the 10th the regiment reached Smoketown, where the enemy's pickets were met, and were driven the next day to Williamsport, where the enemy was in force. The enemy having escaped across the river, the regiment proceeded into Virginia by way of Harper's Ferry, and on the 29th arrived at Morrisville, where it remained till Sept. 12th, receiving, in the meantime, one hundred and ninety-eight recruits from Maine. On the 13th, the regiment crossed the Rappahannock, and co-operated with Gen. Gregg's division of cavalry, compelling the enemy to fall back to a position three miles south of Culpepper. The regiment was on duty on the Rapidan until Oct. 8th, when it returned to Culpepper, where it received one hundred and forty-four recruits. Oct. 12th, the regiment was hotly engaged with the enemy at Bristow Station, capturing a stand of colors from the 22d N. C. regiment, besides a large number of prisoners and small arms. The loss of the regiment was one killed and thirteen wounded. On the 20th of Oct. the regiment arrived at Warrenton, where it remained encamped till Nov. 7th, when it marched to Brandy Station, arriving on the 9th, and going into camp. Nov. 26th, the regiment joined in the movement to "Mine Run," and was engaged in picketing and reconnoitering till the 30th, when the army being withdrawn, returned to its former encampment. Remained in camp till Dec. 6th, then moved to Stevensburg, where the regiment remained at date of report. Col. Heath having resigned on account of ill-health, Lieut. Col. Selden Conner of the 7th Maine Vols. was commissioned colonel.

TWENTIETH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

The regiment lay in camp near Falmouth until the battle of Fredericksburg. On the morning of the 11th of December, broke camp, and moved towards the Rappahannock with the brigade, Col. Ames commanding the regiment, and on the afternoon of the 13th crossed the river under fire of artillery. The regiment was engaged with the enemy during the afternoon, and held the position first occupied until the following night. When the army recrossed the river, the brigade formed part of the rear guard. On the 30th of Dec. the division moved on a reconnoissance to the Rappahannock, and returned to camp on the 1st of Jan. The regiment shared in the movement of Jan. 20th, returning to camp on the 24th. During the battle of Chancellorsville the regiment was detached to guard the telegraph line from right to left—was exposed to artillery fire and suffered no loss. After that battle the regiment returned to the old camp near Falmouth, when Lieut. Col. Chamberlain took command, Col. Ames having been promoted to be brigadier general. On the 20th of May, the brigade moved to Golding's Farm; on the 28th to U. S. Ford, and on the 5th of June to Ellis Ford. On the 13th, broke camp, and marched by way of Morristown, Catlett's Station, Manassas Junction and Gum Springs, to Aldie, where the corps encamped June 19th. On the 21st the brigade was sent out to reconnoiter towards Middleborough. Two brigades of the enemy's cavalry, with artillery, were encountered beyond that place, and after a sharp fight, driven to Upperville. The loss of the 20th was one man killed, one officer and seven men wounded. The corps resumed the march on the 26th, and on the 2d of July came upon the battle-field of Gettysburg. The 20th, under command of Col. Chamberlain, formed the left of the entire line of battle on the afternoon of the 2d. A brigade of the enemy attempting to turn this flank, fell with the utmost fury upon the regiment, and after a protracted and bloody struggle were repulsed. The regiment charging upon them, routed them, and took several hundred stand of arms and over three hundred prisoners, including twelve commissioned officers. After the enemy had been repulsed along the entire line, the 20th, by order of Gen. Sykes, charged and drove the enemy from a hill on the front and left, taking twenty-four prisoners, and one commissioned officer. The total loss of the regiment was three commissioned officers killed and mortally wounded, and one hundred and thirty-four men killed and wounded. On the third day the brigade was under heavy fire of artillery but took no active part. From the 5th until the 10th, marched in heavy and incessant rains through Middletown and over South Mountain, and on the 10th encountered the enemy on the Sharpsburg Pike. After a severe and protracted skirmish the enemy were driven back and the road was securely held. The loss of the regiment in killed, wounded and missing, was eight. On the 11th, moved to Williamsport; thence back to South Mountain, crossing the river at Berlin, and with brief delays, along the eastern base of the Blue Ridge. The regiment took part in the affair at Wapping Heights, July 23d. Returning from Manassas Gap, the corps encamped at Warrenton and Beverly Ford, (engaged a part of the time in building corduroy roads from Bealton to Warrenton Junction,) until Sept. 16th. From Beverly Ford moved beyond Culpepper and encamped on the 17th. On the 10th of October broke camp and moved towards the Rapidan, and the next day fell back through Culpepper, across the Rappahannock. The day following the corps recrossed the Rappahannock and advanced toward Brandy Station. On the morning of the 13th moved back again, crossing the river, and following the line of the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, the regiment marching nineteen hours out of twenty-four. In the engagement at Bristow Station, it was with that part of the 5th Corps which supported the 2d Corps, and after the action marched to Centreville, having been on foot twenty-four hours. The day following moved to Fairfax and bivouacked. On the 16th marched to Centreville again, moving on the 18th back to the vicinity of Fairfax. On the 19th resumed march and encamped near Warrenton. On the 30th, moved to Three Mile Station for camp and picketing, until the 7th of November, when the regiment, under command of Major Spear, took part in the affair at Rappahannock Station. The skirmish line of the 20th, (80 men) under Capt. Morrill, joining on the right with the 6th Maine, charged with that gallant regiment, and entered the works of the enemy simultaneously with them. The loss of the regiment was one killed and seven wounded. The regiment moved afterwards with the corps across the river at Kelly's Ford and encamped two miles beyond. The division was detached and moved back to the north bank on the 9th, and guarded the ford until the 19th, then rejoined the corps across the river. Lieut. Col. Gillmore being absent, the command devolved upon the Major. On the 28th, moved with the corps across the Rapidan. On the 27th, encountered the enemy near New Hope Church. Moved on the 28th, in a heavy rain, to the right to Robertson's Tavern, and the next day went to the front. The brigade was on picket, under fire, before the works of the enemy three days, with loss of two wounded, and formed the rear guard of the corps in the retreat on the morning of Dec. 3d. Since Dec. 4th the regiment has been encamped near Rappahannock Station, building roads, picketing, and guarding the railroad.

TWENTY-FIRST REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Augusta, August 25, 1863.

Respected Sir:—The Twenty-First Regiment Maine Volunteers was organized at Augusta, September 1st, 1862, was mustered into the United States service October 13th, and left the State October 21st. Arriving at Jersey City it was ordered to report to Major General N. P. Banks, Department of the Gulf; after which time it was quartered at East New York, and assigned to the Provisional Brigade composed of the Twenty-First, Twenty-Fourth and Twenty-Eighth Maine Regiments, under the command of Col. E. D. Johnson. After two months of efficient drill it embarked for New Orleans, where it arrived February 1st, 1863, when it was stationed at Baton Rouge, and assigned to the 1st Brigade, 1st Division, 19th Army Corps.

At Baton Rouge the regiment was occupied in doing picket duty and in protecting the city from repeated attacks of guerrillas. On the 14th of March that regiment was among the first to approach the works of Port Hudson to co-operate with the fleet which passed those works on that memorable night. Again on the 21st day of May they met the enemy on Port Hudson plains, where they fought against superior numbers with courage well worthy of veterans; but their task was not yet accomplished, for then commenced the siege before the works of Port Hudson, where forty days the regiment figured conspicuously, although their numbers were greatly reduced by sickness and loss. On the memorable 27th day of May, when our troops were engaged in that terrible encounter, the loss of the Twenty-First was seventy-four killed and wounded, and again on the 14th day of June fourteen more were taken from the ranks never to return. During this siege its term of service had expired, but it volunteered to remain until the taking of the place was accomplished, which was done on the 9th of July, 1863, when the regiment was assigned to the 2d Brigade of the Post Forces, Col. E. D. Johnson commanding. There they received compliments from Major General Banks for the efficient service which they gave during the campaign.

July 25th the regiment embarked for Maine, where they arrived August 7th, and were discharged from the United States service August 25th. Although its term of service was only nine months, yet eleven and a half months had expired before it returned to the State. During its absence it passed over the space of above four thousand miles in its various routes of travel.

I am your most ob't serv't,

E. D. JOHNSON, Col. Comd'g Twenty-First Reg't Me. Vols.

To John L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General State of Maine.

TWENTY-SECOND REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Levant, February 18, 1864.

General:—In accordance with your request of the 31st ultimo, I have the honor to enclose to you a brief history of the movements of the Twenty-Second Maine Regiment while under my command, and of my connection with the military service.

The Twenty-Second Maine Regiment left Camp John Pope, Bangor, October 21st, 1862, and arrived at Washington on the 24th. On the following day it was ordered to Arlington Heights, Va., and placed temporarily in the 3d Brigade, Casey's Division, Reserved Army Corps, commanded by Col. Fessenden of the Twenty-Fifth Maine. Here we remained until the 3d of November, employed principally in drilling and guard duty. On that day I received orders to proceed to Fortress Monroe. November 5th the regiment embarked in the S. R. Spaulding, and moved down the Potomac, reaching our destination on the 7th. The Twenty-Second was the first regiment of the Banks' Expedition to rendezvous at Fortress Monroe.

Not being permitted to land at the fort, we proceeded to Newport News, where comfortable barracks were found for the soldiers. November 21st the Twenty-Second was temporarily attached to Gen. Corcoran's Brigade, which landed at Newport News on that day. We remained here until December 2d, when the regiment embarked at Fortress Monroe for New Orleans. The expedition of which the regiment was a part left on the 4th, and arrived at Ship Island on the 12th, leaving the next day for New Orleans, where it arrived on the 15th. On the 16th I was ordered to report to Gen. Grover, who had been placed in command of a force for the capture and occupation of Baton Rouge, then held by a small rebel force. We moved up river on the afternoon of that day, and reached Baton Rouge at daybreak the next morning, and landed without opposition. The Twenty-Second was the first regiment ordered to land and occupy the works.

December 31st the regiment was brigaded with the Sixth New York, Twelfth Maine and One Hundred and Thirty-First New York, forming the 1st Brigade of Grover's Division, first under command of Col. William Wilson, Sixth New York, and later under Brig. Gen. Dwight.

While at Baton Rouge the regiment suffered severely from sickness and death, notwithstanding every care and effort to preserve the health of the troops; and it was only after the regiment had entered on more active duties that the prevalence of disease abated. Among the deaths I have to record that of 1st Lieutenant W. Prince Hersey of Co. E, a young officer of much promise.

The 22d regiment formed a part of the force which left Baton Rouge March 13, 1863, under Gen. Banks, for the purpose of making a reconnoissance in the rear of Port Hudson; and after accomplishing that object, returned on the 16th to Monticello Bayou, six miles from Baton Rouge.

March 26th, with the rest of Grover's Division, the regiment embarked on steamers for Donaldsonville; thence it marched by land to Brashear City, reaching that place on the 11th of April. From the 23d of March to the 18th of April, owing to my sickness, Lieut. Col. Putnam was in command of the regiment. The object of this movement was to get possession of Western Louisiana, then held by a considerable rebel force.

On the morning of the 13th, Grover's Division embarked on transports and moved up the Atchafalaya Lake, for the purpose of attacking the works in the rear, Gen. Banks having previously thrown a heavy force across Berwick Bay, which was then engaging the enemy in front. Only seven companies of the 22d regiment accompanied this movement, companies B, G and H, under Major Brackett, were left at Brashear for want of transportation.

During the day the troops were safely landed at "Irish Bend" in rear of Franklin, and after crossing the Bayou Teeche, encamped for the night. Early on the morning of the 14th, the whole force was moving in the direction of Franklin, the 3d brigade in front followed immediately by the 1st. While advancing over an extensive cane field, the leading brigade was engaged by a large rebel force strongly posted in the woods bordering the field, and after nearly two hours hard fighting, was repulsed and driven to the rear by a charge on its right flank. At this moment the 1st brigade was ordered forward, and the 22d regiment took its position in line with the coolness of veterans. The rebels came dashing forward, firing and yelling, and when but a few yards distant, halted and delivered a volley. Lieut. Col. Putnam, with commendable presence of mind, ordered the men to drop upon the ground, and the leaden shower passed with but a single casualty. The regiment immediately sprang up and the whole line advanced on the enemy who broke and left the field in disorder.

April 15th the regiment was ordered to Franklin to garrison that place, and remained there until the 25th, when, leaving Maj. Brackett with Companies D and I, proceeded to New Iberia and took command of that post, then garrisoned by the Fifty-Second Massachusetts and One Hundred and Sixtieth New York. While here the Twenty-Second did good service in suppressing negro insurrections that prevailed in St. Martin's and other parishes. Capt. Henry L. Wood was appointed Acting Provost Marshal of St. Martinsville, with one company for provost guard.

May 6th I received orders to proceed with my command to Washington, La., and arrived there on the 11th. We remained there until the 20th, when the regiment marched to Barru's Landing, and was temporarily attached to the Provisional Brigade under Col. Morgan, Ninetieth New York Volunteers. May 21st the brigade started for Brashear in charge of an extensive train, and arrived there on the 27th, after a hard march of eight days.

We left Brashear on the evening of the 28th for Port Hudson, proceeding by rail to Algiers, thence by water to Baton Rouge, from which place we marched, reaching Port Hudson June 1st, having marched since the commencement of the campaign more than five hundred miles. The next day after our arrival the Twenty-Second was ordered to the front to support the Indiana and First Maine Batteries. One-third of the regiment was detailed daily for the rifle pits; the remainder was held in reserve on the left of the batteries.

At 11 o'clock on the evening of the 9th of June I was informed by an Aid to Col. Morgan, commanding 1st Brigade, that an assault was to be made by Grover's Division, to commence in one hour. I was ordered to advance on the works in front of the batteries, and, if possible, carry them. My skirmish line was immediately called in, and at the appointed time the regiment was moving forward, Companies A, B and E in front deployed as skirmishers, the remainder in line of battle a few yards in the rear. The distance to the enemy's rifle pits was about six hundred yards, over ground naturally rough, and rendered almost impassable by fallen timber. The 90th New York on my right and the 131st New York on my left soon became engaged, and as the attention of the enemy was directed chiefly to them, I advanced unobserved until my skirmishers had nearly reached the works. A portion of the advance under Capt. Gilman and Lieuts. Anson and Knowles had become separated in the darkness from the skirmish line, and, reaching the works considerably in advance of the rest, drove the enemy from a gun, but being too far in advance to receive prompt support, they were compelled to retire with a loss of two killed, two wounded, and Lieut. Anson and one soldier prisoners. At this time the regiments on our right and left were repulsed. The enemy now concentrated his fire upon us, compelling us to fall back a few yards behind a hill, from which we were soon after withdrawn and returned to our former duties.

During this attack Capt. Henry Crosby of Company A fell mortally wounded near the enemy's works while gallantly leading his company. He was a brave officer, a true patriot and a firm friend, endeared to his fellow-officers and all who knew him.

Sunday, June 14th, was appointed for the third, and, as we believed, last assault on Port Hudson. Gen. Dwight was ordered to make a feint on the left at 3 o'clock in the morning, for the purpose of drawing the enemy from the real point of attack. The assault was to be made by a division under Gen. Paine, and to commence at daybreak, and the batteries along the whole line were to open at that time. The 1st and 3d Brigades were held in reserve. At 1 o'clock A. M. the 1st Brigade was in motion, and reached the centre, where the attack was to be made, at 3½ o'clock, and at once took position in rear of the assaulting column. Instead of advancing at 3 o'clock, Gen. Dwight did not move until nearly 7, thereby allowing the enemy to mass his forces to oppose Gen. Paine. This mistake contributed largely to our defeat.

Under cover of the batteries, the assaulting force advanced to the ditch in front of the works. Here it received a fire which threatened to annihilate it. The ditch was wide and deep and could be crossed only with difficulty under the most favorably circumstances; to attempt it in face of such a terrible fire was madness. They were compelled to retire, leaving the field thickly strewn with the dead and wounded. During this assault Gen. Paine was seriously wounded while trying to rally his division. It was at this critical moment the reserve was ordered forward. The first brigade was then under command of Col. Halcom, Col. Morgan commanding the division. A ditch had been cut through a deep ravine through which the brigade could have advanced to the works without serious loss. Not having been informed of this route, Col. Halcom ordered a charge over ground obstructed by fallen timber, and commanded at all points by the enemy's rifles. At the command, the brigade moved rapidly forward until nearly half the distance had been passed over, when reaching a ravine, it halted, and the men laid down; the brigade had lost quite heavily, and some of the regiments had been thrown into great confusion. Col. Halcom again ordered the brigade forward. The soldiers hesitated. Only a few stood up, and they were either shot down or compelled to lie down immediately. Not desiring to remain here, I called on my regiment to follow me to the works. It responded nobly, and we moved forward as rapidly as possible, until we reached a ravine at the foot of the parapet, when finding the brigade had not followed, I determined to halt and await orders, not deeming it proper to throw my regiment, unaided, upon the works. For more than one hour I received no orders, nor learned anything from the other regiments of the brigade. At length an aide reached me with an order requiring me to report in person to Col. Morgan, commanding division. I was informed by Col. Morgan that Col. Halcom had been shot dead while attempting to rally the brigade, and being the next officer in rank, I was ordered to take command and charge the works immediately. I asked him to inform me where the regiments of the brigade could be found. He replied that he did not know, and immediately added, "It is immaterial where they are, charge them upon the works from any point where you may find them."

Major Shawman, commanding 90th New York, soon reported to me. He represented that having been ordered too far to the right, his regiment had been badly cut up by a cross fire from the enemy's works, and that he could not then muster more than one hundred men and four commissioned officers. I ordered him to withdraw his regiment if possible, and join me farther to the left, where I had determined to make the assault. Before this order was executed it was countermanded by Col. Morgan. The position of the 1st Louisiana was similar to that of the 90th N. Y. These regiments were only withdrawn on the following night, under cover of darkness. The position of the 131st New York was more favorable, and after moving to the left into the ravine, it soon joined the 22d Maine. The 22d Maine marched to the field with two hundred men, but at that time did not number more than one hundred and seventy, and the 131st New York numbered about seventy-five, making a total of two hundred and forty-five available men. With this small force, (and virtually without support,) I was ordered to carry works which had resisted successfully the combined effort of nearly three brigades in the morning. I immediately represented to Col. Morgan the condition in which I had found the brigade. After a little delay I was ordered "to charge the works if I should lose every man." The order was peremptory, and I prepared to obey it.

In front of the works was a deep, narrow ravine, running nearly parallel, and not more than two rods distant. I could reach this ravine without seriously exposing my men, and when formed within it I had gained one-half the distance to the works. I at once ordered the regiments to form in column in the ravine, the 131st New York in front. While moving up the ravine, the brigade was met by a rapid fire, killing and wounding several soldiers, and compelling the 131st New York to fall upon the ground to avoid its effects.

I ordered Col. Day, commanding the 131st New York, to move his regiment a little to the front, in order that the 22d might form in the rear. He replied that he would go on to the works himself, or die, if I so ordered, but his men utterly refused to advance any farther. I was thus left with a few officers and soldiers of my own regiment, who had gallantly gone with me through all the perils of that day, and now stood ready to make still greater sacrifice. Knowing that any attempt to carry the works with this small force could result only in the instant slaughter of every man of my regiment, I determined to fall back, believing then as now that neither my duty to my country or my men required the fruitless sacrifice. I at once informed Col. Morgan of my action. Shortly after I received an order from Gen. Grover, countermanding the charge, for the reason that a large rebel force had been discovered drawn up a little in rear of the works, rendering it impossible to carry them. After dark the brigade was withdrawn and returned to the position it occupied before the battle.

On the following day I was placed under arrest by order of Gen. Grover, in consequence of representations made against me by Col. Morgan. I demanded the charges, and was assured they would be furnished me immediately, which, however, was never done. On the 18th Gen. Grover informed Maj. Brackett that I would be honorably released from arrest and returned to my command in a few days. This was all I desired, and I had no farther anxiety upon the subject. On the 22d an order reached me from Gen. Banks, dismissing me from the service on the charge of "using discouraging and insubordinate language in the presence of a number of officers and enlisted men while forming the brigade for the charge." Thus I was dismissed without an opportunity of meeting my accusers, or knowing the offence with which I was charged until I learned it from the published orders. The nature of the charge took me entirely by surprise. It was wholly false, and had I been granted an opportunity I would have proved it so, and placed the responsibility of the disasters of that day where it justly belonged.

Despairing of a trial in that Department, I then applied to Gen. Banks for permission to take depositions of officers and soldiers who were with me on the field, that I might have a trial in my own State, or at Washington—which was not granted.

June 16th a call was made for volunteers for a storming party. Captains Case and Wood and Lieut. Brown, with five enlisted men, volunteered from the 22d regiment.

July 6th, Capt. Isaac W. Case, of Co. H, died from congestive chills, after a few hours illness. He died at the encampment of the storming party, having volunteered to lead a company of "stormers," and, if necessary, to seal his devotion to his country's cause with his life, in a final attempt to take Port Hudson. No soldier more brave, or patriot more true, has yielded his life in this unfortunate struggle. He died as he had lived, a devoted christian.

Port Hudson surrendered July 8th, after which the regiment was quartered inside the works. On the 24th it started for Maine, passing up the Mississippi by boat to Cairo, thence by rail to Bangor, where it arrived Aug. 6th, and was mustered out of service on the 15th of the same month.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

S. G. JERRARD, late Col. 22d Me. Vols.

Gen. John L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General.

The record of this regiment should not be closed without giving place, as an act of justice toward Col. Jerrard, to the following letters from the regimental commanders of the 1st Brigade of Gen. Grover's Division: *

Port Hudson, Louisiana, }

Col. S. G. Jerrard:

Dear Sir:—It is with feelings of profound regret that I have received General Order No. 51, Department of the Gulf, announcing your dismissal from the service on account of your declining to charge the enemy's works on the 14th inst., after you came in command of the 1st Brigade owing to the death of Col. Halcumb of the 1st Louisiana Volunteers.

Feeling that perhaps the unfortunate position held by the 90th New York Volunteers, comprising a part of the brigade, may have added to the perplexity in which you were placed, I deem it but an act of justice to you to say that I was sent for by you, and ordered to "withdraw my regiment from the position it was in, as the brigade must be formed again for the assault." I represented to you that I should probably lose half my men in withdrawing them, as they were under a cross-fire from the enemy's works. But you told me that they must come, under any circumstances. I left to obey the order, but had proceeded only a short distance when I was struck down overpowered by the heat and excitement through which we had passed. It was perhaps an hour after before I recovered consciousness, when Col. Morgan, commanding division reserve, found me in the condition referred to. I told him your orders, and wished to go and bring out my regiment. He supposing I was unconscious or did not understand the order, under the circumstances, ordered me to remain where I was, and sent Capt. Smart, Acting Major, to keep the regiment on the ground where they were, and the regiment was not withdrawn until dusk.

What transpired, or what conversation took place between you and other officers, I know not, but so far as my regiment was concerned my orders from you were plain and explicit, and I expected most certainly to join and participate with you in another assault upon the works. I fear that a misunderstanding of the facts of the case may have induced the action of the General commanding, and I offer this as a free testimonial of my own accord, hoping that it may relieve you from any opprobrium brought upon you through the 90th Regiment.

Very respectfully, your ob't serv't,

(Signed)

W. SHAWMAN, Maj. Com'dg 90th Reg't N. Y. Vols.

Before Fort Hudson, }

Col. Jerrard, late commanding 22d Regiment Me. Volunteers:

Sir:—It was with feelings of the deepest regret that I read the order of the Department depriving you of the command of your regiment. Having been so long associated with you in the same brigade, in the camp life and on the tedious marches of our late campaign, and more recently in more active service, I feel in parting with you that one of my most pleasant associations acquired in the service is severed. Yet I cannot bid adieu to you until I have expressed more of my appreciation of you than merely as a pleasant companion. More is expected and justly required of a soldier than mere social excellencies. He must have a peculiar faculty of governing men, to be able to apparently humor them, yet never relax proper discipline; and in the field especially, must be brave himself and inspire his men with confidence and trust. I have, sir, been so situated as to be able to observe your actions, under the most favorable as well as the most trying circumstances of military life, and saw with gratification that your ability in camp did not excel your bravery and forethought in battle. Whatever may be the full grounds on which your dismissal is based, I am sure that no mortal being can accuse you of cowardice, or any disinclination to serve your country, both as a brave and discerning officer. With my best wishes for your future welfare and success,

I remain, Sir, your most obedient servant,

(Signed,)

NICHOLAS W. DAY,

Lieut. Col. Comd'g 131st N. Y. Vols.

Colonel:—Allow me to add my testimony to the above, most heartily, and I concur in the remarks of Col. Day.

WILLIE M. REXFORD, Maj. 131st N. Y. Vols.

Head Quarters' 1st La. Volunteers, }
Before Port Hudson, June 26, 1863. }

Colonel Jerrard:

Sir:—I have lately received an order from Head Quarters Department of the Gulf, announcing your dismissal from the U. S. service, and regretting it as I do, although not personally acquainted with you, I assure you that as I think it may be of some service to you, I will with pleasure do what I can toward removing any stain which may be likely to be attached to your name in after time, by giving you my candid statement in regard to the position of my own regiment during that eventful day, the 14th of June, 1863, but especially at the time you took command of the brigade.

My regiment was, in my opinion, at the time you took the said command, in such a position that it would have been impossible to have moved them in any way during that day, without detriment to the service, inasmuch as I think they could not have been so moved without losing at least one-half. It was even with the utmost difficulty that we came out under cover of the darkness. We lost several men in doing so.

If this statement, Colonel, is of any assistance to you, either at this time or any future time, please accept it with the respect and good wishes of

(Signed,)

CHARLES H. GROSVENOR, Major 1st La. Vols.

TWENTY-THIRD REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Col. Virgin.

The 23d Regiment left Portland October 18, 1862, and reported to Gen. Casey, in Washington, Monday night, October 20th, and encamped on E. Capitol Hill. Oct. 25th, left Washington with orders to report to Gen. Cuvier Grover, at Seneca. Oct. 26th, went into camp at Lock 21, Md. Gen. Grover, with head quarters at Seneca, commanded a separate brigade, which prevented the transportation of goods to Virginia, and prevented raids from Virginia.

Remained at Lock 21 until Nov. 11th, when the brigade was turned over to Col. P. S. Davis, 39th Massachusetts Vols., (Gen. G. having been ordered to report to Gen. Banks,) and the brigade was moved to Offutt's Cross Roads, Md. Dec. 21st, brigade again moved; companies B, D and I were sent to Great Falls; company G to Lock 21; companies C and H to Seneca, and the remainder of the regiment to Muddy Branch. Dec. 26th company B went to Muddy Branch, company G to Seneca, and A, C, E, F, H, to Edward's Ferry. The regiment remained thus guarding the Potomac for fifteen miles, until February, when companies D and G, moved to Edward's Ferry.

Regiment under command of Lieut. Col. Luce from Feb. 18th to March 24, 1863, Col. Virgin being president of general court martial during the time.

April 18th, companies C and K went to Conrad's Ferry; A, B, E, remaining at Edward's Ferry under command of Major Soule, while H, G, D and F moved to head quarters of the brigade near Poolsville, Md. April 20th, company C moved to Seneca, and company K to Muddy Branch. May 5th, regiment moved down the Potomac twenty-five miles, and crossed over Chain Bridge to Virginia, and went into camp near Fort Ethan Allen. While here, Lieut. Col. Luce commanded the regiment, Col. Virgin, as senior officer, being in command if the "3d Brigade, Defences of Washington, South of Potomac." May 24th, moved to Alexandria. While at Alexandria the regiment threw rifle pits around the city, built barricades across principal streets, and sent out one hundred and fifty men daily on picket.

June 17th, moved back to Poolsville. June 22d, company F was sent to Sugar Loaf Mountain, to protect Signal Station. June 24th, moved to Maryland Heights opposite Harper's Ferry. June 27th, ordered to Portland, where were mustered out of United States service.

The following letter to the Brigade Commander will show the esteem in which the 23d regiment was held by the Union men of Edward's Ferry:

To Col. A. B. Jewett, Commanding Independent Brigade, Poolsville, Md.:

Colonel:—The undersigned, citizens of Montgomery County, and resident in the vicinity of Edward's Ferry, learning that the 23d Maine Regiment is about to be moved from its present station at the Ferry, desire to express, in what seems to them the only open way, their sincere regret for the necessity which demands such a change, and their appreciation of and gratitude for the marked and uniformly good conduct of this regiment while in camp in our neighborhood. During a period of nearly four months all of us have been brought in contact more or less intimate with its members, officers and men; and it is our pleasure and their due, to record the satisfaction we have experienced in that intercourse. At no time since the occupation of this section of the State by military forces, have we sustained so little detriment to our property by the depredations of soldiers; no regiment has done so much towards diminishing the inconveniences inseparable from a state of war, and effacing the distinction between years of former peace and the current turbulent times. Intelligence, urbanity, and all the soldierly qualities, in the estimation of the undersigned, characterize the officers and men of this regiment in an eminent degree; and in declaring our unanimous and grateful recognition of their qualities, we perform not only a pleasant, but what seems to us, an imperative duty.

Signed by the citizens of Edward's Ferry.

TWENTY-FOURTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Col. Atwood.

The 24th Regiment was organized at Augusta, September 20th, 1862, and remained in camp at that place until October 29th, when it left Augusta with orders to report to Gen. Banks at New York. On the 31st day of October the regiment went into camp at East New York. In consequence of the measles appearing among the soldiers, the regiment was detained in the latter place until the 12th of January, 1863, when it embarked on board the ship Lizzie Southard, with orders to proceed to New Orleans via Fortress Monroe. Owing to head winds the ship was detained in port at Fortress Monroe until the 26th of January, when it proceeded to its port of destination, where it arrived February 14th. After remaining a few days at New Orleans the regiment embarked on board the steamer Eastern Queen, February 26th, with orders to proceed to Bonne Carre, forty miles above New Orleans, where it was united with the 3d Brigade, 2d Division, under the command of Gen. Nickerson of Maine. During its stay at this place a portion of the regiment was engaged in active duties at different times and places. Company I, Capt. Smith, was detailed March 9th for picket duty on the New Orleans and Jackson Railroad, situated on Lake Pontchartrain. March 21st, in company with the 6th Michigan, two companies of the 177th New York, and one company of the 14th Maine, started for Ponchatoula. On their way they landed at Wadesboro, driving the enemy from this place. Company I occupied Wadesboro and captured a large quantity of hides and tobacco, took fifteen prisoners, held the place two days, and then evacuated by order of Col. Clark. The company remained on picket duty till April 12th, when it returned to Bonne Carre.

March 21st Companies A, B and E were detailed to accompany an expedition under Gen. Nickerson, composed of the 14th Maine, 177th New York, and 21st New York Battery, to the Amite river. The expedition was absent eight days. May 7th Companies C, F, G and K were detailed to accompany a second expedition under Gen. Nickerson to the Amite river. May 21st the regiment was ordered to Port Hudson, where it remained through the whole siege of that place. A portion of the regiment was often called upon to build roads and bridges during the approach of the forces to the stronghold of the enemy. The regiment was constantly on duty from the time of the investment of Port Hudson until they started for home, and was often under a severe fire. No regiment did more hard service during the siege than the 24th. Nearly every night the men were ordered to work on earthworks and rifle pits. The regiment lost heavily from disease, not less than 184 having died. About 100 were discharged for disability.

On the 24th of July the regiment left Port Hudson for Maine, via Cairo, Ill., and arrived at Augusta, August 6th, and on the 25th of the same month were mustered out of service, having served one year lacking ten days.

TWENTY-FIFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Col. Fessenden.

The 25th Regiment was the second of the nine-months regiments mustered into service, and the first to leave the State. The regiment left Portland for Washington Oct. 16th, 1862. It arrived in Washington Oct. 18th, 1862, and encamped on East Capitol Hill. It was assigned to the 3d Brigade of Casey's Division, and immediately participated in drills in evolutions of the line under the instruction of that excellent tactician, Major General Casey. On Sunday, Oct. 26th, 1862, in obedience to orders, the regiment moved in a furious storm to a camping ground on Arlington Heights, on the north side of Columbia turnpike, immediately in front of the line of earthworks for the defence of Washington. Here it remained till March 24th, 1863, and was continually engaged in guarding Long Bridge on both sides of the Potomac, and in constructing batteries and infantry epaulements, besides a permanent party detailed for making fascines, gabions, and hewing timber for magazines and bomb proofs. Several batteries and a long stretch of strong infantry epaulements attest the diligent labor of the regiment in the fall and winter. Besides this, the regiment erected for itself a camp of commodious log houses roofed with boards in accordance with a suggestion and plan of Quartermaster General Meigs. It was the most elaborate and permanent camp ever constructed in the department, and still stands a witness of the skill and ingenuity of Maine woodsmen.

In December, 1862, the 3d Brigade of Casey's Division was broken up, and part of it together with the 1st Brigade were sent from the department. The 25th and 27th Maine Volunteers, formerly of the 3d Brigade, were organized into the 1st Brigade of Casey's Division, and remained together as a brigade until the expiration of their term of service. As the 3d Brigade, with the exception of a fortnight, and the new 1st Brigade were continually under the command of Col. Fessenden, the regiment was commanded, with the exception of a few days, by Lieut. Col. Shaw. The condition of the regiment at the end of its service bears testimony to the successful and assiduous efforts of Lieut. Col. Shaw in bringing it into a fine state of drill and discipline.

On March 24th, 1863, the brigade was ordered to move to Chantilly, on the Little River turnpike, five miles to the north of Centerville. The country was much infested with guerrillas, and several bold attacks upon our cavalry pickets made it seem necessary to hold that important turnpike, which led through a main gap in the Bull Run Mountains to the Shenandoah valley, with a stronger force. The brigade encamped in the woods by the side of the turnpike, and picketed the country in its front for several miles. Soon after its arrival at Chantilly, Gen. Abercrombie succeeded Gen. Casey in command of the division, and remained with it until it was finally broken up. The regiment was engaged in picket duty in this vicinity till June 26th, 1863. The pickets of the 1st Brigade joined the pickets of Gen. Hays, commanding 3d Brigade, upon its right, and its left was extended until it joined the pickets of Gen. Stahl's Cavalry Division. Though there were many guerrillas in the vicinity and occasional alarms, no attack was ever made upon the infantry pickets.

On the 21st of June, 1863, the army of the Potomac moved to Centerville and Fairfax Court House and vicinity. The division here came under the command of Gen. Hooker, commanding the army of the Potomac, who distributed the brigades among different corps. The 1st Brigade, comprising the 25th and 27th Maine Regiments, were ordered in June to report to Maj. Gen. Slocum, commanding the 12th Corps, at Leesburg, but before the brigade marched the orders were changed and the regiments ordered to proceed to Arlington Heights and report to Gen. Heintzelman, to be sent home, it being found that their term of service was about expiring. On the following morning, June 26th, 1863, the regiment marched to Arlington Heights, and on Tuesday, June 30th, the regiment was sent home by railroad. It arrived in Portland on the evening of June 3d, and was mustered out of service on the evening of June 10th, 1863.

TWENTY-SIXTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Return received from Col. N. H. Hubbard.

The 26th Regiment left Bangor October 23, 1862, for Washington, and arrived at Camp Chase, Va., on the 27th and were brigaded with the 25th and 27th Maine Regiments, commanded by Col. Fessenden of the 25th. Nov. 9th, broke camp and marched to Alexandria, where we embarked the same day on steamers Pocahontas and Matanzas, for Fortress Monroe—arrived at Hampton Roads on the 11th, and the next day were ordered to Newport News, where we encamped until Dec. 1st, on which day we embarked on board the same steamers, companies A, F, D and I under my command, on the Pocahontas, and the remaining companies, under command of Lieut. Col. Philo Hersey, on the Matanzas. On the 4th, we sailed from Hampton Roads in company with several other regiments, all commanded by Brig. Gen. J. W. Emery, for New Orleans, where the Pocahontas arrived on the 16th, and we were ordered to Baton Rouge. The small pox broke out on board the Matanzas on her passage and she was quarantined below N. Orleans, and that portion of the regiment joined us at Baton Rouge Jan. 11, 1863. The four companies landed from the Pocahontas at Baton Rouge Dec. 17th, and on the 1st day of January were assigned to the 3d brigade of Grover's Division, commanded by Col. H. E. Paine of the 4th Wisconsin Vols. July 1st Col. H. W. Bridge of the 13th Connecticut Vols. was assigned to the command of the 3d Brigade.

The regiment remained at Port Hudson except during the time it was making a reconnaissance to near Port Hudson, from the 12th to the 16th of March, until March 28th, when we embarked for Donaldsonville, La. Remained at Donaldsonville until April 2d, then marched to Terre Bonne, and from thence by rail to Bayou Boeuf, where we remained until the 8th. Marched on the 8th to Brashear City, and on the 11th embarked on a steamer, and on the 13th landed at Indian Bend, and marched about six miles. Early on the morning of the 14th, were engaged in a battle with the enemy at Irish Bend, near Franklin, La. The regiment behaved gallantly and met with severe loss. It was complimented on the field by Gen. Grover for its bravery and discipline.

On the 15th marched for Opelousas and arrived there on the 22d. On the 26th marched to Burn's Landing, and from thence, on the 10th of May, marched towards Alexandria on Red river. When we reached Hill's Plantation, within ten miles of Alexandria, the regiment was detached as guard for an emigrant train to Brashear City. From Brashear City we were ordered to Port Hudson, and arrived in front of Port Hudson on the 30th, and were engaged in supporting a battery until June 12th. Were engaged in the assault on that day, and then returned to our position as support for a battery. After the surrender of the place we were on guard duty inside until July 26th, when we embarked for home, and reached Bangor on the 9th of August and were mustered out of service on the 17th of August.

TWENTY-SEVENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Gen. Hodsdon:—I forward this day a condensed report of the duties performed by the 27th Maine Regiment.

The regiment went into camp at Portland, Me., September 10th, 1862, was mustered into the United States service Sept. 30th, left for Washington Oct. 20th, and arrived the 22d. The next day went into camp on East Capitol Hill. Oct. 26th, marched to Camp Chase, on Arlington Heights, Va. Oct. 28th, changed to Camp Seward, and commenced picket duty in connection with the 4th Delaware Regiment and 114th New York. Dec. 12th, marched to Camp Vermont, south of Hunting Creek, Va., and relieved a brigade of Vermont infantry from guarding a picket line eight miles in length, extending from the Potomac river near Mount Vernon to the Orange and Alexandria Railroad. The regiment continued to perform the duties of this brigade till March 24th, 1863, having during all that time 300 men on duty daily. March 24th and 25th, marched to Chantilly, Va., and commenced picket duty on the outermost line of infantry in the defences of Washington. June 23d, was transferred to the army of the Potomac, ordered to Arlington Heights June 24th, and returned there the 25th.

The term of service of the regiment having expired, they were at liberty to return home, but a large portion, at the request of the President and Secretary of War, volunteered to serve a short time longer to aid, if necessary, in defending the capital against the rebel General Lee, who had at that time commenced the invasion of Pennsylvania. July 4th, started for the State of Maine, and arrived there July 6th. The regiment was mustered out of the United States service July 17th, 1863, at Portland.

The regiment started with 949 men, lost 20 men by death, 8 officers resigned, and 54 men by discharge, &c., leaving 867 officers and men when the regiment arrived on Arlington Heights. The regiment had at no time less than 740 men for duty.

TWENTY-EIGHTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Augusta, Feb. 13, 1864.

General:—In obedience to your request I have the honor herewith to submit the following report, showing the complete history of the 28th Regiment Me. Infantry Vols.:

The 28th Regiment Maine Infantry Volunteers was composed of companies raised in different parts of the State, as follows:—Franklin, three; Washington, three; Somerset, one; Lincoln, one; Knox, one; Hancock, one—rendezvoused at Augusta during the latter part of September, 1862. The regiment was organized Oct. 6th, and mustered into the U. S. service by companies, from Oct. 10th to Oct. 18th. Broke camp Oct. 26th, with orders for Washington—stopped at New York and there ordered to Fort Schuyler, N. Y. Harbor, Oct. 28th, to report for duty to Maj. Gen. Banks. I assumed command of the Post, and with my command garrisoned Fort Schuyler until Nov. 26th, when I was ordered by Gen. Banks to East New York. The night of the 26th was passed in Rev. H. W. Beecher's church in Brooklyn. Nov. 27th, marched seven miles to East New York, and joined Prov'l Brigade under Col. E. D. Johnson of 21st Maine Vols. By order of Gen. Andrews, Jan. 13, 1863, broke camp at East New York, marched seven miles to Brooklyn and embarked on board U. S. steam transport Empire City, Jan. 17th, steamed for Fortress Monroe—arrived Jan. 22d. Ordered by Gen. Dwight to report to Gen. Banks, commanding 19th Army Corps at New Orleans. Arrived at New Orleans Jan. 29th. Turned over to Gen. Sherman's 2d Division and ordered to Chalmette, seven miles below the city. Disembarked Jan. 31st, and encamped on Jackson's old battle ground, Feb. 15th. By order of Gen. Sherman, embarked on board U. S. steam transport Che Kiang, for Pensacola, Fla. Disembarked Feb. 17th, at Warrenton Navy Yard, Fla., and reported for duty to Col. Isaac Dyer, 15th Me. Vols., commanding troops West Florida. Feb. 21st and 22d, six companies, A, B, C, F, G and H, under my command, were transported across Pensacola Bay to Pensacola, and, March 22d, on the evacuation of Pensacola, embarked on board steamer Star of the South, for Warrenton Navy Yard. March 24th, joined by detachment of four companies under Lieut. Col. Hadlock, previously left at Warrenton, and with them embarked on board steamer Eastern Queen, for New Orleans, La. Arrived March 29th, and ordered by Gen. Banks to station seven companies of my command, with head quarters at Donaldsonville, La., on west bank of the Mississippi and on Bayou La Fourche, and three companies at Plaquemine, twenty-five miles above, on the Mississippi. Assumed command of Post at Donaldsonville, and Lieut. Col. Hadlock assumed command at Plaquemine.

April 2d, threw Capt. G. A. Stanley's company B across the Mississippi to guard the telegraph line from Baton Rouge to Bonne Carre. April 18th, Capt. G. A. Stanley and five men, company B, were captured by rebel cavalry. On the same day, Sergeant Wilder and six men, company E, sent from Plaquemine by Capt. Stearns, 171st N. Y. Vols., Provost Marshal, to seize contraband goods and bring them within our lines, were captured by the same force. Lieut. Charles H. Witham, company E, commanding provost guard, was pursued five miles by the rebels, and overtaken by them on the river bank opposite Plaquemine, while trying to carry a skiff to the river. When challenged by them and ordered to surrender by a squad of five, he refused, and turning to fire on them was shot and left for dead at the river's edge. He afterward recovered from his wounds, though dangerous.

During the time the regiment remained at Donaldsonville, intercepted a considerable amount of contraband goods and medicines. The latter part of April marched twenty-five miles up river with detachment of three companies, C, G and K, to Gouriers and Anger's Landing, on east bank Mississippi. May 27th, was ordered to Port Hudson with companies A, D, E, (part of F,) H and I, leaving companies B, C, G and K, at New Orleans, and leaving Fort Butler, Donaldsonville, garrisoned by part of company F and the convalescents of the regiment, under command of Maj. J. D. Bullen. Arrived at Springfield Landing May 30th—marched eight miles to the front and bivouacked.

Reported to Gen. Banks, and by him ordered to Gen. Dwight's 2d Division, and Gen. Nickerson's brigade. For two weeks the regiment was employed day and night in building batteries and doing picket duty, with occasionally a man wounded. In the advance on the 14th of June, part of my command was in the front, but suffered no loss. June 22d, ordered to assail a bastion of the rebel works and then to fall back, by Gen. Dwight, with the assurance of support. Advanced with my command to within a stone's throw of the fortifications, and after waiting for support, which did not come up, I retired in good order, with a loss of three killed, nine wounded, and twenty-six missing. The missing all came into camp the next night, having been thrown forward so far in advance that they were obliged to wait for night, under cover of which to fall back. July 1st, I was detailed by Gen. Dwight to take charge of the trenches and the mining operations on the extreme left of our lines, each alternate day, and approached with them to within twelve feet of the enemy's works.

June 28th, the garrison at Fort Butler, Donaldsonville, La., under Maj. J. D. Bullen, having been reinforced by company G, from New Orleans, was assailed by an overwhelming force of rebels, and repulsed them at every point with great loss. Maj. Bullen's command killed and wounded twice as many men as they themselves numbered, including a general and several field officers—captured nearly as many prisoners as the number of the garrison, and twice as many commissioned officers as there were in the fort. Gen. Stone, in his official report of the battle to Gen. Banks, speaks of it as one of the most gallant and brave affairs that had occurred during his military experience, and recommended all of the surviving officers for promotion. Lieut. Isaac Murch, company G, was shot through the head while in the advance bravely repulsing an assault of the enemy. He will always be remembered by his command and comrades as a soldier who never flinched or swerved from the course that his high sense of duty marked out. I enclose an from Major Bullen's report:

“At half past one o'clock A. M., June 28th, our pickets were fired on by those of the enemy, and during their retreat the guns of the fort, and those of the gunboat Princess Royal under command of Capt. Woolsey, opened on the approaching enemy. But their forces moved steadily forward, and in a short time Capt. E. B. Neal, company F, 28th Maine Vols.—to whom I had entrusted the defense of the left entrance of the fort—received a terrible fire from the enemy who came up on the opposite bank of the Bayou La Fourche to a point where they could fire on his flank, which was wholly unprotected; but the gallant Captain and his command endured the fire without wavering and replied with vigor, which, with the assistance of one of the guns of the fort, drove them back in disorder. Almost simultaneously with the attack on our left, the enemy made a vigorous assault in front of both entrances of the fort, with a large force. On the left they were bravely repulsed by Capt. Neil. Capt. A. Thompson, company G, to whom I had given the defense of the right entrance, after a severe engagement under great disadvantages, and with a number many times exceeding his own, was compelled to withdraw to the inner works, where the Captain and his command, with the greatest desperation, fought the enemy who in large numbers had succeeded in getting within the outer works. During the hot fight on the left, Lieut. Murch of Capt. Thompson's company was in command of one of the reserves, and was ordered to support Capt. Thompson, which he did with the greatest energy, and after an hour's struggle was killed. Here also Lieut. Perry was severely wounded. My force was so small that the reserves had now to support Capt. Neil, and now Capt. Thompson, as the case demanded.

"After an engagement of three hours and a half, some twenty-five of the enemy at the left surrendered, and more than one hundred on the right. A majority of those who succeeded in getting within our works made their escape, leaving us little more than one hundred.

"I cannot speak in terms of too high commendation of my gallant officers and my brave men who fought against so great a superiority of numbers with unaccountable courage and endurance. Of the enemy we have buried more than fifty that we gathered up just without and within our outer works. Twenty-five of their wounded we found where we gathered up their dead; the remainder were borne away by the retreating force. The number must have been large. Two deserters came in yesterday and stated that the enemy acknowledged a loss of five hundred killed and wounded.

"Of the one hundred and twenty-five captured, were Lieut. Col. Shannon, Maj. Ridley, Capt. Hall, Capt. Jordan, and six lieutenants."

July 4th. The six companies of the 28th were ordered to march to Springfield Landing and embarking to reinforce Fort Butler, then besieged by the enemy, who had succeeded in blockading the river. They arrived July 5th, and on the evening of that day occurred the fiendish murder of Maj. Bullen by private Francis Scott, Co. F, 1st Louisiana Volunteers, a soldier under his command. Coming as it did immediately after the gallant defence of the fort by Maj. Bullen and his command, it seemed the more atrocious. But Maj. Bullen died the death of a Christian soldier, calm and troubled by no feelings of revenge or anger, having covered himself with glory.

July 10th, I rejoined my command at Donaldsonville, and July 12th, with the whole regiment, embarked for Baton Rouge. Arrived the same day and assumed command of the post there.

August 6th. By order of Gen. Banks, embarked on board steamer Continental, for Cairo, Ill. Arrived the 12th July, having touched at Vicksburg.

From Cairo the regiment came by cars, through Terre Haute, Buffalo, Albany, &c., and arrived at Augusta August 18th. It was a continuous ovation from Cairo to Augusta, and the kindness of the ladies to the sick especially, will never be forgotten. I would particularly mention the hearty welcome extended to the regiment on its return, by the patriotic citizens of Augusta, the goal to which we returned after having passed around nearly the whole extent of the so-called Confederacy.

August 31st. Mustered out of the U. S. service after a term of service of nearly a year.

I have the honor, General, to be,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

E. W. WOODMAN, Col. 2d Cav. Me. Vols.,

THE MAINE SHARPSHOOTERS.

This fine company has been much reduced in numbers by long continued service. Capt. McClure, the gallant commander, was promoted Sept. 16th to the rank of Major, but was not mustered in on his commission, and still retains the command of the company. The following report is furnished by Capt. McClure:

Active Service Report of Company D, Second United States Sharpshooters, since leaving Camp of Instruction at Washington, D. C., March 19th, 1862.

Left Camp of Instruction March 19th, 1862, for Camp Williams, near Alexandria, Va., sixteen miles from former camp, arrived there March 20th, and there joined the brigade of Gen. Auger, in King's Division. Left Camp Williams April 5th, 1862, and arrived at Bristow Station evening of April 6th, where we camped until April 15th, on which day we marched towards Falmouth, Va., via Warrenton Junction, arriving at latter place same night. Left there morning of April 17th, for Falmouth, Va., marching a distance of thirty miles within fifteen hours, and with little opposition from rebel cavalry and infantry we entered Falmouth, Va. After entering the town, as the enemy had fired the bridges connecting it with Fredericksburg, our company was detailed to extinguish the flames within range of the rebel Sharpshooters on the opposite side of the river. We soon dispersed them by a few well directed shots, and partially saved the bridge. Encamped at Falmouth until May 25th, 1862, at which time we left there, camping for the night about eight miles south of Fredericksburg, Va., near Fairview. Countermarching on the morning of the 29th of April, we started to the relief of Gen. Banks, in the valley. We arrived at Catlett Station May 31st, and there took cars for Front Royal, Va., via Manassas Junction. When near White Plains, about 3 o'clock on the morning of June 1st, 1862, the train in our rear by some mismanagement came into collision with ours, nearly demolishing several cars, killing one man and wounding twenty-two others, some severely, (all of our company). We left the scene of our disaster same evening, and arrived at Rectortown. Remaining there in the cars until the evening of June 2d, we went back by rail to Haymarket, Va., (near Thoroughfare Gap). There we remained in camp until June 6th, when we left for Warrenton, Va., arriving there same night. Remaining there until June 8th, from there we marched to Elk Run, Va. We remained there until June 14th, when we left for Falmouth, arriving there June 15th, and there remained in camp until August 5th, 1862. This day we left on reconnoissance, proceeding some thirty miles into the enemy's country south of Fredericksburg. We returned August 8th, having accomplished our object, destroying an important bridge on the Bowling Green road, and taking an immense quantity of forage, horses, mules, cattle, etc.

We left Falmouth Aug. 10th, arriving at Culpepper, Va., evening of August 11th, making a distance of forty-six miles in about thirty-one hours. Remained at Culpepper in camp until Aug. 16th, then marched toward the Rapidan river, encamping near Cedar Mountain until Aug. 19th. A retreat was then ordered, and we marched to the Rappahannock river at Rappahannock Station, arriving there morning of the 20th. Our regiment acted as rear guard, and had hardly crossed the river when the rebel cavalry made their appearance. We had lost but one man up to this time, (private A. W. Hutchins,) who was unwell and was overtaken by the advance guard of the rebels. He was afterwards exchanged, but died at Fort Delaware. The enemy made several desperate attempts to cross. We were in line of battle and under a terrific fire of shell and canister for three days, with occasional firing during the nights. The company commanded by Capt. McClure was detailed to go to the river and ascertain where the enemy were crossing to our side. While performing this important duty, and just as we discovered them, a company of rebel cavalry, sixty strong, charged on us. Our little company of twenty-eight men (deployed as skirmishers) repulsed and scattered them in every direction, killing two, wounding several, and taking their captain and two privates prisoners. None of our men were injured. While here we were supporting batteries at times, and in this duty our regiment lost six killed and several wounded.

On the 23d of August our regiment was on picket and under a severe artillery fire, which lasted about two hours. Several of the regiment were wounded, and one man in our company (private Washington Tucker) received a wound which resulted in his death shortly afterwards. On the 23d we started for Warrenton, where we remained until Aug. 26th, when the regiment was detached to Gen. Patrick's Brigade, and marched to White Sulphur Springs. There we were deployed as skirmishers, and ordered to drive the enemy's skirmishers to the other side. Brisk skirmishing ensued, which lasted some six hours, and resulted in our driving the enemy across the river. This was the fairest test we have ever had between rebel sharpshooters and ours. The loss of the regiment was three killed. The rebels lost thirty.

We marched Aug. 27th in the direction of Manassas Junction. When near Groveton, Aug. 28th, we discovered the enemy in force. During the night we were compelled to fall back to Manassas, remained there until the 29th, when we were ordered forward to the same ground we had before occupied, our company supporting two pieces of artillery stationed near the Seabury road. About dark the rebels attacked us in overwhelming force, and we were driven back. In this action Lieut. Barker was taken prisoner. Private James F. Sally was wounded, and private John Jordan killed. We had but twelve enlisted men in this battle. The rest of the company were completely exhausted by the severe marching, countermarching and fighting of the past ten days, with short rations. We lay by the roadside until about noon of Aug. 30th, when another advance on the enemy was ordered. We were on the right and deployed as skirmishers. The fighting became so fierce that we lost sight of the right wing of our regiment, and our company with the remainder of the left wing joined one of the Pennsylvania Reserve regiments, where we fought in closed ranks during the remainder of the day. We fell back to Centerville on the night of Aug. 30th, broken and disordered, where we remained until Sept. 1st, when moved to Fairfax and encamped for the night, and on Sept. 2d, 1862, we fell back to Falls Church, where we encamped until Sept. 7th, when we marched into Maryland Sept. 9th, eight miles from Washington, D. C., on the Harper's Ferry road. From there we marched by the way of Brooksville and Lisbon to Frederick, Md., where we arrived Sept. 12th. Sept. 14th we marched to South Mountain, and came upon the enemy in force. We engaged them about 3 P. M., our regiment being deployed as skirmishers and leading the attack. Night found the enemy completely routed after a brisk fight. On the morning of the 15th we pursued them, encamping about two miles from Keedysville and the enemy's lines. Sept. 16th our regiment was deployed and forwarded to feel the enemy's line. Slight skirmishing ensued, in which one man in our company (private Wellington Tucker) was wounded and died the same night. After our object was accomplished, fell back a short distance and lay on our arms all night. On the morning of the 17th advanced in close column line of battle, the regiment forming the extreme right of Doubleday's Division. We fought continually for four hours, during which our regiment lost about seventy-five killed. The loss of the company was six.

Sept. 19th went into camp near Sharpsburg, Md. Oct. 20th marched to Bakersville, where we remained until Oct. 26th, when we marched to Berlin. On the 30th crossed the Potomac and encamped near Lovettsville, Va. Nov. 1st, marched to Purcellsville, remaining there until Nov. 3d, when continuing the march we arrived at Warrenton Nov. 6. Nov. 11th marched for Brooks Station, between Falmouth and Aquia Creek, where remained in camp until Dec. 10, when marched toward Fredericksburg, crossing the river three miles below. On the night of Dec. 12th camped under the enemy's guns, and on morning of Dec. 13th we were ordered forward, deployed as skirmishers on the extreme left of Franklin's Corps, our left resting on the river banks. During the day we advanced about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  miles, driving the enemy from their fortifications, capturing several men and one commissioned officer. Stood picket through night of 13th. The 14th we lay in line of battle all day, at night on picket; 15th on picket all day, skirmishing quite lively. Recrossed the river night of Dec. 15th. Our loss in battle was nothing. One man, a straggler, (private Edwin Thompson of our company,) was left behind and captured by the enemy. From this date until April 28th, 1863, were in winter quarters, doing the usual camp duty. Tuesday, April 28th, left camp near Stoneman's Station, Va., and marched again to Fredericksburg, and camped three miles below. Remained there in reserve for the 1st Army Corps until the 30th. Crossed the Rappahannock May 1st. May 2d advanced about two miles south of the Gordonsville road, in the direction of Spottsylvania Court House, where we encountered the enemy, and after sharp fighting captured a number of prisoners actually larger than our own force engaged. Owing to the disaster to the 11th Corps, the regiment was compelled to fall back to within one-half mile of the Gordonsville road, where we were entirely cut off and surrounded by the enemy. After sharp fighting in the night, we opened communication with Gen. Hooker, and fell back on the morning of the 3d to Chancellorsville. May 3d and 4th we were constantly engaged with the enemy's sharpshooters. On the morning of the 5th retreated with the army across the river, and went into our old camp. June 1st, were still in camp at Stoneman's Station. July 1st, after severe marching, were at Tarrytown, town, and were constantly engaged in the three days' fighting at and near Gettysburg, July 2d, 3d and 4th, in which eleven were lost in wounded, missing and prisoners from the company. Aug. 1st, were at Warrenton, Va. Sept. 1st, were at White Sulphur Springs, Va.; Oct. 1st, at Calpepper, Va.; Dec. 1st, at Brandy Station, Va., where we remain Dec. 31st. The company has re-enlisted for the war.

JACOB McCLURE, Captain Maine Sharpshooters.

The following interesting communication has been received from Col. Freeman McGilvery of the Maine Mounted Artillery, who was promoted by Gov. Coburn, through successive grades, to his present rank, from the captaincy of the 6th Maine Battery, and is now in command of the First Brigade, Artillery Reserve of the Army of the Potomac. At the battle of Gettysburg, the gallantry of his conduct and skill with which his command was handled, received high commendation. Those who read this brief communication, will regret the loss of papers mentioned, which has prevented the presentation here of a detailed report :

February 3d, 1864.

Dear Sir :—I received a letter from your Department, some two weeks since, requesting me to send you a brief account of my doings in battle, &c., from the date of my entry into the service, for your Annual Report. Now, sir, it is a very delicate matter for any one to write his own military biography, for however modest the language may be, it must savor more or less of egotism to the distant and uninterested reader, especially in a case where the officer may have reason to believe that the record of his command and that of his own part taken in various actions should bear rather a brilliant character than otherwise. Notwithstanding these sensitive misgivings, however, I immediately upon receipt of the above mentioned letter, prepared, in a correct chronological order, a brief account of the several battles and skirmishes in which my old battery and myself have participated, also copies of official reports sent to my commanding officer at the time of the several engagements; but, unfortunately, on my way from the army into Washington, I lost my valise containing all my papers, and my leave of absence being only for five days, I could only spend a few hours in unsuccessful search. I regret exceedingly that by the loss I am deprived of the pleasure of affording you the information desired, and all I can now say is, that I have on all occasions endeavored to do my duty to the utmost of my poor ability; and, sir, it is with not a little pride that I can say it has been my good fortune that whenever and wherever I have met the enemy of our country in mortal combat, I have had the cheerful obedience of brave men, and when in my imagination I recall the exciting scenes of furious battle-fields, I realize myself but one midst a host of gallant men, many of whom, less fortunate than myself, I have seen pay the forfeit of "limbs" and of "life" for our country; and, sir, for whatever comparative degree of energy or judgment, or both, I may have displayed on the several occasions afforded me, I have enjoyed the great pleasure and satisfaction of a cheerful acknowledgment of my services, by all ranks and grades, none of which do I appreciate more than that from the private soldier, and to none would I sooner appeal for a just arbitrament of the value of my services than to him.

In reference to my old Sixth Maine Battery, I believe it has gained as commendable a reputation as any battery in the service, in an unusually short space of time. I account for its good character and reputation, by the fact of its excellent material, and the strict discipline instituted at the commencement of its organization. The efficiency of the battery may be told in the following words: There has never been a day nor an hour since it received its guns, up to the time of my departure, three days ago, that the battery has not been in order, ready and willing for action. I think there are but few batteries of which so much can be said. It has always been as ready to fight after as before a battle. In reference to myself, I again repeat, that I have always endeavored to do my duty faithfully and fearlessly to the extent of my ability. At Gettysburg my command was large, as large and perhaps larger than has often fallen to the lot of an artillery officer; and if it was instrumental in helping turn the tide of battle when the existence of the army and the life of the nation was threatened, all credit is due to the brave men and officers who so noble sustained my efforts, and to the God of battles who always fights for the cause of the just.

Begging you will excuse the rough style of this hastily written communication, I have the honor to remain,

Very truly and respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

F. McGILVERY, Colonel Maine Mounted Artillery.

GENERAL OFFICERS IN SERVICE FROM MAINE.

Major General Oliver O. Howard graduated at West Point in 1854, the fourth in a class of forty-six, and was appointed lieutenant in the ordnance department. He subsequently acted as Assistant Professor of Mathematics until 1861, when on the outbreak of the rebellion, he resigned his commission, and returning to Maine, his native State, accepted the colonelcy of the 3d regiment. At the first battle of Bull Run he was placed in command of the 2d brigade, Heintzleman's division, and for his distinguished services was promoted to Brigadier General of Volunteers. In the Peninsular and Maryland campaigns he bore a gallant part. At the battle of Fair Oaks he had two horses killed under him, and lost his right arm. At the battle of Antietam he commanded Burn's brigade, until Gen. Sedgwick was wounded, when the command devolved upon him, and nobly did he perform his duty. His command as Major General dates from the 29th of November following. At the battle of Fredericksburg he commanded a division in Couch's (2d) corps, charging with patriotic determination upon the enemy's rifle pits, under a murderous fire, and holding the position with the bayonet after their ammunition was expended. During the afternoon he and his staff had a narrow escape from one of the enemy's shells.

At the battle of Chancellorsville, Gen. Howard commanded the 11th corps, which, at the commencement of the battle held the extreme right, posted in three directions, nearly at right angles. This corps was composed principally of German troops. During the afternoon the enemy succeeded in outflanking the extreme right, and precipitated about forty thousand men on this corps, when, seized with a panic, the majority of the corps abandoned their position and fled. The heroic Howard boldly threw himself into the breach and attempted to rally his shattered columns; but his efforts were futile. No power on earth could arrest the fugitive command and rally them in the face of the enemy. Notwithstanding this temporary panic, the corps was so far re-organized during the night that it relieved Gen. Meade's corps on the left, the following day.

Shortly after this battle Gen. Howard issued an address to the 11th corps, in which he said:

"As your Commanding General, I cannot fail to notice a feeling of depression on the part of a portion of this corps. Some obloquy has been cast upon us on account of the affair of Saturday, May 2. I believe that such a disaster might have happened to any other corps of this army, and do not distrust my command. Every officer who failed to do his duty by not keeping his men together, and not rallying them when broken, is conscious of it, and must profit by the past. I confidently believe that every honorable officer and every brave man earnestly desires an opportunity to advance against the enemy and demonstrate to the army and to the country that we are wanting neither in principle nor patriotism. Your energy, sustained and directed by the Divine blessing, shall place the 11th corps ahead of them all."

At the battle of Gettysburg the 11th corps more than retrieved the laurels lost at Fredericksburg. Gen. Howard's movements were so skillfully conducted as to win from Gen. Meade the highest encomium. On the 30th of June, the right wing of Gen. Meade's army was moved up to Manchester, the left still being at Emmetsburg, in the vicinity of which place three corps,—the 1st, 11th and 3d,—were collected, under orders of Gen. Reynold's, who was directed to occupy Gettysburg. On reaching that place, July 1st, he found Buford's cavalry warmly engaged with the enemy, who had debouched his infantry through the mountains on the Cashtown road, but was being held in check. Gen. Reynolds immediately moved around the town of Gettysburg, advanced on the Cashtown road without a moment's hesitation, deployed his advance division, and attacked the enemy; at the same time sending orders for the 11th corps to advance as promptly as possible. Soon after making his dispositions for an attack, Gen. Reynolds fell mortally wounded, and the command of the field devolved on Gen. Howard, who arrived about this time (11.30 A. M.) with the 11th corps, then commanded by Gen. Schurz. Gen. Howard placed forward two divisions of the 11th corps to support the 1st corps, now warmly engaged with the enemy on the ridge to the north of the town, and posted his third division with three batteries of artillery on Cemetery Ridge, on the south side of the town.

The arrival of reinforcements to the enemy on the Cashtown road, and the junction with Ewell's corps, coming on the York and Harrisburg roads, which occurred between one and two o'clock P. M., enabled the enemy to bring vastly superior forces against both the 1st and 11th corps, outflanking our line of battle, and pressing it so severely that about four P. M., Gen. Howard deemed it prudent to withdraw these two corps to Cemetery Ridge, on the south side of the town; which operation was successfully accomplished; not, however, without considerable loss in prisoners, arising from the crowding of both corps through the town at the same time, and getting confused in the streets. About the time of the withdrawal, Gen. Hancock in conjunction with Gen. Howard proceeded to post troops on Cemetery Ridge, and to repel an attack that the enemy made on our right flank. The next day this attack was renewed by the whole rebel army; and it has been well said, that the fierce rebel assaults on Cemetery Hill—the key to Meade's position—were repulsed by Howard's command with a bravery and skill which won universal praise. At the close of that bloody contest the 11th corps had fought its way to the gratitude and admiration of all loyal hearts. After the battle the President of the United States was pleased to send Gen. Howard an autograph letter of thanks.

Among the incidents of the battle it is related that when our men were rushing up to meet the rebel assault, Gen. Howard saw a man skulking, and asked him why he did not go in. He answered that he had no gun. Seizing a musket from one of our falling men, the General handed it to the coward, saying, "Allow me to present you with a gun. Do not disgrace it!"

From the army of the Potomac Gen. Howard was ordered with his corps to Tennessee, to join the army of the Cumberland.

On the morning of October 26th, the greater portion of his corps moved with the force under Gen. Hooker toward Lookout Valley. Gen. Geary's division of the 12th corps was posted near Wanhatchie, three miles from the position held by Howard's corps. When the enemy fiercely attacked Geary, Howard double-quickened his nearest division, Schurz's, to his relief. Meanwhile his first division, under Steinwehr, came up, when it was discovered that the hill to the rear of Schurz's division was also occupied by the enemy in force. Smith's brigade of this division was ordered to carry it with the bayonet. This skeleton but brave brigade charged up the mountain, almost inaccessible by daylight, under a heavy fire, without returning it, and drove three times their number from behind the hastily thrown up entrenchments, capturing prisoners, and scattering the enemy in all directions. No troops ever rendered more brilliant service.

In his official report of the battle, Gen. Hooker expresses his appreciation of the zealous and devoted services of Gen. Howard, not only on the battlefield, but every where and at all times.

After Gen. Geary was attacked in Lookout Valley, Gen. Howard with a few members of his staff, started on ahead of Schurz's division to assure him that support was rapidly coming up. To get to Geary, Gen. Howard had to go far to the right of Jenkins' division, and toward the base of one portion of Raccoon Mountain. On his way, passing through woods, across fields, trap ditches and runs, he came upon a small force of the enemy, that had been acting on the right flank of Jenkins' division. Halt to him they did not, but question him they did. "Who are you?" asked the commanding officer of the rebels. "Friends," answered the General, and continued, "did you whip the enemy?" "No," was the reply, as the rebel command moved back; "but we would have done so had not our regiments run off and left us here. You had better be careful in going forward, for their (our) men are just on the edge of the woods." "I'll be careful." So the rebels went one way and Gen. Howard the other, reaching General Geary's headquarters a few minutes afterward, and communicating his intelligence.

At the battle of Chattanooga, which resulted in the utter defeat of Bragg's army by Gen. Grant, after the reconnoissance made by Gen. Wood on the first day of the battle, November 23, in which so important a point had been gained, known as Bald Knob, that it was determined to hold it, the division of Gen. Sheridan was moved forward on his right, to support him, while Gen. Howard's corps moved on his left, in order to protect his flank. A small but deep stream lay in Gen. Howard's front, and it was determined to take possession of that as a defile to his position. But the enemy had built strong rifle-pits on the east bank of this stream. Though the enemy in Wood's front had been routed, there still remained a force in the works on the left flank, and these were developed as soon as Gen. Howard moved forward and attempted to take position on this creek,—called Citico. He became engaged in a sharp skirmish, the enemy persistently holding their own. Seeing this, General Granger sent Gen. Samuel Beatty, hitherto in reserve, by a flank movement, to the right of this position. He came upon the enemy's left flank very unexpectedly, and, after a few minutes' fighting on their flank, with a vigorous attack by Gen. Howard in front, the enemy fell back, and we found ourselves in entire possession of their first line of rifle-pits, and the important portion of Bald Knob. The positions taken were intrenched, and the center found itself next morning in a strong, defensive position, awaiting operations on the flanks.

The next day Gen. Howard opened communications with Gen. Sherman from Chattanooga, who had seized and began intrenching himself at the extremity of Missionary Ridge nearest the river.

On the 25th cannonading and musketry were heard all day long from Gen. Sherman, and Gen. Howard marched the 11th corps to join him. The enemy was attacking our center. This day's operations resulted in a complete rout of the enemy, and brought new laurels to Gen. Howard and his gallant corps for the part they took in what has been pronounced the best directed and best ordered battle of the war.

After Hooker's engagement at Ringgold, the 11th corps with the 4th and 15th, under the command of Gen. Sherman, marched to relieve Gen. Burnside at Knoxville, at which place Gen. Howard remained until December 17th, when he returned to Lookout Valley.

The name of Gen. Howard is dear to the people of Maine. At the age of thirty-three he has attained the eminent rank of Major General, with the command of an army corps. During the war he has acquired a brilliant reputation as a brave, intrepid and accomplished officer. His sense of duty is such as not to allow him to shrink from any danger which his men are required to face,—a most noble example. His whole heart is in the cause of his country, to which he has devoted his life. A correspondent who visited Gen. Howard at his headquarters last April, thus speaks of him:

"He is a true christian, making no display of his religion, but living such a consistent life, and bringing his christianity so quietly yet fearlessly into the business of every day, that he commands for it the respect even of the German infidels among his troops. The life of this man here in the field, amid the perplexities of a large command, and the temptations of military life, would put to shame many a godly dreamer in his own quiet home. His devotions come as regularly as the morning light. However pressing may be the time, he calls his staff about him, and they bow before the Lord of Hosts before any other business can be transacted. Yet, when the storm of battle comes, in the forefront where the bullets are thick and the death shots many, rides a General with a single arm,—a General who has the confidence of his men, for they know that he is a christian hero. On the morning of the South Mountain battle, the fighting began before he had finished his breakfast. When the camp fare had been disposed of, he turned to his Adjutant General and said: 'We have not had our devotions yet!' Those around him were excited by the sight and sound of the conflict, but the General took his Bible, quietly read a whole chapter, knelt down and prayed with fervent simplicity, and then, having performed his duty as a soldier of the cross, he rose and exclaimed: 'Now we are ready for work!'"

General Rufus Ingalls was born in Denmark in this State, August 23d, 1820. He entered the Military Academy at West Point in 1839, and graduated July 1st, 1843, as Brevet Second Lieutenant of Rifle Regiment, formerly Second Dragoons, now Second Cavalry. With his regiment he was sent to duty in Louisiana, where he served with the late rebel Gen. Twiggs, on the borders of Texas, when that State was a Republic.

In 1845, he was promoted to a lieutenancy in the First Dragoons, and joined that regiment at Fort Leavenworth in May of that year. During the Mexican war he was adjutant of that post, which was most of the time under Gen. Kearney, with whom he went afterwards into New Mexico. During the insurrection in the early part of 1847, he was present in the conflicts at Embudo and Pueblo-de-Taos, and for his gallantry and good conduct on those occasions he was brevetted.

In January, 1848, he was made a captain in the Quartermaster's Department, and in April following sailed for California with the first troops that were sent to that coast. Here he remained several years.

Before the attack on Fort Sumter, he returned to the Atlantic States, and sailed with the command of Col. Brown, as chief quartermaster, to reinforce Fort Pickens, where he served until July 1st, 1861, when he was withdrawn, and ordered to do duty as Chief Quartermaster on the south side of the Potomac, at Arlington, where his duties were laborious and responsible, and where he served with signal success, in consideration of which he was appointed an aide-de-camp, Sept. 28th, of that year, to Gen. McClellan, with rank of lieutenant colonel. January 12th, 1862, he was made a Brigadier General of Volunteers, for fourteen years faithful service in the quartermaster's department; and on the retirement of Gen. Van Vliet, he was made Chief Quartermaster of the army of the Potomac, which position he still holds.

Brig. Gen. Henry Prince of Eastport, graduated at West Point Military Academy Sept. 18th, 1835, Brevet 2d Lieutenant 4th Infantry. May 23d, 1855, was made paymaster with rank of major. April 28th, 1862, was commissioned Brigadier General of Volunteers.

Brig. Gen. N. J. Jackson of Lewiston, at the commencement of the war, was captain of the light infantry company at that place. When the first call for troops was made, he volunteered with his command for three months, which formed a part of the 1st Regiment, of which he was made Colonel. After their term of service expired he returned, and was shortly afterward appointed to the command of the 5th Regiment, attached to the Army of the Potomac. He served with distinction through the Peninsular campaign under McClellan, and was wounded at the battle of Gaines' Mills. He also served under Pope in Virginia. On recommendation of Gen. McClellan, he was appointed Brigadier General, Sept. 24, 1862. He is now in command of the rendezvous camp at Ricker's Island, New York harbor.

Brig. Gen. Frank S. Nickerson of Searsport, went out with the 4th Regiment at the beginning of the rebellion, and served with distinction through the arduous and trying Peninsular campaign, rising from the grade of captain to that of lieutenant colonel. Dec. 31st, 1861, he was commissioned colonel of the 14th Regiment, which went to the Department of the Gulf. At the battle of Baton Rouge, Aug. 5th, 1862, his regiment led the advance. On this occasion his horse was shot under him, and for the daring and cool courage he displayed, he was complimented by Gen. Butler. November 29th of that year he was commissioned Brigadier General.

Brig. Gen. Cuvier Grover of Bethel, was graduated at West Point Military Academy, July 1st, 1850, as Brevet Second Lieutenant, First Artillery. Sept. 17th, 1858, he was made Captain. April 14th, 1862, he was commissioned Brigadier General of Volunteers. It was his division of Gen. Banks' army that led the first advance on Port Hudson, distinguishing himself in the siege of that stronghold. He also served with distinction in the Teche country campaign.

Brig. Gen. George F. Shepley, son of Ex-Chief Justice Shepley, was born in Saco, graduated at Dartmouth, studied law at Cambridge, and entered upon the practice of his profession in Bangor, in which he soon took high rank. Subsequently he removed to Portland, where at the close of President Polk's administration he was appointed U. S. District Attorney, a position he held to the close of Mr. Buchanan's administration.

Gen. Shepley began his military career as Colonel of the 12th Regiment Volunteers, raised in this State under his direction, and which was a part of Gen. Butler's New England Division which went to New Orleans. After the capture of that city he was appointed its military commandant, and afterwards Governor of the State, which office he now fills. His administration of affairs has given general satisfaction to loyal people and been worthy of praise. July 18th, 1862, he was made Brigadier General of Volunteers.

Brig. Gen. Joseph T. Copeland was born in Maine, and received his appointment as Brigadier General from Michigan, Nov. 29th, 1862, in which State he resided.

Brig. Gen. E. W. Hinks, born in Maine, went out Colonel of a Massachusetts regiment in the early part of the war. Nov. 29th, 1862, he was made Brigadier General of Volunteers. On account of a wound, he was incapacitated for active service, and assigned to the command of the rendezvous for drafted men in New Hampshire.

Brig. Gen. Albion P. Howe, born in this State, graduated from the Military Academy at West Point, Second Lieutenant of Infantry, July 1st, 1841. March 2d, 1855, he was promoted to Captain. June 11th, 1862, he was made Brigadier General of Volunteers, and assigned to the command of 2d Division, 6th Army Corps, Army of the Potomac.

General Seth Williams of Augusta, entered as a cadet at West Point Academy in 1838, and graduated July 1st, 1842, as Brevet Second Lieutenant, Second Artillery. In the war with Mexico, he served as aid-de-camp to Gen. Patterson. On the termination of the war he served as Post Adjutant at West Point, and was subsequently transferred to the office of the Adjutant General at Washington. On the formation of the Army of the Potomac, he was made its Adjutant General, a position he has held up to the present time, being acknowledged as an officer of rare executive ability.

Major General Erasmus D. Keyes, though born in Massachusetts, was appointed and entered the Military Academy at West Point from Maine in 1828. July 1st, 1832, he graduated Brevet Second Lieutenant, Third Artillery, in which regiment he served till 1837, when he was appointed Assistant Adjutant General. In 1841, he was placed in command of his company, which position he held until 1844, when he was appointed instructor of cavalry and artillery at West Point, which position he held during the Mexican war. At the commencement of the rebellion he was appointed May 14th, 1861, Colonel 11th Infantry, and three days afterwards Brigadier General, and attached to the Army of the Potomac. May 5th, 1862, he was made Major General of Volunteers, and assigned to the command of the 5th Army Corps.

Brig. Gen. James H. Carlton, a native of Maine, entered the U. S. Army Oct. 18th, 1839, Second Lieutenant, First Dragoons. May 9th, 1861, he resigned; May 14th was re-appointed, and made Major in the Regular Army Sept. 7th of the same year. April 28th, 1862, he was commissioned Brigadier General of Volunteers.

Brig. Gen. E. P. Scammon of Pittston, was appointed from Ohio, Oct. 15th, 1862.

Brig. Gen. Lysander Cutler of the Army of the Potmac, in early life came to Maine from Massachusetts, and settled in Dexter. At the time of the difficulties growing out of the northeastern boundary question, he was Lieut. Col. of a regiment sent to the frontier. In 1857 he went to Wisconsin, where at the breaking out of the war he was appointed to the command of the 6th Wisconsin Regiment of Infantry, composed largely of eastern men. The regiment was attached to the Army of the Potomac, and afterward to the command of Gen. McDowell on the Rappahannock. It was in the second battle of Bull Run, where its commander received a dangerous wound in the thigh. Upon his recovery he was appointed to the command of a brigade in the Army of the Potomac. At the battle of Gettysburg Gen. Cutler led the first column that engaged in the strife, under the command of Major Gen. Reynolds, who was killed, and he was actively engaged in the whole of that terrible and decisive struggle, losing three horses which were shot from under him, but escaping himself unharmed. He is still attached to the Army of the Potomac.

Brig. Gen. James G. Blunt, on leaving his native State emigrated to Ohio, and afterwards to Kansas, where he pursued the calling of a physician. At the outbreak of the rebellion he enlisted as a private, but was promoted to the Lieut. Colonelcy of the 3d Regiment Kansas Volunteers. His operations were confined mostly to Southern Kansas. In April, 1862, he was made a Brigadier General and placed in command of the Department of Kansas, which then comprised Kansas, the Indian country, Colorado, Nebraska and Dacotah, winning a glorious record by his administration of affairs and his capacity in the field. At the battle of Prairie Grove, he defeated the rebel General Hindman with immense slaughter, the enemy leaving not not less than 2,000 dead and wounded on the field.

Major Gen. C. C. Washburn, brother of ex-Gov. Washburn of Maine, was born at Livermore in 1818. At an early period of his life he settled in Wisconsin, from which State he was sent to Congress three consecutive terms. At the commencement of the war he offered his services to the government and was appointed to a command. He served with distinction under Grant, and was present at many of the battles of the Western campaign. On Nov. 29, 1862, he was appointed a Major General of Volunteers, and soon afterwards assigned to command in West Louisiana, where he did good service. He is now connected with an expedition in Texas, and at last accounts was at Matagorda, which had been captured by our forces.

Brig. Gen. Adelbert Ames of Rockland was graduated from West Point in 1861, among the first in his class, receiving honorable mention in the official Army Register. After graduation he was made Second Lieutenant, Second Regiment United States Artillery. In the first battle of Bull Run he was severely wounded. His gallantry on that occasion was mentioned by Capt. Griffin in his official report, to whose battery he was attached.

He was twice recommended for brevets for his gallant and meritorious conduct during the peninsula campaign, in which he commanded Battery A, Fifth U. S. Artillery.

In August, 1862, he received the appointment of Colonel of the 20th Regiment, subsequently attached to one of the brigades of the 1st Division, 3d Corps. At the battles of Antietam, Shepardstown Ford and Fredericksburg he distinguished himself, leading his men at the last named battle in advance of the colors, under a deadly fire, his gallantry inspiring the whole brigade.

In February, 1863, he was detailed by Gen. Hooker as Inspector of the Engineer Corps of the Army of the Potomac.

At the battle of Chancellorsville he acted as a volunteer aid on the staff of Gen. Meade, and for his bravery on that occasion he was made a Brigadier General, and assigned to the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, 11th Corps.

At the battle of Beverly Ford, he was detailed to command a picket brigade of infantry. At the battle of Gettysburg, after Gen. Barlow was wounded, he commanded the 1st Division of the 11th Corps, which went to the assistance of the 12th Corps when hard pressed by the enemy in his attack upon our right, driving him back with great slaughter. In August he was transferred to the Department of the South.

Gen. Ames is one of our youngest Generals, and has a splendid record for gallant conduct and meritorious deeds.

Brig. Gen. John C. Caldwell of East Machias went out as Colonel of the Eleventh Regiment, and for his soldierly conduct and personal valor at the battle of Williamsburg he was promoted, exchanging his eagle for a star. At the battle of Antietam his brigade captured more guns and colors than any other brigade in the army. At Gettysburg he succeeded Gen. Hancock to the command of the 1st Division, 2d Corps, which position I believe he still holds. In this battle his division suffered severely. Gen. Caldwell received no military education, but has on every occasion not only shown coolness and bravery, but has evinced a high order of executive ability.

Brig. Gen. Neal Dow of Portland, known and esteemed throughout the civilized world for years as one of the most able of the eloquent promoters of freedom and its attendant virtues, forsook the comforts of affluence, and entered the service of government as Colonel of the 13th Maine Volunteers, raised through his exertions in the autumn of 1861. The history of that regiment, and his connection with it, is found in my Annual Report of 1862, page 125. He was made Brigadier General in 1862, and given an important command in the Department of the Gulf. Gen. Dow has shown upon well fought fields, that the hopes of his friends as to his ability and bearing in the face of danger, have been fully realized. He was made prisoner while awaiting recovery from sickness in Louisiana, and has been in confinement in Richmond and elsewhere in the South. Gen. Dow's dignity of character has evidently impressed his captors favorably, and to him have they conceded the duties of an umpire in the distribution of such stores as have been passed to Richmond for the benefit of our brave soldiers there imprisoned. It is hoped that my next Report will contain a statement from under the General's own hand, of his military career, and experience of life in rebel prisons.

HEROIC ACTS.

Sergeant Otis O. Roberts, Co. H, Sixth Regiment, with only five men, captured the colors of the 8th Louisiana Regiment, at Rappahannock Station, November 7th, after a severe hand-to-hand fight, and compelled the whole color company to surrender.

Privates Robinson, Hitchings and Chick, Co. B, and private Lawrence, Co. G, Sixth Regiment, at Rappahannock Station, November 7th, captured three commissioned officers and one hundred and seventy-five men of the enemy.

Lieutenant A. S. Lyon, Fifth Regiment, captured the colors of the 8th Louisiana Regiment, at Rappahannock Station.

James Littlefield, private Co. I, Fifth Regiment, captured the colors of the 6th North Carolina Regiment at Rappahannock Station.

Corporal E. P. Blondell, Co. D, Fifth Regiment, captured the colors of the 7th North Carolina Regiment at Rappahannock Station.

Corporal T. Shackford, Co. A, Fifth Regiment, captured the colors of the 54th North Carolina Regiment at Rappahannock Station.

Corporal Ansel Drew, Co. A, First Cavalry, at the battle at Brandy Station, July 9th captured the battle flag of Hampton's Brigade of Cavalry, and brought it off the field. The trophy was forwarded by Col. Douty to this department, previous to the fatal but brilliant encounter at Aldie, in which he lost his life.

Corporal Boston, with three men of Co. B, Seventh Regiment, captured forty prisoners at the battle of Fredericksburg and brought them in.

Private Moses C. Hanscom, Co. F, Nineteenth Regiment, had the honor of bearing off a battle flag at the battle of Bristow Station.

Major J. D. Bullen, Twenty-Eighth Regiment, during the spirited defence of Fort Butler, proved himself an able and brave man. He was in command of the garrison, and seemed to be everywhere present cheering his men. Before the fight commenced, he called his men to the area of the fort and pointed to our National emblem, the effect of which was electrical.

Private Daniel C. Hoyt, Co. C, Ninth Regiment, was one of two who captured two rebel flags in the action of July 10th on Morris Island, which gallant deed was made the subject of a special letter from Gen. Gillmore to Gov. Coburn.

Many deeds of heroism in the field, of which these are only a small number, have made bright the record of Maine in this rebellion. Nor less noble and worthy are the acts of true heroism, which at home have honored the State and nation in the many sacrifices of dear and loved ones that have been made upon the altar of country. As an example of moral heroism of this nature which has been particularly called to my attention and is deserving at least of a passing note, may be mentioned the case of Rev. J. A. Kennedy, a poor and humble though worthy minister of the gospel, who lived when the rebellion commenced in Somerville, Me. Aged and infirm, unable to go to war himself, he sent in the ranks his three and only living sons, his sole dependence and support, who with willing hearts went out to fight for their own and their father's country. The old man when asked why he did not keep one son at home to care for him, said, "they must go and do their duty—the Lord will take care of me.” Of these sons, two, Isaac N. Kennedy of 3d Maine Volunteers, and Joseph Kennedy of 8th Maine Volunteers, have lost their lives in the service. Such good old men as Mr. Kennedy deserve well of State and country, while kind sympathy and generous action should cheer their declining years and mark the gratitude with which we appreciate their patriotism.

The Kearney Medals of Honor have been presented this year, to my knowledge, to the following non-commissioned officers and privates of Maine Regiments, for their distinguished bravery and gallant services in battle:

Third Regiment. Sergt. William B. Paris, Private J. L. Little, Co. A; Sergt. K. Johnson, Corp. A. C. Rowe, Co. B; Sergts. L. Crawford. G. M. Haughton, Corp. D. Maxey, Co. C; Sergt. H. H. Shaw, Corp. H. Kennerson, Co. D; Sergt. G. L. Chamberlain, Corp. C. J. Dalton, Private H. J. Roach, Co. E; Sergts. O. M. Nason, J. Durgin, Private A. Luce, Co. F; Sergts. G. E. Davis, H. C. Webber, Co. G; Corp. P. F. Rowe, Private R. Cochrane, Co. H; Sergt. N. W. Jones, Privates L. W. Brown, Lemuel Powell, Co. I; Sergt. B. W. Smart, Corps. A. G. Wood, W. G. Wilson, Co. K.

Wentworth, John H. Simpson, A. J. Harmon, Co. I; Sergt. Isaac O. Parker, Privates Edward G. Parker, F. A. Butland, G. J. Strout, Co. K.

THE GALLANT DEAD.

The following sketches and notices have been furnished of a few of the many sons of Maine who have fallen in the present war:

Major General HIRAM G. BERRY was born in Thomaston, now Rockland, Aug. 27th, 1824. On reaching manhood he was regarded as one of the most useful and enterprising citizens in that section, and was honored by being sent to the Legislature to represent his native place. After Rockland became a city he was elected its second Mayor. While engaged in pursuing the peaceful callings of civil life, his attention was turned to matters of a military nature, in which he displayed an ability of a high order from the outset. His efforts originated the Rockland Guards, which he commanded for several years.

On the breaking out of the rebellion he was among the first to offer his services in his country's defence. Enlisting with his company in the 4th Regiment, he was commissioned Colonel of that corps, which, while under his command, was considered one of the best disciplined and most efficient regiments in the army; a reputation it has ever since maintained.

At the first battle of Bull Run, he developed a military genius which gave evidence of a brilliant career and made him a marked man. He was the first to discover the retreat of the enemy, which fact he immediately caused to be telegraphed to President Lincoln.

In March, 1862, he was promoted to the rank of Brigadier General, and assigned to the 3d Brigade, 1st Division, 3d Corps. He entered at once upon a discharge of his duties with his characteristic energy, and at the siege of Yorktown, which shortly followed, he distinguished himself both in the trenches and in the field. At the battle of Williamsburg he was awarded the honor of having saved the day. By a rapid movement on that occasion he hastened to Hooker's relief in the front, during a pelting rain storm, and by his skillful manoeuvring drove the foe to his rifles pits, and ended the fight by driving him thence, capturing a large number of prisoners and re-taking all our artillery that had been lost. By his timely arrival with his command, Gen Heintzleman acknowledged that Hooker's division was saved from defeat, and the battle turned in our favor.

At the battle of Fair Oaks, May 31st, he hurled back the enemy who had repulsed Casey's and Couch's divisions, retaking all the ground that had been lost, and holding his position until reinforced. When moving to support the front, pressing on with his brigade through the mass of defeated Federal troops who were flying in all directions, he was met by Gen. Kearney, who asked him, if he was not afraid to take his men through such a rabble, when he quickly replied: "No, sir, not if I march at their head." This gallant reply was characteristic of the man. He never demanded of his men the performance of a duty that he was not willing to undertake, even at the hazard of his life. The next day when the enemy was routed, one of the regiments of his brigade, Third Michigan, drove four rebel brigades in succession from the woods. Gen. Berry was foremost in the fight, having three of his staff killed, and his own hat and clothes pierced with shot. In a report of the battle, Prince de Joinville, who was an eye-witness, states: "As at Williamsburg, Kearney arrives in good time to re-establish the fight. Berry's brigade of this division, composed of Michigan regiments and an Irish battalion, advances as firm as a wall into the midst of the discordant mass which wander over the battle-field, and does more by its example than the most powerful reinforcements." Generals McClellan, Hooker, Kearney, and Heintzleman also, complimented him for his skill and undaunted bravery. The latter officer in his report, speaking of his troops, says that they "most gallantly kept their position on the rebels' right flank, and kept up such a deadly fire that no effort the enemy made could dislodge them."

They remained till dark, firing away sixty rounds of ammunition to each man, and then supplying themselves with cartridges from the dead and wounded. Their fire completely commanded the open space in their front, and not a mounted man succeeded in passing under their fire."

After this battle he was ordered to erect fortifications and to establish a picket line, the right resting on Hooker's left and running below White Oak Swamp, connecting with the 2d Corps, a distance of about five miles. The position of this picket line, being in the advance, was an exposed one. For nearly a month there was picket fighting almost every day, besides three severe engagements which occurred. The line was, however, maintained at all hazards, according to his orders, his men fighting immediately under his eye. Faithful to his trust, notwithstanding his life was at one time briefly threatened by disease occasioned by his arduous labors, care and exposure, he remained at his post.

The battle of Gaines' Mills resulted in our army being driven, and all communications with White House Landing, our base of operations, cut. A new base having been decided upon, Gen. Berry, after being consulted in regard to the crossing of White Oak Swamp, was ordered to build roads immediately for the passage of the army, which work he accomplished in twenty-four hours. The army then commenced its movement toward James River, Gen. Berry covering the retreat, skirmishing with the enemy on the way.

Two days afterward was fought the battle of Glen Dale. While the battle was raging, Gen. Kearney being unwell, the command of his division was turned over to Gen. Berry, his brigade remaining in the reserve. The attack of the enemy in full force caused a portion of the reserve to abandon his position, whereupon General Berry immediately filled up the gap by placing his brigade in the opening, and sending for reinforcements. For three hours the fight raged fearfully, we losing heavily. But every assault of the enemy was repulsed. During the battle Gen. Berry was slightly wounded by a musket ball which cut into his sword belt.

The battle of Malvern Hill followed, which was fought on our side mostly by artillery. His brigade was on the right of the line engaged in supporting batteries in an exposed position until the enemy was repulsed, and left us at night masters of the field.

On the arrival of the army at Harrison's Landing, his brigade was assigned a position on the center of the front line. In consequence of its great loss in men and officers, and the large amount of service it had performed during the retrograde movement, it was excused from performing any fatigue duty.

The hardships and privations of the Peninsular campaign, together with a severe cold caught on his arrival at Harrison's Landing, so affected Gen. Berry's health that he returned for the first time since his departure, to his home. During the brief period he remained at Rockland, the most lavish ovations were paid him by his fellow-townsmen, as a token of their appreciation of his noble and gallant conduct. Notwithstanding his health was not fully restored, his convictions of duty were such, that he felt he could be absent no longer, and before three weeks had expired he returned to his command.

During the Maryland campaign he was assigned to duty in the fortifications at Upton's Hill.

At the battle of Fredericksburg, December 13th, after crossing the Rappahannock and moving down the plain under a terrible fire, he supported with his brigade four batteries of artillery. On the repulse of Gen. Franklin, the enemy pursued that officer's command through Gen. Berry's lines, when the latter opened on the enemy with grape and musketry, driving him back with heavy loss. It is related that Gen. A. P. Hill, the Confederate General commanding the division opposed to Gen. Berry, took occasion, under a flag of truce, to compliment him for his generalship; the only instance of the kind, it is believed, that has occurred during the war.

In March, 1863, the rank of Major General was conferred on Gen. Berry, and he was assigned to the command of the 2d Division, 3d Corps, which had so long been under the command of Gen. Hooker, and was acknowledged to be one of the best in the army of the Potomac.

At the battle of Chancellorsville the heroic Berry gave his life to his country and to mankind. When Gen. Hooker commenced operations, Gen. Berry was ordered with his division down the river, as a feint to cover the real move intended upon the right. As soon, however, as Gen. Hooker had got well across the river above Fredericksburg, Gen. Berry was ordered to rejoin his corps at Chancellorsville, which he did with his usual promptness. A correspondent states that when the 11th Corps commenced coming, panic stricken, down the road toward head quarters, it was a critical situation, and brought out the superb resources of Gen. Hooker. Whom, of all others, should he send in at this fearfully critical moment but the darling child of his own creation—his own corps, now commanded by Gen. Berry? "General!" shouted the commander, "throw your men into the breach—receive the enemy on your bayonets—don't fire a shot—they can't see you!" At the double-quick that glorious band rushed to the rescue. Pressing up in their horrid array of glittering steel, the enemy's advance was quickly checked, and he had to withdraw to the line of breastworks just vacated by the 11th Corps. In an account of this last and greatest success of Gen. Berry's, Gen. Howard, in a letter to me, states that he met him (Gen. Berry) close by his line of battle on Saturday, May 2d, near the plank road south of Chancellorsville. He had drawn up his division of veteran troops perpendicular to and upon both sides of the road to cover the retreat of the 12th Corps, and check any further advance of the enemy in that direction. "He met me with great cordiality, consulted as to where the line would be hardest pressed, and in answer to my suggestion that the chief difficulty would be upon his right, said, 'Well, General, if you will take care of the left here, I will go to the right,' and he went in that direction." Upon this he put himself at the head of his brave men, and with an irresistible charge they drove back the rebels, and retook the ground which the latter had won.

The next morning Gen. Berry fell. The circumstances attending his death are related by Capt. J. B. Greenhalgh, a member of his staff, as follows: Turning to Capt. G., Gen. Berry directed him to ride to Gen. Hooker's head quarters and inquire for orders as to whether he should hold his position or not. Capt. G. at once started, and Gen. Berry and the remainder of his staff dismounted, Gen. Berry saying that he would walk across the plank road,—only a few rods,—and communicate with Gen. Mott, the senior officer of his division. One of his aids remonstrated against his going, and offered to go in his stead, but the General replied that he would himself go. He started, went across the road, saw Gen. Mott, gave him his orders, turned, and was coming back, and when but a short distance from the spot where the members of his staff stood, a rifle minnie ball struck him in the arm close to the shoulder, passed downward through his vitals, lodged in his hip, killing him almost immediately. His aids saw him fall, and instantly started for him. Lieut. Freeman knelt by his side; "I am dying," said the General, "carry me to the rear." The Lieutenant asked him if he had any wish to express. By a feeble shake of the head he indicated that he had none, and the next moment his spirit had gone forever. The body was at once raised and carried to the Chancellor House, where Gen. Hooker stood. When it was laid before him, he burst into tears, and kneeling down kissed the cold forehead, and then exclaimed, "My God, Berry, why was this to happen? Why was the man on whom I relied so much, to be taken away in this manner?"

After Gen. Hooker had paid this tribute to the lifeless form of Gen. Berry, he ordered it to be carried to the rear at once, where it rested Sunday night in the same room which the General had occupied previous to the late move of the army. While on the way, a squad of the Fourth Maine Regiment, learning that the body of their former commander was being carried by, desired to have it laid down, and each one of the brave fellows came forward, kissed the cold brow of the man they loved, and had just followed into the battle-field, and then silently and tearfully took their places in the ranks.

Upon the arrival of the remains of Gen. Berry in Washington, the wish was expressed by President Lincoln and Gen. Halleck, that funeral services should be performed in that city; but his friends determined that his obsequies should be held in Rockland.

On Monday, the day following his death, the citizens of Rockland received intelligence of the lamented event, and in the evening the city authorities met and chose a committee of arrangements to make preparations for the reception of the body, and take the necessary measures for giving the honored dead such a burial, as his rank, distinguished services, and heroic end merited. On the ensuing Saturday, the body—accompanied by a detachment of the Maine Seventh Regiment, as a Guard of Honor, and a delegation of Rockland citizens appointed to receive it in Portland and escort it to Rockland—arrived in the latter place by steamer. Minute guns were fired on the shore, from the time the steamer rounded Owl's Head, until she touched the wharf in Rockland harbor. All the bells in the city were tolled, places of business and public buildings were closed, and the Supreme Court, which was in session, adjourned. The buildings generally were draped in mourning, and flags placed at half-mast. The remains were committed to the city authorities, in the presence of an immense concourse of people who had come forth to honor the sad occasion, with appropriate ceremonies, after which they were removed to the late residence of the deceased, where they lay in state until the following Thursday, when the funeral ceremonies took place. The religious exercises were held at the residence, where an eloquent discourse—a just tribute to General Berry, and a fair summary of his glorious career, was pronounced by Rev. Nathaniel Butler. The body was then escorted to the cemetery, where it was buried with Masonic honors, after which three volleys were fired over the grave by the military. Among those present to do honor to his memory and bear testimony to his distinguished military services, were Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, Vice-President of the United States, Governor Coburn and Staff, Ex-Gov. Washburn, Hon. Lot M. Morrill, U. S. Senator, Hon. S. C. Fessenden, Judge Rice, Major-General J. H. Butler and Staff, Major-General William H. Titcomb and Aids, Capt. J. B. Greenhalgh, member of the lamented General's Staff, and many others.

In making a record of Gen. Berry's character, one who had been an intimate friend during the last two years of his life, says: "Gen. Berry was a man of marked ability, which distinguished him in every position he filled. Under the guidance of a benignant Providence, he was the architect of his own fortune. His own ability and industry raised him from the more humble condition of his early life, to the eminence he reached. In all the important efforts of his life, it may be truly said, he never failed. He surprised men by what he accomplished—he never disappointed them by his failure. Although he enjoyed no advantages for literary culture beyond those which are possessed by nearly every young man in the State, yet he acquired a degree of culture that could fairly characterize him as an educated man; and those who have a right to judge, affirm that his official reports and his correspondence were rarely excelled, in perspicuity and accuracy, by any of our public men. He never spent a day in a military school, and yet he was thoroughly versed in the art of war. He knew his own strength, and was confident in it, and knew how to use it. He quietly formed his own plans, and depending upon himself, entered upon their performance; but men knew little of them till their completion announced them.

"He was a man of untiring energy. During the latter years of his life he maintained an almost ceaseless struggle with disease, and yet his record is what could be expected only of a man of iron frame and perfect health. While in the army he often issued his orders from a sick bed, or rose from that sick bed to lead his soldiers. When his friends and superior officers urged him to suspend his active labors he remained at his post, performing the duties of camp and field, when he seemed more properly a subject for the surgeon's care. * * * His whole military career attests the great resources, the strength of will, and the power of execution, which were never measured by what other men could do.

"He was faithful to the trust committed to him by his country. He held the performance of his duty a most sacred obligation. He never refused to do all that his duty demanded,—even those details which are sometimes felt to be irksome or repulsive. While other officers sought the comforts and luxuries of the metropolis, from the day he left the State with his regiment, till his last battle was fought, he shared the camp, the watch, the painful march, the deadly struggle, with his men. His life was a sacrifice to his fidelity. To those who knew him little, his conduct in the battle in which he lost his life, may seem like rashness. But he would not commit to another what he felt could be done better by himself. His soldiers fought immediately under his eye and by his side. By his personal presence he held his men to their position. * * *

"He was a leader and favorite in the political party which opposed the Administration that governed the country, at the beginning of the war; but when he had girded on his sword in his country's cause, he buried all party prejudices and sectional ties and political preferences, and knew his country first and only his country. * * * He loved the flag of his country. He followed, with all who loved it, wherever it led. He fought beneath it, and though it were tattered and rent by the storms of a hundred battles, he clung to it still,—clung to it until death.

"He was a noble and brave officer. We know not but his daring courage amounted to an utter disregard of his own life. He was never more calm than when the storm of battle raged around him. He served in some of the bloodiest battles of the war, and more than once his command was the last to quit the field. Men fell around him like autumn leaves, and officers of his staff fell dead by his side, and the iron hail pierced the uniform he wore. For two years he was familiar with death as with an associate, and met him oftentimes face to face, but never trembled or grew pale in his presence. Nor was his an animal courage, that was fearless because insensible. With the lion's heart he joined the utmost gentleness and considerateness. He would never ask a soldier to go where he feared himself to go. He could weep over a fallen comrade, but his eagle eye never quailed before a foe. And thus it was to the closing scene. A weaker nature might have been living to-day. But his was one that would not accept life at the price of falling back one step from his post. His brave and gentle nature made him the object not only of the admiration, but of the warm affection of his associates in arms. His soldiers loved him and therefore followed unhesitatingly wherever he led, and stood in their position so long as his commanding form was with them. * * * Blessings shall be upon his memory, and the nation's song shall perpetuate his fame."

GEORGE FRANCIS LEPPEN. In the autumn of 1861, Gov. Washburn, at the request of the War Department, undertook the enlistment and organization of six batteries of Mounted Artillery. It was the especial wish of the government at that time to increase this branch of the service both in numbers and efficiency, and very great stress was laid on the character of the men enlisted and the capacity of the officers appointed to command. The stainless reputation which those batteries have since achieved by the heroism displayed on so many bloody fields of battle, attests the worth and valor of the men composing them and the vigor and skill of the officers who led them.

Wishing to place one of the batteries under the command of a thoroughly educated artillery officer, of experience in the army of the United States, Gov. Washburn wrote to a gentleman of this State who happened at that time to be in Washington, to apply to the War Department for such an officer to be detailed. The application was referred to Gen. Barry, then acting as Gen. McClellan's Chief of Artillery, and his answer was that no such officer could be spared for the purpose. Upon a second interview and a somewhat urgent pressure on the part of the gentleman acting as Gov. Washburn's agent, Gen. Barry remarked that there was a young man serving as a Second Lieutenant in a regiment of heavy artillery from Pennsylvania, then on duty near Chain Bridge, who, he thought, would answer the desired purpose as well as a West Point graduate. He added that the young man had the very warm commendation of Lieut. Col. Barton S. Alexander, of the U. S. Engineers, who never bestowed praise where it was unmerited. He gave the address of the officer as George Francis Leppien. An interview was at once sought and obtained, and in twenty-four hours the young man was on his way to Maine to report to Gov. Washburn for duty.

George Francis Leppien was born in Philadelphia in 1836. His father was a German merchant of wealth and respectability. Determined that his only son should have the highest advantages for culture and improvement, he sent him abroad to be educated, when only eight years of age. Young Leppien remained in Europe at school from 1845 to 1859, enjoying the benefit of the best universities of Germany, and devoting some five years to military study in the leading school of Prussia. Shortly after his return to his home his father died, and the mercantile business, to which he had not intended to devote himself, was thrust upon him as a necessity, in order to preserve the large property which thus descended to him. While thus engaged in active commercial business in what to him was a strange though native land, the cloud of civil war burst suddenly upon the country. His feeling of nationality was intense—for from childhood's years he had stood as a type of Americanism among his school-fellows in a foreign land—and he at once, without waiting for the aids and influences to give him a proper command, rushed to the defence of the nation's flag. He left the counting-room before the echoes of Sumter's guns had died away, joined the first regiment whose enlistment rolls he could find, and by his merit was soon promoted to the Second Lieutenant's post where he was found at the time of his transfer to Maine.

He reached Augusta early in November, 1861, and on the 12th of the same month was commissioned as Captain of the 5th Battery of Mounted Artillery. He at once addressed himself to his official duty with rare intelligence and devotion. Thoroughly skilled in all that pertained to his profession and his station, he was unaffectedly diffident in his bearing, showing always the modesty of true merit. In his intercourse with the men under his command and with his junior officers he was an exemplar and a model, avoiding on the one hand that familiarity which destroys discipline and on the other that cold hauteur which so often begets hatred. In the social circle he rapidly won favor, and during his stay among us he made many friends who have remembered him since with warm affection, and who have learned his heroic end with saddened hearts and “Eyes bedimmed with tears of love.”

In his fourteen months' service in the field the most sanguine anticipations of those who knew him best were more than fulfilled. As a camp disciplinarian, as a scientific and practical artillerist, as commander of a battery in the heat of action, he was everywhere the model soldier. His reputation was such that in the openly declared opinion of the Chief of Artillery of the Army of the Potomac, “no better battery than Leppien's could be found in the U. S. service, either volunteer or regular.” He was in several of the bloodiest battles that have been fought in Virginia within the past year, and at all times bore himself with a gallantry which elicited universal admiration. He never knew the sensation of fear. Bravery of the rarest type was indeed so much an instinct with him that he never realized how great an attribute it is!

For a considerable period during his field service Capt. Leppien filled the position of Chief of Artillery to Gen. Ricketts, commanding the division to which his battery was attached. His rare ability having attracted the attention of Gen. Ricketts and of the brigade commanders and staff officers in his division, they very urgently recommended to Gov. Coburn that he should be promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Colonel of Maine Artillery, a post made vacant by the appointment of Davis Tillson as Brigadier General. Gov. Coburn in pursuance of these recommendations commissioned him as Lieutenant Colonel on the 26th of March, but owing to some delay he was not immediately mustered into the service with that rank. In the battles of May 2d, 3d and 4th he was engaged with his battery, being still in command. He was attached to Sedgwick's Corps, and in the disastrous fight in which that gallant band fought their way against such overpowering odds, Leppien, while successfully maintaining a most important position, was severely wounded in the leg, and was borne from the field. Amputation followed, after great loss of blood, then extreme prostration, mortification of the part, and finally death on the morning of Sunday, May 24th, in the city of Washington. He had been mustered in as Lieutenant Colonel on the 18th. He lies interred in Laurel Hill Cemetery, near Philadelphia.

Though a Pennsylvanian by birth, and educated abroad, his fame belongs to Maine. He was particularly fond of identifying himself with our State. He was proud of his connection with us; proud of the reputation of the Maine troops, and specially proud of his own Battery. He was in the habit of saying that whatever of military standing he enjoyed, had been won for him by "those brave boys." Next to his devotion to his country's cause was the deep attachment he felt for the State which had honored him with a commission, which he in turn so nobly honored himself.

He sleeps in a hero's grave. His life was short, but it was long enough to fill up the full measure of true greatness. Possessed of all that could make this world desirable—wealth, culture, social position, grace of bearing, manly beauty, personal popularity—he yet accounted them all as nothing, and freely gave himself to the cause which he regarded as the highest and holiest. Such a life, however brief, was made full and perfect by such a death. Let us remember him with joy and gratitude, and in after years, when in story and in song shall be told the brave deeds of the brave men of this great era, let no child of Maine forget the youthful hero, who on the bloody heights of the Rappahannock, laid down his life in defending the honor of our flag, and in upholding the glory of our State.

B.

Lieut. J. G. Butler, company D, 7th Regiment, was killed at the storming of St. Mary's Heights, Fredericksburg. He had been connected with the regiment from its organization, and had always proved himself a brave and worthy man.

Major Joel Haycock of Calais, 6th Regiment, killed at Fredericksburg, May 2d.

Capt. Furlong, 6th Regiment, killed at Rappahannock Station, November 7th.

Capt. John C. Keene, 3d Regiment, was killed at Gettysburg. He was in command of the Color company, and fell pierced by four bullets.

Lieut. George S. Kimball, company C, 1st Cavalry, was killed at Aldie, in a charge which resulted in winning the day. He had but a few days before been commissioned as Captain. He was a graduate of Bowdoin College, a lawyer by profession, and a young man of fine ability. His remains were brought to Gardiner, where he was buried under the auspices of the city authorities.

Sergeant Israel Hodsdon, of company H, 6th Maine Volunteers, of Corinth, aged 25 years, mortally wounded in the battle of Rappahannock Station, on the 7th day of November, A. D. 1863, died during his removal from the battle-field to Washington. His remains were embalmed by order of his Captain, and sent home, accompanied by the following letter from his regimental commander:

Head Quarters Sixth Maine Vols.,
Camp near Brandy Station, Va., Jan. 11, 1864. }

General:—I had intended writing you, ere this time, on the subject of your nephew's services, and lamented but glorious death: for if one must die, and die we all must, sooner or later, what death is so honorable, so noble, as that of the "battle-field," in the service of one's country? During a period of thirty months, up to the time he fell, while gallantly cheering on the men at Rappahannock Station, I had known Israel under all the varied phases of a soldier's life: in camp, on the toilsome march, in the roar of battle, and he was always the same: prompt and attentive to duty, respectful to his officers, and kind to the men, by whom he was highly esteemed. The battle in which he fell was the fifteenth in which he had been engaged, in all which he exhibited both courage and capacity, and rose by merit alone from the rank of junior corporal to that of 1st sergeant. I esteemed him highly both as a man and a soldier, and from our long association in that life which tests men as none other does, from our standing shoulder to shoulder through so many hard-fought battles, I almost feel as if I have a right to sympathize with his friends in this deep calamity. And, General, pardon me if I add that all things are ordered by an All-Wise Providence, and that God has undoubtedly caused this deep affliction to visit you for some wise purpose. And if he was to die, you, who have stood at the head of the military profession in our State, can but be pleased that he died in the service you love so well; a service which in Maine at least has in times past been largely controlled by you, and owes its efficiency in a great measure to your efforts. I am, General, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEORGE FULLER, Major Com'dg.

Gen. Isaac Hodsdon, Corinth, Me.

Lieut. Miller, 4th Regiment, was killed at the battle of Chancellorsville. He enlisted as a private and was a young man of promise. He had been home on leave of absence, and joined his regiment only a few hours before the battle.

Capt. John B. Hubbard was killed before Port Hudson, May 27th, while serving on the staff of Gen. Weitzel. He was the son of Ex-Gov. Hubbard of Hallowell, graduated at Bowdoin College, and subsequently fitted himself for the practice of law. At the commencement of the war he was engaged in teaching the High School in Lynn, Mass. He went out originally as 1st Lieutenant of the 1st Battery. His remains were brought home and buried with military honors. Capt. Hubbard was a worthy young man, and had a bright future before him.

Capt. S. C. Gray of Dover, 6th Regiment, killed at Fredericksburg, May 2d.

Capt. John H. Ballinger of Machias, 6th Regiment, killed at Fredericksburg, May 2d.

Capt. Young of Cherryfield, 6th Regiment, killed at Fredericksburg, May 2d.

Capt. G. D. Smith, Company I, 19th Regiment, was killed at Gettysburg.

Lieut. Isaac Murch, Company G, 28th Regiment, was killed during the assault of the enemy on Fort Butler.

Lieut. Dudley H. Johnson, Company H, 17th Regiment, was killed at Fredericksburg.

Capt. Ellis M. Sawyer, Company E, 17th Regiment, died of wounds received at Mine Run Nov. 27th. He was Acting Major. He received especial thanks from Brig. Gen. Ward for his gallant conduct at the battle of Chancellorsville, when our troops were thrown into disorder. With his company Capt. S. held his position until order was restored and our troops rallied.

Lieut. J. M. Brown, 17th Regiment, was killed at Mine Run Nov. 27th.

Private Moses Goodwin, Company C, 9th Regiment, died from wounds received in the action of July 10th, on Morris Island. He was one of two who captured two rebel flags, which gallant deed was made the subject of a special letter from Gen. Gillmore to Gov. Coburn.

No duty has been performed this year that I am aware of by any portions of our militia except the State Guards. Indeed, we have no other military force than this for service within the State, or to respond to any call of the Government in an emergency such as has more than once arisen since the commencement of the rebellion. Capt. L. J. Morse, Company A, of Bangor, in the First Division, promptly obeyed an order of May 8th to attend upon the funeral ceremonies of the late lamented Major General Hiram G. Berry, at Rockland on the 11th of that month. The full ranks and soldierly bearing of this splendid company, on that as well as other occasions, afforded an indication of the immense military power in this and other free States yet slumbering, which might be called into action should legislators ever awaken to a just realization of the necessity of coming to the aid of the Government with such a reasonable proportion of existing physical force, if under a proper militia organization, as may render it some substantial service in the present struggle for its reëstablishment.

No little patriotism and zeal have been manifested the present year by all of our companies of State Guards, in making requisite preparations for the active duty which at one period was regarded as imminent within the State. They were fully armed and equipped and supplied with ammunition from the State arsenals, and there can be no doubt that they would have rendered as efficient service as any other equal number of troops. I have spoken heretofore of the active services of Capt. Beal's Company at Portland, Capt. Stevens' in the Kingfield affair, and Capt. Flint's at Calais, all of which were highly creditable to these commands as citizen soldiers.

The present number of enrolled militia is shown in Appendix II to be 93,875. Any dependence placed upon the exhibit from rolls without annual trainings and inspections has been shown by the operation of the draft law to be wholly unreliable. Able-bodied men will successfully practice deception touching their physical ability to perform military duty, and thus avoid it in time of war, so long as our laws exempt them from a discipline which the Constitutions of the United States and of this State absolutely and unqualifiedly impose, and which it is found can alone practically demonstrate their liability to do this duty, or their just exemption therefrom.

In the expectation (founded upon experience of the past) that the present unaccountable inaction in relation to the organization of the militia will continue, I recommend that $1500 only be appropriated in that event for all the purposes for which such disbursements are usually made. The amount expended the past year, justly chargeable to the State, will not exceed $500. The increase proposed is needed for repair of gun houses, gun carriages, and transportation of arms, equipments, &c., for most of which little or no expenditure has been made for some years.

In the month of October, Hon. John A. Dix, Major General of U. S. Vols., commanding the Department of the East, made a tour of inspection throughout his command, accompanied by his staff. By previous appointment they were met at Portland by His Excellency Gov. Coburn and staff on the 20th, and accompanied to the forts in Portland harbor. The troops and armaments, as well as the works themselves, underwent the most rigid examination by the General, and received his approbation for the unexpectedly advanced state of efficiency in which they were found. Gen. Dix the same day met the citizens of Portland, at their earnest solicitation, at the New City Hall, where he kindly afforded them a specimen of those eloquent teachings which have given him a world-wide reputation as one of the first of the statesmen and patriots of the present day.

Mr. Charles K. Partridge of Augusta has continued to discharge with ability and fidelity the responsible duties devolving upon him as Chief Clerk in my office. The important and complicated task has been especially his, of supervising the account of troops furnished by this State to the Government under its various calls, for different periods of service, for our numerous regiments and corps, both for their original organizations and for recruits sent out to them in the field. It may with propriety be remarked, that at this time no difference of opinion really exists between the War Department and myself respecting the number of troops furnished the Government, inasmuch as it is mutually agreed that the apparent discrepancy of a few hundreds shall be removed by an examination of our files and records on the part of Capt. Bailey or Maj. Gardiner at their earliest convenience. When it is considered that as late as September last, Government charged this State with a deficiency of 6143 three years men, while our records show it to be but 2269, and we secured the admission of the War Department to that result within 684, which last are to depend upon the actual count of enlistment contracts and musters into service therein, as proposed by this office, and moreover that it has been clearly demonstrated that Maine actually furnished in 1861, 1869 men in excess of all calls, no little commendation should be afforded Mr. Partridge for his continuous labors from the first to familiarize himself entirely with the intricate and laborious details of this important line of official duty. In common with all who are in any way connected with the raising of troops in Maine for Government service, we are favored with the continuance as Chief Clerk in the U. S. disbursing office at Augusta, of E. R. Emerson, Esq., a gentleman of whom favorable mention was made in my last annual report, and who continues equally deserving of commendation. Capt. T. C. J. Baily, U. S. mustering and disbursing officer, Adjutant Webber, now Captain in D. C. Cavalry, Capt. Oochran of the 7th, of Monmouth, Inspector, Capt. Brinkerhoff, U. S. Quartermaster, and Mr. Kling, his chief clerk, are all most efficient officers and public servants, and men of courteous and gentlemanly deportment.

Of Major Gardiner, of the U. S. Army, Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General and Military Superintendent of Maine for the U. S. Government, I cannot speak too highly. Possessing the entire confidence of the War Department from having executed trusts of the highest and most responsible character for years with great ability and entire faithfulness, he is enabled to furnish facilities to the State authorities for the prompt and efficient discharge of their duties connected with the Government, which could not be obtained of other incumbents to whom the War Department would be likely to afford less discretionary powers. Major Gardiner is accessible to all, examining fully all cases presented, that he may pass upon them understandingly, and dispenses justice tempered with mercy, promptly and without delay. Maine is especially fortunate in having this gentleman to represent the Government interests in this State.

Appendix D of this Report embraces 948 pages. It will be seen at a glance that if reduced to a less compass, its value must have been greatly impaired. The text and appendix have been cut down to the narrowest possible limits, not only on account of the great expense of publishing, but also that the volume might not prove too cumbersome for convenient reference. Injustice may have been done our gallant troops in excluding from this book a vast amount of historical records of deeds and privations done and suffered, and to this Department in forbearing to exhibit all the details of official labor during the year.

JOHN L. HODSDON,
Adjutant General.

Appendix F presents an exhibit of disbursements for war purposes the present year, amounting in the aggregate to $65,675.67, of which sum, about $50,000 may properly be designated as the liquidated expenses of this Department in 1863, for the services of the General Government. The balance is for bounties and pay accrued in former years, clerkships in Adjutant General's and other Departments, pay of State Guards in Portland and Lewiston, &c.

Quartermaster expenses of 1863, remaining unpaid at this time, are much less in amount than those in previous years paid in 1863, which are comprised in the above-named total.

The items shown in Appendix F, are largely of the character, which renders them apparent under their several designations, and require no explanation. Under the head of "Incidental Expenses," are those of "Enlisting." A large portion of this sum was disbursed to recruiting agents who failed in obtaining appointments and commissions as officers in the three-years organizations, for which they recruited in 1862. The allowance made by the Governor and Council for their services, was $2 per recruit.

The item of $994.24, for expenses of organizing State Militia, accrued under General Order No. 16, of July 5, 1862. See Appendix A, page 5, of Adjutant General's Report for that year.

The $7,935 for clerkships, includes all for the offices of the Adjutant General, the Acting Quartermaster General and Assistants, the Acting Paymaster General and Assistants, Clerks of War Accounts, Clerks to Council for examination and settlement of State Aid Accounts, Clerks to Governor and Commander-in-Chief, Clerks to copy State Enrolments for Provost Marshals, and for all other services of like character arising in the present emergency, and properly chargeable to the United States Government. In view of the fact that the services of ten permanent clerks have been constantly required, and at least twenty-five others have been employed temporarily, the labors of all of whom have been arduous, and some of them most laborious, complicated and difficult, requiring no ordinary degree of skill and application, it will at once be seen that this important item of expenditure for the public service has been brought down to an economical standard, which characterizes all disbursements requiring the sanction of the Executive Council.

STATE OF MAINE.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, June 30, 1863. }

HON. E. M. STANTON, Secretary of War:

SIR:—The startling events at Portland on the 27th inst. (the particulars of which have already been communicated to you from various sources) have revealed most strikingly a carelessness in a military point of view which has existed there ever since the commencement of the rebellion. Fort Gorges, having two tiers of casemates, with some eight or ten guns already mounted, and a large stock of ammunition in the magazine, has had but a single person for night watch. Twenty-five men at least should mount guard there nights. On the Cape, southwardly from Fort Preble, there is a mile or two of beach where boats' crews might readily land unobserved by night, and a line of pickets should be posted there. To the north-east of the city, sentinels having headquarters at Fish Point should patrol for vessels and boats coming by night through that channel toward the city. Under these circumstances it was deemed prudent to call one company of State militia into service for the present (as per General Order No. 8, copy enclosed), especially as the recruits of the 17th U. S. Infantry at Forts Preble and Scammel are hardly adequate in numbers at any time for the proper garrisoning of those forts. The recruits of the 7th Maine Vols. are quartered in barracks from two to four miles from these localities, numbering at present but about thirty-five men, and only remain at Portland a sufficient length of time to collect a single company, when they are promptly despatched to the seat of war to join Lieut. Col. Conner's command, consisting at present of but six companies. If the action embodied in General Order No. 8 fails to meet your approbation, this company of militia will forthwith be mustered out of service.

I have the honor to be,

Most respectfully, your obedient servant,

WAR DEPARTMENT, }

General:

The action of His Excellency the Governor of Maine, mentioned in your letter of the 30th ultimo, is cordially approved by this Department. The urgent demand for troops at the theatre of war, has rendered it impossible to divert any for posts not immediately exposed to the enemy's attacks, and the Department must necessarily rely upon the vigilance and active coöperation of the State executives. Whatever measures may be necessary to give sufficient protection to the public property and security to the people from any reasonably apprehended danger, will be regarded as an important aid to the general service.

Yours truly,

EDWIN M. STANTON, Secretary of War.

Gen. John L. Hodsdon, Adjutant General, Portland, Me.

There must be yet outstanding, nearly $1,000 of unliquidated claims which accrued in the emergency mentioned above, and will, so far as may be allowed and paid, appear in the Exhibit of 1864.

Of the $6,431.62, expended for equipage, the whole amount, (except the $330 paid for drums, issued mostly to companies of State Guards,) was required for the thirteen Regiments of Volunteers, organized and sent into the field in 1862. Such of this property as existed after the departure of these regiments, was issued to the 7th Regiment, and other troops in the U. S. service at Portland and Fort Knox, and to the 29th and 30th of Infantry, 2d Cavalry, and 7th Battery, in camp at Augusta. Nearly $2,000 additional expenditure for stoves, &c., was also found necessary for the organizations last named, which remains unsettled, and must go into the accounts of 1864.

Upon due representations made early in the present year (though several times repeated) to Gen. Ripley of the Ordnance Department at Washington, of the justice of an issue by the General Government of arms, equipments and ammunition to this State, in return for some thousands of muskets furnished our volunteer regiments, some of which were for service in the field, but most of them for guard and drill duty in camp, while being enlisted and organized for the United States service, and which were destroyed or rendered worthless by those troops, and for none of which had any claim for remuneration been made upon the General Government, I received from that office on the 21st of May, 1863, through Major B. H. Gilbreth, M. S. K. of ordnance at Kennebec Arsenal, Augusta, 1045 Enfield rifle muskets with appendages, and through the same channel Sept. 29, 1863, 1000 Enfield rifle muskets with appendages, 1000 sets of accoutrements, and 50,000 rounds of ammunition. All of the first invoice of arms, with most of the accoutrements, received from Government, which constituted a portion of Maine's quota of supplies from the United States for 1862 (being another lot of 1500, as shown on page 4 of Appendix H of this report), were issued to our several companies of State Guards and municipal authorities and citizens, as appears in Appendix G of this report. The issues of ammunition for both ordnance and muskets and rifles, was made largely from the supply provided by the State in the item of $2320.58 before named. Some boxes of cartridges however were borrowed prior to the receipt of the 50,000 rounds Sept. 29th, which were paid from this lot, and deficiencies in previous issues supplied from this source.

The most liberal policy should be adhered to in disbursements necessary to relieve the sick and wounded of our gallant troops. Other expenses cannot, under ordinary circumstances, be of great amount comparatively. An appropriation of $50,000 for War purposes for 1864, will probably be sufficient.

JOHN L. HODSDON,
Acting Quartermaster General.

PAYMASTER GENERAL'S REPORT.

The payments of this year have been almost exclusively those of $55 bounties to volunteers recruited for our regiments in the field, and of $100 bounties to drafted men and substitutes duly mustered into the United States service.

Francis Chase, Esq., of Augusta, clerk of war accounts, and Col. William A. Winship of Portland, have disbursed under special appointment, the $100 bounties above named, to the persons entitled thereto, all of whom went into quarters at the "Camp of General Rendezvous," in Portland, and were sent from there to the several regiments in the field to which they were assigned. The $55 bounties to recruits for old organizations, were disbursed immediately preceding their departure for the field, from the State Treasury, to such as were rendezvoused at Augusta, and by Col. Winship to those who were quartered in Portland.

APPENDIX A.

ACTS OF LEGISLATURE RELATING TO BOUNTIES TO VOLUNTEERS, AND MILITARY ORDERS, CIRCULARS AND INSTRUCTIONS.

AN ACT TO MAKE VALID THE DOINGS OF CITIES, TOWNS AND PLANTATIONS IN RAISING BOUNTIES AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES,

WHEREAS, the various cities, towns and plantations in this state have been twice required during the past year to furnish their several quotas of soldiers in answer to two calls of the president for three hundred thousand men each, and in order to obtain the men with the requisite promptness, with a proper appreciation of the great urgency and pressing necessity of the case, have found it just, humane and necessary to offer bounties and hold forth pecuniary inducements for the purpose of relieving in some measure the hardships and sacrifices incident to a sudden separation from their families, dependents and friends, and to the unavoidable interruption of business; therefore,

SECT. 1. That the doings of all such cities, towns and plantations in offering and paying all such bounties and presenting pecuniary inducements, whether as respects volunteers or drafted men, and including all aid furnished to their families and dependents, all notes, drafts, orders or contracts whatsoever made by said cities, towns and plantations, or their municipal officers or by any person or persons acting in pursuance of a previous vote of said cities through their proper and usual boards of aldermen and council towns or plantations, all taxes assessed or hereafter assessed to raise money for any of the purposes mentioned in this act, or to meet any pecuniary liability arising out of any of the aforesaid doings, are hereby made valid in as full and ample manner as though all the proceedings had been previously authorized by law.

SECT. 2. In all cases where any municipal officers or other persons have advanced money, hired money or assumed any liability for any of the aforesaid purposes without any previous vote of the city, town or plantation, for the raising of whose quota it was done, such cities, towns and plantations are hereby authorized to assume and pay the same and fully indemnify said officers or other persons.

SECT. 3. This act shall take effect when approved.

Approved February 21, 1863.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 5.

The untimely but glorious death of Major-General Hiram G. Berry of Rockland, while commanding a division of United States Volunteers, upon the field of battle at Chancellorsville, Va., on the 3d instant, will sadden all patriotic hearts throughout the Union.

General Berry's military career was most eventful and brilliant, and such was his tried skill and bravery upon numerous well-contested and hard-fought fields, that full and entire trust and confidence was reposed in him by those he led, as well as by his superiors. As Colonel of the Fourth Regiment of Maine Volunteers, raised with his efforts at the commencement of the rebellion, and commanded by him with signal valor at "Bull Run," and as Brigadier-General, with his brigade of four regiments of gallant troops in the Army of the Potomac upon the Peninsula, at "Williamsburg," "Fair Oaks" and "Gaines Mills," and temporarily commanding General Kearney's Division at "Glendale," he won imperishable laurels. At the first battle of "Fredericksburg," General Berry's brigade of seven regiments covered the retreat of General Franklin's troops, and repulsed the enemy with heavy loss, remaining in position fifty-six hours, and losing but one hundred and sixty-two officers and men killed and wounded.

With such a record of inestimable services at such comparatively trifling cost, the wisdom of the Government in commissioning him Major-General, is apparent; and subsequently, in its hour of greatest need, he was not found wanting. His presence and coolness at the critical moment of the battle on the field of which he fell, brought order out of confusion, and confidence and courage took the place of doubt and fear. It is peculiarly fitting that in the last sad offices pertaining to his interment, so much of official respect to his remains, demanded by his high rank and signal services, as may be in our power to afford, shall be promptly paid. It is therefore ordered by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, that the detachment of a subaltern and twenty-four non-commissioned officers and privates, furnished by Colonel E. C. Mason of the Seventh Regiment of Maine Volunteers, from his command, for a guard of honor to the body of the deceased General, accompany the same from Portland to Rockland, and continue on duty therewith until further orders. Capt. L. J. Morse of the A Company of Infantry of State Guards, in the First Division, will appear with his command, uniformed, armed and equipped, at Rockland, on Thursday, the 14th instant, at 12 o'clock, M., for escort duty. Capt. R. H. Tucker, jr., of the Wiscasset Company of Artillery of Coast Guards, will detach one sergeant, one corporal, and eight privates of his command for ordnance duty at the burial of the body of General Berry, at the above time and place, and they will report personally the day previous, to the officer in command of the Guard of Honor, and continue on duty, or awaiting orders, until the close of the services. The necessary transportation and subsistence involved in these orders, and the requisite ammunition, will be provided by the Acting Quarter Master General of the State.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDER No. 8.

Upon the requisition of the Mayor of Portland, Captain John M. Beal, of Company A, State Guards, Third Division, will forthwith detail such portion of his company, or the whole, as may be required for guard or other duty at Portland and vicinity, or any point within the State. Any number more than twenty and less than thirty, will be placed under the command of a Second Lieutenant, and two squads not exceeding sixty in the aggregate, will authorize calling both Lieutenants into the service. Not less than eighty-two non-commissioned officers and privates present, reporting for muster and duty upon the Mayor's requisition, will cause the services and command of all the commissioned officers to be recognized. The Acting Quarter Master General will cause suitable and sufficient arms, equipments, ammunition, subsistence, camp equipage, &c., to be furnished the troops thus detailed for duty. He will also furnish upon the requisition of Mayor McLellan, such ordnance, small arms, ammunition, equipments, &c., for any emergency, as the State Arsenal will afford.

Subsistence for the State troops called into service under this Order, will be furnished at a cost not exceeding thirty (30) cents per ration. Captain Beal will forthwith prepare and file in this office duplicate descriptive Rolls of his command, or such portion thereof as may report for duty and be mustered into the service. A mustering officer will be detailed forthwith to muster said troops into the State service.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GENERAL ORDER No. 9.

Recent demonstrations of the rebels upon our coasts, with their well devised and almost successful scheme for capturing the U. S. revenue cutter Caleb Cushing in Portland harbor, has demonstrated the necessity for increased care and preparations on the part of the people of the seaboard cities and towns to repel any invasion of their rights, and to maintain the honor and dignity of the State and Nation. The Commander-in-Chief therefore requests the patriotic citizens of all such localities to aid in the formation of Companies of State Guards, (if none are there already organized,) to be composed exclusively of citizens between the ages of eighteen and fifty-three years, of known and active loyalty.

Blanks for the enlistment of such Companies will be furnished to proper applicants by the Adjutant General, who is ordered to co-operate in perfecting such organizations immediately. The issue of arms, equipments, ammunition, &c., will be made to them as soon as the enlistment rolls are returned and officers elected and commissioned.

The Ordnance Department at Washington is responding in a most prompt and praiseworthy manner to the request of the Commander-in-Chief for an immediate arming of forts, and those at Portland and the mouths of the Kennebec and Penobscot rivers are already, or soon will be, in condition to protect the ports and shipping which they defend from rebel marauders.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDER No. 10.

Three Regiments of Veteran Volunteer Infantry, and one Battery of Veteran Volunteer Artillery, to serve for three years or during the war, are authorized by the War Department to be raised in this State, under General Order No. 191, of June 25th, 1863, which, with Circular of Instructions from the Provost Marshal General, of the 29th, is herewith promulgated.

This Order, which has the force of law, provides a bounty of $102, for an enlistment and service in either of these organizations.

Par. II of this General Order 191, and instructions under same, admit to this bounty and premium, only able-bodied men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, who have heretofore been enlisted, and have served for not less than nine months, and have been honorably discharged, and can pass the examination required by the mustering regulations of the United States.

Par. V of the Circular, limits the officers of the organizations.

1st—To those honorably discharged by expiration of service of the organization with which they served :

2d—To those honorably discharged by resignation or otherwise prior to expiration of service of their organization.

These provisions and restrictions, will render unavailing, applications to recruit for these organizations, from any but ex-officers of the class specified, unless from persons proposing to enlist men in order to obtain appointments as non-commissioned officers. All applications for authority to enlist men for these Regiments and Battery, should be made at this office.

General Order No. 75, of 1862, (referred to in Par. IV, of the Circular of the 29th ult., issued by the Provost Marshal General,) prescribing the terms and conditions upon which recruiting officers may make enlistments for these organizations, and other requisite details relating thereto, is also herewith promulgated.

The designations by the Commander-in-Chief, of officers, and regiments and companies, for organization and re-enlistment under paragraphs VI and IX, of General Order No. 191, will be made the subject of future Special Orders.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

GENERAL ORDER No. 491.

For Recruiting Veteran Volunteers.

In order to increase the armies now in the field, volunteer Infantry, Cavalry and Artillery may be enlisted at any time within ninety days from this date, in the respective States, under the regulations hereinafter mentioned. The volunteers so enlisted, and such of the three years troops now in the field as may re-enlist in accordance with the provisions of this Order, will constitute a force to be designated "Veteran Volunteers."

The regulations for enlisting this force are as follows;

I. The period of service for enlistments and re-enlistments shall be for three years, or during the war.

II. All able-bodied men, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, who have heretofore been enlisted, and have served for not less than nine months, and can pass the examination required by the mustering regulations of the United States, may be enlisted under this Order as Veteran Volunteers, in accordance with the provisions hereinafter set forth.

III.—Every volunteer enlisted and mustered into service as a Veteran, under this Order, shall be entitled to receive from the United States one month's pay in advance, and a bounty and premium of four hundred and two ($402) dollars, to be paid as follows:

1. Upon being mustered into service, he shall be paid one month's pay in advance,	$13 00
First instalment of bounty,	25 00
Premium,	2 00
Total payment on muster,	$40 00

2. At the first regular pay day, or two months after muster-in, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid, $50 00
3. At the first regular pay day after six month's service, he shall be paid an additional instalment of bounty, 50 00
4. At the first regular pay day after the end of the first year's service, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid, 50 00
5. At the first regular pay day after eighteen months' service, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid, 50 00
6. At the first regular pay day after two years' service, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid, 50 00
7. At the first regular pay day after two and a half years' service, an additional instalment of bounty will be paid, 50 00
8. At the expiration of three years' service, the remainder of the bounty will be paid, 75 00

IV. If the government shall not require these troops for the full period of three years, and they shall be mustered honorably out of service before the expiration of their term of enlistment, they shall receive, upon being mustered out, the whole amount of bounty remaining unpaid, the same as if the full term had been served. The legal heirs of volunteers who die in service shall be entitled to receive the whole bounty remaining unpaid at the time of the soldier's death.

V. Veteran Volunteers enlisted under this Order will be permitted at their option to enter old regiments now in the field; but their service will continue for the full term of their own enlistment, notwithstanding the expiration of the term for which the regiment was originally enlisted. New organizations will be officered only by persons who have been in service, and have shown themselves properly qualified for command. As a badge of honorable distinction, "service chevrons" will be furnished by the War Department, to be worn by the Veteran Volunteers.

VI. Officers of Regiments whose terms have expired, will be authorized, on proper application, and approval of their respective Governors, to raise Companies and Regiments within the period of sixty days; and if the Company or Regiment authorized to be raised shall be filled up and mustered into service within the said period of sixty days, the officers may be re-commissioned of the date of their original commissions; and for the time engaged in recruiting they will be entitled to receive the pay belonging to their rank.

VII. Volunteers or militia, now in service, whose term of service will expire within ninety days, and who shall then have been in service at least nine months, shall be entitled to the aforesaid bounty and premium of $402, provided they re-enlist, before the expiration of their present term, for three years or the war; and said bounty and premium shall be paid in the manner herein provided for other troops re-entering the service. The new term will commence from the date of re-enlistment.

VIII. After the expiration of ninety days from this date, volunteers serving in the three years' organizations, who may re-enlist for three years or the war, shall be entitled to the aforesaid bounty and premium of $402, to be paid in the manner herein provided for other troops re-entering the service. The new term will commence from the date of re-enlistment.

IX. Officers in service, whose Regiments or Companies may re-enlist, in accordance with the provisions of this Order, before the expiration of their present term, shall have their commissions continued, so as to preserve their date of rank as fixed by their original muster into the United States service.

X. As soon after the expiration of their original term of enlistment as the exigencies of the service will permit, a furlough of thirty days will be granted to men who may re-enlist in accordance with the provisions of this Order.

XI. Volunteers enlisted under this Order will be credited as three years' men in the quotas of their respective States. Instructions for the appointment of Recruiting Officers and for enlisting Veteran Volunteers will be immediately issued to the Governors of States.

By order of the Secretary of War.

E. D. TOWNSEND, Assistant Adjutant General.

CIRCULAR.

His Excellency, the Governor of Maine, Augusta, Me.

SIR:—Under General Orders 191, current series, from the War Department, you are hereby authorized to raise three (3) Regiments' Veteran Volunteer Infantry, and one (1) Battery Veteran Volunteer Artillery.

In addition to the requirements of the General Orders cited, the following instructions will govern:

I. Under par. III, of the orders, all men, before they can re-enter the service, must produce an honorable discharge from the service, of the usual form.

II. Under par. IV, of the orders, the advance pay, first instalment of bounty and premium, will be paid as directed in General Orders No. 163, current series, from the Adjutant General's Office.

The additional instalments of bounty will be paid under the regulations of the Pay Department, by Paymasters, when they make the periodical payments of the troops.

The final instalment, or remainder of the bounty, will be paid on the muster-out rolls, at the expiration of the term.

III. All volunteers, who enlist for Regiments in the field, will be provided for, and forwarded to their commands by the Superintendent of the Recruiting Service, for the State, in the same manner as recruits sent heretofore.

IV. For such new organizations as you may raise, the requirements of General Orders No. 75 of 1862, will govern. If you conclude to re-organize Regiments or Companies, the officers of the Regiments or Companies will act as recruiting officers. Should they re-organize their commands, within the period of sixty days, they will be paid according to their rank, on the muster and pay rolls of their Regiments and Companies; should they fail, the requirements of section 2, par. I, General Orders 75, 1862, will be applied to them. In other respects, the requirements of General Orders 75, will govern the recruitment.

V. In selecting officers, the selections will necessarily have to be made from two classes, viz:

1st. Those honorably discharged "by expiration of service" of the organization with which they served.

2d. Those honorably discharged, by resignation, or otherwise, prior to expiration of service of their organizations.

The selections from the 1st Class can be made by you, without reference to this Department, in accordance with your usual rules. In selecting from the 2d, the approval of the War Department will be necessary. To this end, you will please submit to the Adjutant General of the Army, for the action of the War Department, the names of such officers as you may select from this Class. In doing this, you will first assure yourself that they were honorably discharged, and if the discharge was on account of physical disability, a certificate from the Surgeon General of your State, to the effect that the applicant has fully recovered, and is able to undergo the fatigues of a campaign, must accompany the application to re-appoint.

The report received, you will be authorized to re-commission, provided the records of the War Department show that the military history of the officer will justify it.

VI. Re-enlistments under paragraphs 8 and 9 will be conducted under the immediate orders of the War Department through the Adjutant General of the army. These orders will be communicated to the Generals commanding armies and departments; and the re-enlistments, and consequent re-musters, will be under the supervision of the Commissaries and Assistant Commissaries of Musters for the army or department.

I have the honor to be, sir,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES B. FRY, Provost Marshal General.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }

GENERAL ORDER NO. 75.

I. In organizing new regiments of volunteers, the Governors of States are hereby authorized to appoint in addition to the staff officers heretofore authorized, one Second Lieutenant for each company, who shall be mustered into the service at the commencement of the organization, who shall have authority to muster in recruits as they are enlisted. If any recruit shall be enlisted by such officer, who shall afterwards, on medical inspection, prove to have been obviously unfit for the service at the time of his enlistment, all expenses caused thereby shall be paid by such officer, to be stopped against him from any payment that may be coming to him from the Government thereafter.

Any officer, thus appointed and mustered, shall only be entitled to be paid on the muster and pay-roll of his company, and should he fail to secure an organized company within such reasonable time as the Governor may designate, his men may be transferred to some other company, his appointment be revoked, and he discharged without pay; unless the Governor shall think proper to give him a position in the consolidated company to which his men have been transferred.

Articles of enlistment, as in the regular army, will be made out in triplicate by such recruiting officers, one copy of which will be sent to the Adjutant General of the State, one to the Adjutant of the regiment, and one will be kept by the recruiting officer.

Recruits will be sent to the regimental rendezvous at least as often as once a week, where they will be immediately examined by the surgeon of the regiment, and, if found unfit for duty by reason of permanent disability, will be discharged from the service forthwith by the surgeon, who will report such discharges to the Adjutant General of the State, and also to the Adjutant of the regiment, noting particularly those cases where the disability was obvious at the time of enlistment.

The muster-in rolls of each company will be made out by the Adjutant of the regiment, from a list to be furnished by the Adjutant General of the State, together with the articles of enlistment furnished him by the recruiting officer, and will note upon it the names of all persons discharged by the surgeon for permanent disability, designating particularly those cases where the disability was apparent at the time of enlistment.

As soon as the organization of a regiment is completed, it will be carefully inspected by the mustering officer for the State, who will see that at least the minimum number of each company is present; no absentees, except sick in hospital, will be counted. He will also compare the muster-in rolls, and if found correct, will sign the roll, certifying to the muster of each man at the date of his enlistment.

Mustering officers will report promptly to the Adjutant General of the army, the names of all recruiting Lieutenants mustered into the service by them, under conditional letters of appointment, together with the regiments to which they belong.

II. Officers will be mustered into the service only on the authority of the Governor of the State to which they belong.

III. Until regiments are organized and their muster rolls completed, they will be under the exclusive control of the Governors of the States, and all requisitions for quartermaster, medical and ordnance stores, and contracts for subsistence, will, if approved by them, be allowed, and not otherwise.

IV. Where it is desired by Governors of States, the United States officers of the Quarter Master, Medical and Ordnance Departments may turn over stores to the State authorities, to be issued by them in accordance with the regulations, and accounted for to the proper bureau of the War Department.

V. Persons travelling under the order of the Governor of a State on business connected with the recruiting service, will be allowed the actual cost of transportation, to be paid by the mustering and disbursing officer on presentation of the account accompanied by the proper vouchers, and the order under which the journey was performed.

By order of the Secretary of War.

SPECIAL ORDER NO. 13.

Captain Jesse T. Stevens of the Lewiston Light Infantry, Company G, Third Division, will forthwith wait upon Captain Baker, Provost Marshal of Second District, and, if he requires it, detach within one hour from the time of receiving his orders, two Lieutenants, three Sergeants, five Corporals, and forty-three or more privates, if necessary, fully armed and equipped, with five hundred ball cartridges and three days rations of pork and hard bread, or its equivalent, for services in enforcing the laws, to accompany U. S. troops under Lieut. Webber to Kingfield and elsewhere, if necessary, within the State.

Duplicate Descriptive Rolls of this Detachment will be returned to this Office forthwith.

Lieut. Webber will furnish transportation.

RESOLVE PROVIDING FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES TO VOLUNTEERS.

Resolved, That the Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the State of Maine be authorized to direct the payment of fifty-five dollars bounty to all recruits for the three years regiments or batteries of Maine volunteers who have enlisted since the first day of December last, but to whom the State has not paid a bounty, and to continue the payment of such bounty to recruits so long as in his judgment the public exigencies require; and the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council, is authorized to draw his warrant on the Treasurer of State for all sums of money needful to carry out the intent of this resolve.

Approved January 27, 1863.

AN ACT TO PAY BOUNTY TO SOLDIERS WHO MAY BE DRAFTED INTO THE SERVICE OF THE UNITED STATES UNDER THE LATE CONSCRIPT ACT OF CONGRESS.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in Legislature assembled, as follows :

SECT. 1. Every person in this State who shall be drafted into the service of the United States under the late Conscription Act of Congress, and who shall have been mustered into the service of the United States either as principal or as a substitute or volunteer, shall be paid the sum of one hundred dollars.

SECT. 2. The Governor is hereby authorized and empowered to adopt such measures as will best accomplish the purposes of this act, and, with the advice of the Council, draw his warrant upon the Treasurer for all expenditures hereby authorized.

SECT. 3. This act shall take effect when approved by the Governor.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 19.

The Governor and Commander-in-Chief orders and directs, that the State Bounty of one hundred dollars be paid each person, not a commissioned officer, who has heretofore enlisted or may hereafter enlist for three years or during the war, unless sooner discharged, and has been or hereafter may be mustered into the Regiments of Veteran Volunteers at their organization. This bounty is payable only to the soldier in hand immediately preceding his departure from the State, and upon the seasonable production by the proper military officers to the State Disbursing Officer of Duplicate Descriptive Rolls and Bounty Receipt Rolls of the Regiment, Corps, Company, detachment or soldier thus entitled. The State Bounty of fifty-five dollars hitherto paid for enlistments in Maine Regiments and Corps in the field, are in full therefor, and the same are continued to that class of recruits until further orders.

By order of the Commander-in-Chief.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
Augusta, October 24, 1863. }

Fellow-Citizens :

The President has called for 300,000 additional volunteers, to meet the present and prospective exigencies of the war.

Of this additional force Maine is expected to furnish her quota, and she will not disappoint that expectation. Now, as heretofore, her patriotic men will respond to the call, and promptly furnish her full share of the force necessary to vindicate the integrity of our Government, and maintain the supremacy of the laws of the Union.

Our people, with almost entire unanimity, have determined that the present rebellion shall be suppressed, and that the Union which it was designed to destroy, shall be maintained. For this purpose they entered upon the contest, and to this end they will persevere until the object be accomplished, and until the world shall be satisfied that free men can endure more, and persevere longer, for the preservation of free government, than can the most desperate and determined traitors for its destruction.

The length of the conflict is not to be measured by years, but by events. Treason is to be put down, and to that end should all the measures of the Government be subservient. Great progress has already been made. Two years ago rebellion was bold, defiant, and apparently successful in half the territory of the Union, and our National Capital was literally besieged by armed traitors. Since that time, by the valor of our arms, they have been expelled from the greater part of this territory, and the banners of the Union now float in triumph over more than half the States which were then claimed as component parts of their boasted Confederacy.

They now find themselves on the point of strangulation by the closeness with which the arms of the Union are pressed upon them. Thousands of loyal men in the South, who have been awed into submission by their despotism, are now flocking to our standards. A little more pressure, a few more vigorous blows, and the work of suppression will be accomplished, and our Union will stand forth in all its former glory, not reconstructed, because not destroyed, but stronger for the assault which has been made upon it. These are encouraging omens.

But the work accomplished has cost immense labor, and has required immense resources in both men and money. To sustain our armies who have struggled so heroically and successfully, to fill their ranks which have been reduced by the return of those whose term of service has expired, and thinned by the casualties of the field, and to enable them to hold the vast territory which has been conquered by their valor, and to bring the war to a successful and speedy termination, more men are now wanted. Will those men be forthcoming? Who that knows anything of the past, or the patriotism of our people, can doubt on this point? I cannot. Our people will not wait for any coercive power to call them to duty; all they desire to know is, how much additional aid is desired of them, and I feel full assurance that such aid will be rendered. I therefore, with great confidence, call upon the citizens of this State, as with one mind they have resolved to suppress the rebellion, with united hearts to provide the means necessary to accomplish this object.

The provision for the soldier is most ample. With liberal wages and a bounty of hundreds of dollars, he can go forth with the assurance that those dependent upon him will receive all needed support in his absence, and with the consciousness that his efforts will contribute to the perpetuity of our free institutions, the glory of our country, and the honor of her brave defenders. I summon, therefore, the loyal men of this State to aid in the speedy accomplishment of this work. I call upon the representatives of every class to contribute of their numbers and their means. Personal efforts and personal sacrifices are unworthy considerations, in comparison with the immense issues at stake. Let not these be imperilled through our inactivity. I believe that a proper appreciation of the necessities of the Government on the part of the people of this State would render but a few days necessary to answer the call of the President upon us. I am too well acquainted with the results of determined effort in the past, to doubt this.

ABNER COBURN, Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

CIRCULAR.

President's Call of October 17th, 1863, for 300,000 Volunteers.

Inasmuch as some few days must necessarily elapse before arrangements can be perfected for settling definitely the basis of quotas, and making the apportionment of troops required of this State, it is deemed essential that the work of volunteering should, in the mean time, progress with all possible celerity. The following principles are announced as governing future action in this behalf:

I. The call of the President for 300,000 Volunteers is made without regard to the deficiencies of States or localities upon former calls and apportionments. No computations can therefore be entered into, with the respective cities, towns and plantations in this State, for an alleged deficiency or surplus (if any) of volunteers furnished prior to the date when the Government draft was ordered, or of men or commutations obtained under the same.

II. In apportioning the quota of this State under the present call, Col. Fry, the Provost Marshal General of the United States, says, "this is exclusive of any deficiency you may have on present draft, or former calls, and these will be considered only in case another draft is necessary in January;" if, therefore, the State fails to furnish and have mustered into the United States service, its due quota of the troops required under this call, it is probable that the draft which may be ordered in January next, will include not only the deficiency under this requisition, but also the State's deficiency, as claimed by the War Department upon former calls.

III. All voluntary enlistments made since the U. S. draft was ordered, of troops that have been duly mustered into the United States service, whether for regiments and corps in the field, or for the Veteran Regiments now in process of enlistment and organization, constitute a portion of this State's quota of the present call, and those places which have procured such volunteers or paid them bounty, are entitled to credit for them upon the quota to be announced.

IV. While the Commander-in-Chief Gov. Coburn, and Maj. Gardiner, Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General, direct and control the work of recruiting, the respective municipal authorities of the various cities, towns and plantations, are earnestly requested to co-operate in this labor, so vital in importance to the Government and themselves, until its completion. Their suggestions and recommendations touching recruiting officers for their vicinities, are invited, and will receive most respectful consideration.

V. The premiums and bounties provided by the General Government and State for all volunteer enlistments, are on a scale of such munificence, that while all who can enter the service should do so, those who from age or physical infirmity are ineligible to enlistment, may find it for their interest, as well as honor, to suspend their ordinary avocations for the work of obtaining soldiers for the Government, until the full number required from this State is furnished.

VI. Two Regiments of Infantry and one of Cavalry, to be composed almost wholly of members that have already served not less than nine months in the field and been honorably discharged, are now progressing in their enlistment and organization at Augusta. In all enlistments of new recruits or veteran soldiers, they can elect for a few weeks, to enter either of these organizations, with $100 State Bounty, or some regiment or corps in the field with Bounty to Veterans of $55; but after these three commands are filled, as they soon will be, every volunteer must of necessity be sent directly into the field.

VII. Under the Resolve of the Legislature of January 27, 1863, authorizing "the Governor and Commander-in-Chief to continue the payment of $55 Bounty to recruits for the three years regiments or batteries of Maine Volunteers, so long as in his judgment the public exigencies require," this amount will be continued to veterans enlisted for organizations now in the field. To veterans or new recruits enlisting in the regiments now organizing, will be paid the $100 State Bounty authorized by an act of the Legislature approved March 26, 1863.

VIII. In view of the liability of veteran soldiers to be called into service under the operation of the next draft, without State or Government Bounty, it behooves them to embrace the present unparalleled advantages offered in completing the veteran organizations in this State, of entering a regiment of their choice with a State and Government Bounty of $502, an amount sufficient to secure to any man of reasonable desires, a comfortable and permanent home for himself and family.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, October 31, 1863. }

GENERAL ORDER NO. 22.

I. The respective cities, towns and plantations have been apprised of the due quotas apportioned to each, to answer the call of the President of the 17th instant for 300,000 volunteers.

II. To avoid a draft, these troops must be furnished and mustered into the United States service on or before the 4th day of January next

III. Although recruiting officers for the veteran regiments and battery are designated by the Commander-in-Chief, and for the regiments and corps in the field by the Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General, Major J. W. T. Gardiner, Augusta, it is quite evident that the active co-operation of municipal authorities, and all loyal citizens, is indispensable to the complete success of this undertaking.

IV. The following paragraphs from the official circular from this office of the 24th instant are deemed of sufficient importance to be incorporated in this order, viz:

1. The call of the President for 300,000 volunteers is made without regard to the deficiencies of States or localities upon former calls and apportionments. No computations can therefore be entered into with the respective cities, towns and plantations in this State, for an alleged deficiency or surplus (if any) of volunteers furnished prior to the date when the Government draft commenced in this State (July 7, 1863,) or of men or commutations obtained under the same.

2. In apportioning the quota of this State under the present call, Colonel Fry, the Provost Marshal General of the United States, says, "this is exclusive of any deficiency you may have on present draft or former calls, and these will be considered only in case another draft is necessary in January;" if, therefore, the State fails to furnish and have mustered into the United States service its due quota of the troops required under this call, it is probable that the draft which may be ordered in January next will include not only the deficiency under this requisition, but also the State's deficiency, as claimed by the War Department upon former calls.

3. All voluntary enlistments made since the United States draft was ordered, of troops that have been duly mustered into the United States service, whether for regiments and corps in the field, or for the veteran regiments now in process of enlistment and organization, constitute a portion of this State's quota of the present call, and those places which have procured such volunteers or paid them bounty, are entitled to credit for them upon the quota to be announced.

4. While the Commander-in-Chief Governor Coburn, and Major Gardiner, Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General, direct and control the work of recruiting, the respective municipal authorities of the various cities, towns and plantations are earnestly requested to co-operate in this labor, so vital in importance to the Government and themselves, until its completion. Their suggestions and recommendations touching recruiting officers for their vicinities, are invited, and will receive most respectful consideration.

V. Recruiting officers will comprise—

1st. Those enlisting men under the appointment of the Governor, for the Veteran Regiments of Infantry, Cavalry, and the Battery of Artillery, and who design entering the service as commissioned officers.

2d. Municipal authorities or persons appointed by them to officiate, only in the absence of other duly designated recruiting officers for the cities, towns and plantations in which such authorities reside.

3d. Individuals selected for this purpose by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, and Acting Assistant Provost Marshal General, Major J. W. T. Gardiner, whose names are duly announced, and who are furnished with the requisite orders, instructions and blanks.

VI. While it is certain that $25 is allowed by government for enlisting a veteran recruit for any regiment or corps in the field, and $15 for a new recruit for the same service, the assurance can be afforded, that no city, town or plantation will fail of filling its quota of volunteers for the Veteran Regiments, if not for those in the field, through neglect to recompense recruiting officers liberally.

VII. The Government bounty of $402 is paid to veterans for enlisting either for regiments or corps in the field or for those now organizing in this State, and $302 to new recruits to enter service in either of the old organizations in the field, and $100 for enlisting in either of the regiments or the battery now being raised in this State. In addition to the amount above specified as Government bounty, $100 State bounty will be paid veteran recruits to go into either of our regiments or the battery now organizing, and the same Government bounty with $45 less of State bounty, to enter a regiment or corps in the field. New recruits for the veteran regiments and battery will receive $100 State bounty and the like sum as Government bounty; or for regiments or corps in the field, will receive a Government bounty of $302, payable by instalments, and a State bounty of $55.

To recapitulate:

Veteran recruits for the incomplete organizations now in this State , receive from government	$402
From the State,	100
Total,	$502

Of which there is paid in advance, including one month's wages, $175.

To same for regiments and corps now in the field from government,	$402
From the State,	55
Total,	$457

Of which there is paid in advance, including wages as above, $130.

New recruits for the incomplete organizations now in this State , receive from government,	$100
From the State,	100
Total,	$200

Of which there is paid in advance, including one month's wages, $140.

To same for regiments and corps now in the field, from government,	$302
From the State,	55
Total,	$357

Of which there is paid in advance, including one month's wages, $130.

VIII. It is probable that bounties uniform in amount and not less than $100 nor exceeding $200 per man, will now be paid volunteers by the respective cities, towns and plantations in the State. Great injustice will be wrought to the smaller and poorer localities, by exceeding this amount in any instance, as such towns and plantations may find it impossible to fill their quotas by reason of their citizens seeking larger bounties elsewhere than are offered them at home.

IX. Attempted restrictions upon the enlistment and credit of men for localities other than their residences, are impracticable. Yet it is hoped that no man will enlist and receive bounty, except from his own town, unless the quota thereof is previously filled.

X. All enlisted men for old regiments and corps in the field, will be forwarded to the head quarters of the Provost Marshals within whose districts are the cities, towns and plantations to which they are credited respectively. Recruits for the veteran regiments and battery will be sent to Augusta.

XI. Recruits for the regiment of veteran cavalry may furnish their own horses, if duly passed by the inspectors, and receive the value of the same, and all such horses will be assigned to the original owners for use and care.

XII. Municipal authorities and recruiting officers, as also loyal citizens generally, should use all proper endeavors and precautions to prevent the enlistment of minors, without the written consent of their parents or guardians—drunkards and persons of infamous character, as all such recruits are quite sure to be rejected at the final muster, and will therefore subject the cities, towns and plantations furnishing them, to great expense and trouble in obtaining acceptable men to take their places.

XIII. Cities, towns and plantations will be notified of the number of enlisted men duly mustered and entered to their credit upon this quota, and the respective municipal authorities will scarcely need to be reminded of the immense importance to the Government and their constituents, of giving these duties their unremitting attention in person, or by competent individuals duly authorized, until the full quota of each is furnished, and mustered into the United States service.

XIV. Bounties to recruits other than State and Government, (if any,) should in no case be paid upon an order, nor until the soldier entitled shall have passed his muster into the United States service, when, if not invested by his desire, it should be paid him in hand, or to his wife, or to some relative or friend, in his presence, and only at his request.

XV. Municipal authorities, recruiting officers acting under due authority, and all good citizens, are expressly desired to bring to the knowledge of Assistant Provost Marshal General Major J. W. T. Gardiner, the several District Provost Marshals, or the Adjutant General, any and all instances of contract, agreement, or transaction, by which any enlisted man is deprived of any part of the bounty or bounties to which he is entitled. The participation of any recruiting officer in such disreputable traffic, will cause him to be dealt with summarily by a military commission; and any commissioned officer, non-commissioned officer or private known to engage in this criminal practice, will be brought to trial before a court martial without delay.

XVI. One week's board only, will be paid for any recruit for the veteran regiments or battery, unless he is engaged upon due authority, recruiting—hence such men should be forwarded to Augusta as soon after their enlistment as possible. Railroad passes for transportation of enlisted men will be furnished recruiting officers for veteran regiments now organizing, upon application to the Colonel of the regiment for which the recruits are intended. Bills for transportation of recruits for these regiments, by stage, steamboat, or private conveyance—exhibiting the names of recruits transported—and certified by the recruiting officers, will be paid by Captain T. C. J. Baily, U. S. Disbursing Officer, on demand, as will also the bills for the one week's board and other legitimate bills for recruiting services, if made and certified in like manner.

XVII. The enlistment papers will be made in triplicate, and must show the real residence of the recruit, and if it be other than that upon whose quota he is credited, the name of the place for which he enlists, must be stated at the top of each enlistment, thus—

“Quota of ———.” Neglect of this requirement will render it impossible to exhibit correctly the proper credits, and cause erroneous reports of delinquencies, to be made from this office to the Provost Marshal General.

XVIII. Municipal authorities are specially required to prohibit entirely, by whatever proper means, any and all enlistments within their jurisdictions, for the regiments and corps of other States, and cause the arrest and detention (until notice thereof is furnished this office,) of all persons persisting in such unlawful interferences with the military organizations of this State.

In the ordinary avocations of life, complete success is only rendered certain by such undivided attention of each to his employment, as must necessarily exclude almost entirely the pursuits of pleasure; and the individual who attempts to unite both, rarely competes successfully, with him who gives his whole mind and labors to his legitimate business. How, then, can we expect permanent advantages over a brave and determined, though unscrupulous and revengeful enemy, who makes every person and thing within his control wholly subservient to military purposes in their most vigorous and efficient form, while we are engaged even more than is usual in the customary business cares of life, and only furnish the Government a small portion of our surplus men and means, to contend against this formidable foe, who makes war his sole pursuit?

The rebels are in the midst of destitution and want almost unparalleled, and are without a gleam of hope for their encouragement in the future. With more to fear from success than defeat, yet such is their blindness and infatuation that they can seem to raise armies at will from their sparse and poverty-stricken population. Shall it be said that a New England State, abounding in wealth and men, to constitute the best troops in the world, affected hitherto adversely by the war only in those sad bereavements through which our fame and honor have been purchased, cannot now bring some eight thousand volunteers into the field, after sixty days effort, when the complete and immediate subjugation of the rebellion is depending upon such results?

The wanton massacre by the rebels in cold blood of unarmed and defenceless prisoners, and the suffering and death of our brave troops in rebel prisons from starvation and nakedness, while all their soldiers in our hands, by capture or otherwise, are not only humanely treated, but bountifully fed and clothed, call for a determination on the part of our people, that sufficient men now be furnished for such immediate progress in the conduct of this war, as shall render our foe powerless for a repetition of these atrocities.

Duty to our loyal brethren and their families throughout the South, who are and have been suffering untold horrors from persecution and want for more than two years past, now demands all our energies in this behalf. Mercy to the misguided rebels in arms and their suffering families, makes the same demand upon us. Justice to the leaders of the rebellion requires these efforts. Let us, then, in the name of Humanity and Religion, forgetting all parties, sects and creeds, rise up as one man and say, that at whatever cost, this rebellion must now be put down, and that our allotted portion of volunteers required for this task, shall at once be forthcoming. Let there be, as far as possible, a suspension of our customary business pursuits, until this result is made certain. We know that the rebels make every department of business industry and capital to contribute wholly to the advancement of their traitorous wishes and designs, and can we reasonably expect to meet them with any assurance of success, or hope for their overthrow, if our farms and our merchandise engross all our attention and care? If we would spare our neighbors and ourselves a continued succession of afflicting bereavements in coming years, as in the past, we must exert every energy and every means in our power for the successful accomplishment of the work assigned us. If we would maintain untarnished the honorable record of our State in the past, and look for its glory in the future, we must now put forth the means of whatever extent or magnitude, that will at once bring our troops into the field. Our numerous wealthy citizens, and the officers of our monied institutions, may now render the government substantial aid never to be forgotten, in affording financial accommodations to such towns and plantations as may require temporary loans to enable them to pay the respective bounties voted to their volunteers. And not less valuable will be the services and influence of these gentlemen, if they are instrumental in persuading soldiers to invest these funds, or a portion thereof, with the State and United States bounties, in government bonds, or some equally desirable securities.

By order of His Excellency Abner Coburn,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

The following Instructions will govern the recruiting service in Maine under the President's call for Volunteers; and in addition thereto, it is requested that all Recruiting Officers procure as many recruits as possible for the regiments now being organized. It is desirable to fill up the new veteran organizations immediately, and arrangements will undoubtedly be made which will give Recruiting Officers who have presented recruits for such regiments, as large, or a larger premium, than for the enlistment of a recruit for an old regiment.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

Instructions for the Recruiting Service in Maine.

I. Recruits will be sent in at least once a week.

II. No board will be allowed for men living at home. Board will not exceed forty cents per day, and to be as much less as it can be obtained for; and but one week's board will be paid for any one recruit, unless he is detached upon special service to aid in recruiting.

III. For recruits for new organizations being raised, the actual expenses of stage and steamboat transportation will be paid; by railroad, at the rate of two cents per mile; by private teams, the usual stage fare; expense of private teams will not be paid unless for actual transportation of recruits; bills for transportation will be paid on demand by the U. S. Disbursing Officer at Augusta. For railroad transportation, proper passes will be furnished the Recruiting Officer on application to the Colonel of the Regiment for which the recruit is enlisted. This class of recruits (for new organizations) will be sent direct to the Regimental Rendezvous.

Recruits for old organizations will be sent to the Provost Marshal of the District in which enlisted; and the $15 and $25 premiums awarded for a recruit, will be in full consideration of all expenses of transportation and enlistment before presentation to the Provost Marshal.

IV. Physicians may be contracted for to examine recruits for Veteran Regiments, at the rate of twenty-cents per head. Recruits will be faithfully examined. In case of sickness, the Examining Surgeon will attend and charge the usual rates.

V. No drunkard or man of notoriously bad character will be taken. No minor will be taken without the consent of parents or guardian.

VI. The Provost Marshals will, at the commencement of each week, return to the Adjutant General's Office, Augusta, the Muster and Descriptive Rolls of each detachment of recruits forwarded to the General Rendezvous during the preceding week, with an enlistment paper of each recruit appearing thereon. Recruiting Officers and Agents will also make a return to the Adjutant General, at the commencement of each week, giving the names and number of recruits enlisted by them during the preceding week, and specifying, so far as practicable, whether they are for new or old regiments.

VII. Persons recruiting for regiments in the field, will be furnished with posters on application to the Provost Marshal of their district. Recruiting Officers for Veteran Volunteer organizations now being raised, can procure suitable posters printed, if desirable. No newspaper advertising is allowed.

VIII. No furloughs will be promised by Recruiting Officers.

IX. Enlistments will be taken in triplicate, and must specify the place of residence and quota of the recruit, and state whether married or single. For recruits for old regiments, the Provost Marshal of the District where enlisted and presented, signs the paper as Recruiting Officer, and not the recruiting agent or officer who secures the recruit. But if the recruit is for a new regiment, the authorized person securing the recruit signs the enlistment papers as Recruiting Officer, and not the Provost Marshal.

X. Blanks, Orders and Instructions will be furnished Recruiting Officers on application, by the Provost Marshal of their District, or by the Adjutant General of the State.

XI. Commissioned Officers of the new regiments will not be credited upon the quotas of their towns, as the call is for enlisted men, and those entering a regiment at its organization as Commissioned Officers, cannot be entitled to bounty as enlisted men.

XII. Recruits will be presented or forwarded to the proper Rendezvous without unnecessary delay after enlistment.

XIII. Recruiting Officers disregarding these instructions will be at once recalled.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
Augusta, November 14, 1863. }

I deem it proper to make public the following communication from the Provost Marshal General:

"If a State furnishes her full quota of volunteers under the President's call of October 17th, 1863, for 300,000, the draft ordered for the 5th January, 1864, will not take place in that State.

JAMES P. FRY, Provost Marshal General.

Washington, November 5, 1863."

The quota referred to for this State is 7,581 men, and each city and town has already been advised of its specific proportion thereof. Nothing more than this is asked, and nothing less will be accepted by the War Department. Whatever doubts or differences of opinion may have existed as to the contingency in which a draft would be ordered, the above communication makes it perfectly clear, and places the duty of all loyal men plainly and unmistakably before them. Each city and town that fills its quota within the time prescribed will avoid a draft, whereas the delinquent towns will of necessity have to submit to one.

In view of the vast importance of the struggle in which we are engaged, and of the imperious necessity of promptly reinforcing our legions in the field, in order that Peace may be attained through Victory, I do urge upon all the municipal authorities of our cities and towns, as well as upon the good people thereof, the duty of devoting themselves with promptitude and energy to the great work in hand. Large bounties are offered for volunteers by the National and State Governments, and the authority to proceed in the premises is ample. The quotas of all the towns must be filled within forty days from this date, or the alternative of a draft accepted by those that fail.

The Government prefers the volunteer to the conscript. It prefers to pay liberally for patriotic service, rather than to exact it by force of law. Let loyal citizens respond to this generous sentiment, and let there be a rivalry among our towns as to which shall be most prompt in tendering renewed aid to the cause of the Union and of Liberty. Thus far in our great civil contest, Maine has borne a proud part. Her sons have upheld the national banner on the fiercest battle-fields, and have earned a fame which we cannot too proudly cherish, and which we should strive to emulate. Let us, in the brief season allowed us, prove that our patriotism is as sincere, our enthusiasm as warm, and our faith in the national cause as firm, as at any hour since the contest began. Whoever else shall falter or fail, let the men of Maine prove themselves fully equal to the demands now made on their heroism and their love of country.

GENERAL ORDER No. 23.

The Commander-in-Chief expressed his wish in General Order No. 22, of the 31st of October, founded upon confidence in the sense of justice of the various cities and towns in this State, that their respective bounties to volunteers under the present call would be uniform in amount and not exceed $200 per man. And the reason for this belief was set forth in a section of said order, which comprised, by necessary implication, his absolute request that this principle should in no instance be violated.

The paragraph of said order alluded to is as follows :

"VIII. It is probable that bounties uniform in amount and not less than $100 not exceeding $200 per man, will now be paid volunteers by the respective cities, towns and plantations in the State. Great injustice will be wrought to the smaller and poorer localities, by exceeding this amount in any instance, as such towns and plantations may find it impossible to fill their quotas by reason of their citizens seeking larger bounties elsewhere than are offered them at home."

In consequence of the disregard by various cities and towns, of this expectation, which, if observed, would contribute largely to prompt, harmonious and successful action throughout the whole State in raising volunteers, there have come to the knowledge of the Department repeated instances of the violation on the part of recruits, of contracts and agreements made by them with the municipal authorities of the places of their residence, to enter service upon their quotas, such violation having been instigated or aided by persons recruiting for cities and towns offering more than $200 bounty;

Therefore, hereafter at the time of enlistment, the selectmen of towns or some authorized agent of the municipal authorities for the place on whose quota the recruit desires to go, will, in addition to endorsing upon the enlistment papers as heretofore the place of quota, cause a contract or agreement to be signed by the person or persons enlisting for the said quota. The form of this agreement should be like the following, stating the regiment, residence and place of quota of the recruit.

—, DECEMBER —, 1863.

We, the undersigned, do contract and agree with the town of —, in consideration of the sum of — dollars to be paid each of us after muster into U. S. service by said town of —, that we will be mustered into United States service as a part of the quota apportioned to said town under the President's last call for volunteers.

Signatures.	Witness.	Recruits for which Regiment.

We hereby agree to and ratify the above contract.

} Selectmen of —.

Or, —, Agent duly authorized by Municipal Authorities.

The original of this agreement will be forwarded through the municipal authorities by mail to the Adjutant General's Office, and also (as many signatures are illegible) a list of the names of the signers clearly and plainly written. A certified copy of the agreement will be sent to the Provost Marshal of the district in which the recruits will be mustered in, if they are going to old regiments. If they are for new organizations, send the certified copy of the agreement to the Colonel of the regiment which they propose to enter, at Augusta, and not to the Provost Marshal. This course will prevent any misunderstanding and deception and tampering with enlistment papers, by which recruits may be mustered into United States service on the quota of another town than that for which they originally agreed to serve. For immediately on the receipt of the contract or agreement specified above, at the Adjutant General's Office, the name of each recruit who has signed it will be credited in the regiment given, to the quota of the town specified, subject only to his muster into U. S. service in that regiment. If after signing the agreement the recruit on arriving at the rendezvous is mustered into some other regiment than that specified in the contract, the selectmen must notify this office of the change, as in examination of the muster-in rolls for finally correcting the list of quotas, if a person returned in the agreement as a recruit for a specified regiment or corps, is not found in the muster rolls of recruits for that regiment, his name will be struck from the credit to that town, as the presumption would be that he had not reported or had been rejected by the surgeon or mustering officer.

Inasmuch as the recruiting for those localities which have regarded the wishes of the Commander-in-Chief in respect to bounties has been prejudiced by the action of such as have voted more than $200 bounty, all proper influences will be exerted in the needed direction for aiding the former to avoid liability to draft, and every facility possible will be afforded, to enable them to fill their quotas within the allotted period.

There is good reason to believe that suitable men for soldiers in sufficient numbers will be offering for enlistment for $200 town bounty in ample season to be mustered into service within the time prescribed.

It should be the ambition at this time of every volunteer whose place of residence has voted $200 bounty, to serve upon its quota and none other. The connection of his name in history, with another town than that of his residence, will render his identity a matter of doubt, and deprives him and his posterity, as well as the place of his citizenship, of that fame and credit on account of his patriotic services, which will be their just due.

Although State aid is by law to be furnished the needy family and relatives of a soldier in service, in the place of residence of the former, regardless of the quota upon which he is serving, it is quite apparent that the municipal authorities whose duty it is to administer this assistance, will look with no friendly eyes upon such additions to their charge as pertain to the soldiers not serving upon their quotas, while there can be no doubt that the families and relatives of such of their own citizen soldiers as are serving for them will be promptly and cheerfully cared for in all respects.

Those cities and towns which have voted bounties exceeding $200 to each enlisted man of their quota, will adopt such precautionary measures for guarding against a second enlistment of their men, and also against enlisting those for their quota who have already contracted and enlisted for other places, as they may deem advisable. This risk and labor will be very much lessened by reducing their bounty to $200, and confining their enlistments to their own citizens and such towns as do not pay $200 bounty; and they will also have the benefit, upon due application to this office, of all lists of persons held upon other quotas, of which contracts are returned in accordance with the foregoing requirements.

Any person enlisting men for the new organizations, with a view of being commissioned therein, will forfeit the same by inducing recruits to enter service upon the quota of a city or town other than that for which they originally engaged and enlisted, or for tampering with them or their enlistment papers at all in this respect.

All other recruiting officers offending in like manner will have their appointment immediately revoked, and forfeit all premiums and fees for making enlistments to which they would otherwise be entitled. Both classes of officers will also be liable to trial by court martial or military commission as provided in General Order No. 22 of October 31. A contract which is made at enlistment is binding and irrevocable, and the above interdicted and reprehensible practice of tampering with the men and their papers will be wholly unavailing to change the quota.

For months past many of the rank and file of the rebel army have been utterly disheartened in contemplating the criminal folly which has occasioned this unjustifiable rebellion, and the prospect of ever again overcoming the serried ranks of our veteran troops. With their families suffering extreme privations, and themselves perilling their lives and enduring the severest hardships, virtually without wages or any compensation whatever, they have sought relief from their miserable condition by desertion, and all hope has fled from most of those yet continuing in that service. In this state of things is found the recent overwhelming victory of our arms in Tennessee, on a scale of magnitude, in view of the interests involved, hitherto unparalleled, and at a strategical point wherein was centered almost the last hope of the Satanic leaders of this unholy rebellion, which leaves no doubt whatever of the near approach of this war to its final close. It is indeed doubtful if the troops now enlisting will have the pleasure of witnessing a hostile shot. Yet their names and memories will live in history as gallant and patriotic men who are willing to take their lives in their hands and go forth to do battle, if need be, for the permanent restoration of our glorious government. The opportunity now afforded for a last participation in this noblest and holiest of conflicts, on our part, is rapidly passing away, and in all probability never again will be presented such inducements, both financial and honorary, for a brief service, which is quite likely to become in reality but the merest pastime.

The moral effect upon the South which will be produced by the spontaneous rally of 300,000 additional volunteers from the free States to the standard of Liberty and the Union, after their recent almost unanimous voice at the polls for the vigorous prosecution of this contest, may close the war without an additional blow.

By Order of His Excellency Abner Coburn,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, December 9, 1863. }

The Governor and Commander-in-Chief orders and directs:

1st. That no city, town or plantation offering or paying, directly or indirectly, a bounty of more than $200 to volunteers under the present call, shall be credited with a recruit hereafter enlisted, or if heretofore enlisted, now remaining unassigned, whose residence is other than the place of his quota, unless the quota of the city, town or plantation in which said recruit resides, shall have been previously filled.

2d. All officers and persons recruiting throughout the State under the present call, whether for commissions, or premiums and compensation, will have their authority revoked, and forfeit all claims to promotion, and all premiums and compensation for enlisting, who do not, on or before the 12th instant, return to this office a list of the names of all men by them enlisted under the present call up to that time, who are not yet rendezvoused, with the places of the recruits' residences, the date of their enlistment, the quotas to which they are assigned, and the amount of bounty paid, or agreed to be paid each, by the proper authorities of the place whose quota they fill.

3d. Section 1 is not intended to restrict cities, towns and plantations in compensating recruiting officers reasonably for their services, independent of the bounty to recruits.

By order of His Excellency Abner Coburn,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 26.

I. It is desirable to obtain all the re-enlistments possible of three years men having less than a year to serve, in order to secure to the respective commands the privilege of remaining in service as veteran regiments and corps, and to this end the influence and effort of all officers in service is solicited.

II. The opportunity now afforded to each veteran soldier for securing the munificent bounties offered for his re-enlistment may never again be presented, and the time given for making such re-enlistments will soon expire. Each man re-enlisting receives a sum sufficient to lay the foundation for independence, and place him beyond the reach of want. In addition to the Government bounty of $402 to each veteran volunteer, the State will pay a bounty of $100, and towns a further sum of $200, making a total amount of $702.

III. On re-enlisting the soldier will be entitled to a furlough of at least thirty days, with transportation home and back. During his visit home he will be paid his State and town bounties.

IV. Re-enlistments will be credited to the quotas of the several cities, towns and plantations of the soldier's residence, and these corporations will pay the $200 town bounty, unless their quotas have been previously filled. If so, or if this amount of bounty is not promptly paid him therefrom, he will be assigned to some place deficient upon its quota paying this bounty.

V. Re-enlisting soldiers of Maine regiments and corps having no place of residence in this State, will be assigned to the quotas of places deficient paying the bounty named.

VI. Any bounties or other money which soldiers may desire to deposit, will be received by the Treasurer of State, and held subject to the order of said volunteer, and will draw interest at the rate of five per centum per annum.

VII. The re-enlistment papers should be taken in triplicate, instead of duplicate, as is understood to be the practice, in order that one part of the enlistment contract may be filed with the records of this office, which is required for all enlistments made in this State.

VIII. If re-enlistments have already been made and taken only in duplicate, a certified copy of same, specifying residence, with certificate of muster-in, will be sent to this office, and will be considered as answering for such re-enlistments the same purpose as a part of the original contract.

IX. As sufficient blank enlistment papers may not be obtained through the regular sources for making the triplicate of enlistment required under the provisions of this order for this office, and if obtained the usual form is deficient in particulars required for record here, as it does not specify "residence," "married or single," &c., blanks of proper form, containing additional spaces for the statement of these facts, are this day forwarded to your direction by mail or express, which blanks will always be used for the return to this office.

X. The papers will be transmitted to this office through Regimental Headquarters, or by the duly authorized recruiting officer for the regiment making the re-enlistments.

XI. The receipt of this order and the blanks transmitted will be acknowledged, and information furnished of the feeling and prospect for making re-enlistments in the respective regiments and corps. Copies of this order are sent for each company of the several commands.

By order of His Excellency the Governor and Commander-in-Chief.

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

The following from the former Adjutant General of this State, Brigadier General Davis Tillson, now Chief of Artillery in the Department of the Ohio, was received too late for its proper place in the Report, and room is made here. It will be read with interest by his numerous friends in Maine :

DEPARTMENT OF THE OHIO, }
Knoxville, Tenn., April 2, 1864. }

Dear General:—Your letter of the 23d ult. was received this morning. I don't know that I can better comply with your request than by enclosing a copy of a statement made to the Adjutant General of the United States Army, which will sufficiently explain itself.

Since my arrival here, I have been very busy in constructing the fortifications about this city. It is not too much to say that I have made them at least one hundred fold stronger than they were at the time Longstreet made his attack. A few days since Major Gen. Sherman, commanding Military Division Mississippi, accompanied by his Chief of Artillery, Gen. Barry, examined the works, and both expressed themselves highly gratified with the plan and execution of the line. Have some 4,000 troops of all kinds under my command, and work some 1,000 men every day. Am organizing the 1st West Tennessee colored artillery, and am Chief of Artillery of the Department, so you see I have enough to do. I take some little pride in the works here, and mean to make this the best fortified town in this country.

With kindest regards to yourself and family, and old friends in your office,

I am very truly yours,

DAVIS TILLSON.

Gen. John J. Hodsdon, Augusta, Me.

DEPARTMENT OF THE OHIO,
Knoxville, Tenn., March 1, 1864. }

General:—In compliance with a request from the War Department calling for an account of my military history from March 4, 1861, I have the honor to submit the following:

I was mustered into the United States service as Captain of the Second Maine Battery November 1, 1861. My command was detained in Maine during the winter, on account of anticipated difficulty with England, growing out of the Trent affair. In April, 1862, I arrived in Washington, when I received my battery and horses. In the latter part of the same month I was ordered to assume command of the Third Maine Battery, and with it and my own to take charge of a pontoon train and proceed to Falmouth, reporting to Maj. Gen. McDowell, commanding Department of the Rappahannock. On reaching Acquia Creek, I was ordered by Gen. McDowell to go into camp at Belle Plains, and in May was ordered to Falmouth. I was made Major of Artillery May 22, 1862, and assigned as Chief of Artillery for Ord's (afterward's Rickett's) Division, serving with the division till August 9th. On the day following the Cedar Mountain fight, in which I participated, I was placed on the staff of Maj. Gen. McDowell as Chief of Artillery for the Corps, and served in this capacity during the three days' artillery fight at Rappahannock Station August 22d, 23d and 24th, at Groveton on the 27th, and at Bull Run on the 28th and 29th. After the army fell back within the defences of Washington, leave of absence was granted for thirty days on account of illness. In October, 1862; I returned and was ordered to report to Lieut. Col. Haskin, in charge of the defences of Washington north of the Potomac, and was made Inspector of Artillery. Was appointed Lieutenant Colonel of Artillery in January, 1863, and continued on the same duty till March 27, 1863, when I was appointed Brigadier General and ordered to report to Maj. Gen. Burnside at Cincinnati to inspect the defences of Covington and Newport, Kentucky. On April 2, 1863, I was assigned by Gen. Burnside as Chief of Artillery for fortifications in the Department of the Ohio. During the summer and fall I had the defences of Cincinnati and the works on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad repaired and put in good condition, and raised and organized two regiments of heavy artillery. On December 14th I was announced as Chief of Artillery for the Department of the Ohio by Maj. Gen.

Foster, and ordered to report at Knoxville, Tennessee. I arrived at Knoxville December 31, 1863, and was on that date assigned the command of the defences of Knoxville, Loudon and Kingston, and ordered to supervise the erection of fortifications at these places. In addition to these duties, I have been engaged in the raising and organizing the First Regiment U. S. Colored Heavy Artillery.

The following named officers have been serving on my personal staff from the dates of their reporting for duty :

Capt. W. W. Deane, S. O. 167, Headquarters A. C., July 11, 1863 ; Lieut. W. A. Perry, Second Maine Battery, S. O. 143, War Department, March 28, 1863 ; Lieut. E. W. S. Neff, 1st O. H. A., S. O. 350, Department of the Ohio, Sept. 9, 1863.

DAVIS TILLSON.

L. Thomas, Adjutant General, U. S. A.

APPENDIX D.

A RETURN OR RECORD of the several Regiments and Corps of Maine Volunteers in the United States service at any time during the year 1863, showing all changes which have taken place since date of returns published in the Annual Report for 1862. This Record for Regiments mustered out of service, is compiled from the Muster-out Rolls. For Regiments remaining in service, from returns made by the Company and Regimental Commanders in accordance with the following letters of instruction.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Augusta, ———, 1863. }

Captain ——— or Commanding Officer of Co. —, — Reg't — Me. Vols.

DEAR SIR :—My Annual Report for 1863 will continue the record from last year's Report, giving the name, &c., with any facts which may be important in the record of each Maine soldier now or ever in the service of the United States, since the publication of my last Annual Report, provided I can obtain the same from the respective company commanders. If it is not furnished, I shall report the delinquencies of those officers in that respect, naming each one thus culpable.

Lists for making returns are forwarded to the commanding officer of the regiment, for distribution to each company commander.

These lists are made up from last year's Report, and the remarks are entered in pencil, simply as a guide in continuing the record by showing the facts as then existing. Erase them and substitute with ink such remarks, (if any,) as may now be required.

At the bottom of the list you will add the names of all those joined since the date of the return published in the last Annual Report, as directed in the circular letter on the last page.

The attached list of "Discharged and Deceased," consists of those so returned in the Report of 1862, and its correctness will be carefully verified by you.

Though many inaccuracies occurred in some of the lists printed in the Report of 1862, caused by indistinct writing or carelessness and negligence of commanding officers in making their returns, yet there was much improvement in correctness and accuracy when contrasted with those published in the Report of the preceding year, (1861,) and there is no reason why these returns cannot be made perfectly correct in every particular. With your long and valuable experience in making company rolls and records, you cannot have failed to perceive what confusion and injury will frequently result from an unintentional oversight or wrong entry, even though the record is afterwards corrected. Now the correctness of this record is of more importance than any other, for the Report in which it is to be published will be circulated by thousands throughout the State and country, and the mistake which there makes an innocent man appear as a deserter, or takes away a soldier's identity by misspelling or illegibly writing his name, or giving a wrong residence, date of muster, remark, &c, cannot be fully corrected by a dash of the pen or by subsequent explanations. Hence the imperative necessity of your personal care and attention to see that the return is made right in every detail.

I am sure, Captain, I may rely upon your return being correct in all particulars.

Your attention is called to the circular upon the last page of the blank sent, which explains fully the requirements and manner of filling up the lists.

When printed, a copy of the Annual Report will be placed at your disposal, and sent to you, or wherever you may direct.

Very respectfully yours,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

STATE OF MAINE.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, ———, 1863. }

To Captain ——— or Commanding Officer, — Co., ——— Regt. ———, Maine Vols.

DEAR SIR:—Herewith is furnished you a list of those shown on the return of your company dated ———, 1862, to be then members of your company, (and those marked deserters,) with the officers as they existed at that date. You will fill up the return from the records of your company, and from all other reliable information you may be able to obtain—and do it very carefully, in order that I may present in my next Annual Report from this and similar returns, the names, and whatever may be important in the history of every Maine soldier now in the service, or who has been in the service during the year—or at any time, if not heretofore reported—together with the exact present strength of each company.

This list, as stated above, is intended to comprise the names of all those returned in ——— last, as the then actual members of the company, and does not include those named in the return as deceased or discharged, for whom no further record here is required. If, however, there were at the time of making the last return, names which should have been reported, but were carelessly or unintentionally omitted and consequently did not appear on the published list in the Adjutant General's Report, do not fail to enter those names with remarks, that the soldier shall have the credit of being in the service. Care must be taken in this respect, as instances of such omissions have repeatedly come to my knowledge, (occasioning protracted investigations and embarrassments,) for which there was no excuse, as proper attention would have prevented all errors of this nature. The names of all who were returned in the Reports of 1861 and 1862 as deserters, are in the list with pencilled remark denoting the fact. If any of these are returned from desertion to duty, or you are satisfied in your own mind that they are not de facto deserters, but were so reported in consequence of events over which you or they had no control—such as involuntary absence caused by sickness or death, of which the proper reports did not reach the regiment, leaving no other alternative but to drop their names as deserters—if you possess these facts, correct the record of desertion by the proper entry, so that no injustice shall be done the soldier by perpetuating a forgiven or undeserved disgrace. If, in any instance, error of spelling or carelessness in making the previous returns, has caused a wrong name, date, residence or remark to be given in the former Reports, correct fully in the column of remarks.

At the bottom of the list, please add, in alphabetical order, the names of all who have joined the company, either as officers or privates, since the return published in my

Annual Report for 1862, giving age at time of enlistment, time of being mustered into United States service, &c., and designating officers in the column of remarks, (see example No. 10.) Minute also in the column of remarks, against the names of those joined under the conscription act, the word "Conscript."

I have given the first name in full when it has been possible to ascertain it. Please see that these first names are completed, and in adding the names of recruits since joined, invariably give the full first name. See that the whole name is spelled correctly, and that the town opposite each man's name is the place he calls his home, (unless in case of aliens or non-residents of the State, who have entered the service as substitutes for drafted men. Make the residence of such a soldier to be the town where his principal was drafted.) Get these facts personally from your men, so far as they are present to communicate them.

These and the remaining requirements will be easily understood in connection with the example given. Every man whose name has been upon the rolls since date of the return published in the last Report, must be accounted for. Do not, under any circumstances, erase a name, but make the remarks very full, inserting every thing that may be necessary in the way of explanation. Let the time, place, and cause of all discharges be correctly stated and all transfers be noted:

The Morning Report for ——— 1st, will be condensed from the regular Morning Report of that date. Under the heading "Present Organization," &c., the officers and non-commissioned officers, as now existing, will appear.

Each commanding officer is expected to have his return in readiness to forward to this office as early as ———, in order that it may be received and copied in season for publication.

These returns, when perfected and arranged, with abstracts and tables based upon them, will be published in the "Annual Report of the Adjutant General," on the first of January next, and will be scattered throughout the State among the friends of the soldiers. From them friends at home will be able to obtain information in relation to husbands, brothers and sons in the army, which they can obtain in no other way, and an enduring record, such as no other State possesses, be made and continued, that will show the bravery and glorious deeds of our Maine soldiers who have suffered and fallen in this bloody war for the Nation's integrity. Besides this, and perhaps of more material importance for the future interests of yourself and your command, are other facts which will impress the necessity of making your return right and correct in every detail, namely: the Adjutant General's Report, containing these returns, will be used as a guide in auditing all accounts for State aid furnished through the towns to families of soldiers, and an incorrect record, or an omission of a name, will cut off from a dependent family, for a time at least, this aid to which they are justly entitled. It will, like preceding Reports, be used by the Commissioner of Pensions and Auditors of the different Departments at Washington, as a guide in the settlement of soldier's claims for pension, bounty and pay, and one mistake may cause the loss of a just claim to the soldier or his family, or involve continued inconvenience and expenditure to obtain it. The consideration of these facts alone will be sufficient to prompt the greatest care in making the return clear and correct, and if error of any kind, more or less important, existed in the former Adjutant General's Reports, it will show the necessity of righting it here, so that the next Annual Report shall present a true record. It will be a most disgraceful imputation upon officers, as well as all those connected with them, that any members of their commands or their families are deprived of rights, or delayed in the receipt of just dues from the government, through the carelessness of those commissioned and liberally paid for attending to this identical duty.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S REPORT.

I have sent an extra blank, which you can fill out to correspond with the one returned to this office, and preserve for reference.

Any information required which I can give, shall be cheerfully furnished.

I am, very respectfully and truly yours,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

Return of Captain Edward W. Thompson's First Battery, First Regiment Mounted Artillery, Maine Volunteers, stationed at Barrierouquat Bayou, La., expressing its condition on the morning of November 1st, 1863, together with a record of the changes that have taken place since November 1st, 1862, date of the return published in Adjutant General's Report for 1862. [Although blanks were forwarded in ample time for making a seasonable return, they did not reach the Battery, and this record is compiled from the monthly returns received during the year. If the regular return is received at this Office, containing any changes not noted here, they will be given at the close of the Appendix.]

Return of Captain Ralph W. Young's Company G, Sixth Regiment Infantry, Maine Volunteers, stationed at Warrenton, Virginia, expressing its condition on the morning of November 1st, 1863, together with a complete record of the changes that have taken place since November 1st, 1862, date of the return published in Adjutant General's Report for 1862.

GEORGE A. DYER, Orderly Sergeant.

GEORGE H. BURNHAM, Captain.

NOTE.—The return of this company is evidently incomplete, no recruits joined since November 1, 1862, being shown by Capt. Burnham. Those recruits which are known to have joined, (being shown on return of November 7,) are taken up from that return and entered in alphabetical order here.

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

At this date, (December 31st,) no returns have been received from the Companies of this Regiment, which, with the Fifteenth Regiment, is in the advance of the Texas Expedition, and communication by mail and through the usual channels is irregular. The returns will undoubtedly be received seasonably for publishing near the close of this Appendix. If not received, a record will be compiled from the monthly returns and there presented.

FIFTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Up to this date, December 31st, no returns of the Companies of this command, (except for Company K, which is detached from the Regiment,) have been received. The Regiment is in the advance of the Texas Expedition, and mail and other facilities for communicating with it are very irregular and imperfect. The returns will undoubtedly be received seasonably to present, with those of the Thirteenth Regiment, near the close of this Appendix. If not, a record compiled from the monthly returns, will there be published.

SIXTEENTH REGIMENT INFANTRY.

Private William Evans is shown in the record published page 80 of this Appendix as "deserted." The regular return since received, from which these corrections are made, shows him as present with the company, from which it is inferred that the first record was erroneous, else he has returned from desertion and been restored to duty.

Corporal Orrin B. Whitten deceased Nov. 5, '62, instead of Nov. 20, '63, as in record page 80.

APPENDIX E.

RETURN OF THE DRAFT IN MAINE.

The several Provost Marshals in this State have very kindly furnished, in the form of an official report, the exhibits of this Appendix.

These returns are made in compliance with the following letter of request and instruction sent to each Provost Marshal:

STATE OF MAINE.

HEAD QUARTERS, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
Augusta, January 16th, 1864. }

CAPTAIN:—I have the honor to request that you will furnish me for publication in my Annual Report of the military doings of the State during the year 1863, the following statistics made up to December 31st, 1863, viz.:

First: A list of the names of persons who having been drafted, have reported and actually entered the service of the United States.

Second: A list of the names of those who have been drafted and have furnished substitutes, with the name of the substitute furnished by each person.

Third: The names of those who have paid commutations.

Fourth: The number who were exempted from liability under the Draft for physical disability and other causes, giving a separate head for each class of exemption.

An early answer will oblige

Yours very truly and respectfully,

JOHN L. HODSDON, Adjutant General.

APPENDIX K.

Amount of the claims of the several cities, towns and plantations, for aid furnished Soldiers' Families, under acts of March 18th and 19th, 1862, and March 25th, 1863. From the records of the Executive Council.

NOTE.—These accounts have not yet been audited, and some slight changes may be made. The accounts of several towns and plantations, it will be perceived, have not yet been presented. The footings presented, however, will probably not be materially changed.
